PCA Rally Causes Riot

Philadelphia's Independence Square Is Scene Of Wild Demonstration Against Hollywood Red Probe

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A rally protesting the House committee on un-American activities' investigation of Communism-in-Hollywood investigation today evoked a near riot—in the shadows of Independence Hall—punctuated by scuffling, booing, stench bombs and shouts of "Send them back to Russia."

More than 30 policemen paraded through the milling throng of 2,000 gathered to cheer and to heckle the rally sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America. There was no police club-swinging but several noisy objectors were forcibly removed from the scene.

The 40-minute long meeting was held under sanction of two federal courts which reversed a decision by the City of Philadelphia refusing the PCA members the right to use Independence Square. The placid square, fronting on Independence Hall, should be used only for patriotic gatherings the city contended.

A PCA statement said the rally was held to demand "abolition of the Washington investigation into Communist infiltration in Hollywood," declaring the House committee has "no right to question citizens as to their political beliefs."

Some of the Hollywood writers and directors cited for contempt of congress for refusing to say whether they were Communists, had been listed to

MISS. TO ELECT SENATOR TUESDAY

Choice May Be Decided By Resentment Over Anti-Segregation Demands

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Race-conscious Mississippi elects a United States senator next Tuesday, to succeed the late Theodore Bilbo, and its choice may be decided by resentment over anti-segregation demands of President Truman's "civil rights" committee.

The committee fired a broadside this week at the south's traditional segregation of White and Negro races, advocating elimination "now." Some candidates for Bilbo's vacant seat instantly pounced upon it with cries of "Yankee interference."

One candidate jubilantly declared the report was "worth a millio dollars" to his campaign. Others more cautiously observed it was "helpful" none minimized its probable effect on Mississippi voters, who consider white supremacy as fundamental as godliness and cleanliness.

Most encouragement was expressed by Bantam-sized Forrest Butler Jackson, 46-year-old Jackson attorney, who claims to be Bilbo's political heir. He called the committee report "an insulting demand on the people of Mississippi" and predicted resentment would elect him. William Meyers Colmer, 56, lanky, red-haired congressman from Mississippi's industrial sixth district, cried it was "another effort to try to tell the south and Mississippi how to run its affairs."

Tall, scholarly John Cornelius Stennis of DeKalb, 46-year-old circuit judge, preserved dignified detachment but commented: "Our customs and traditions may be assailed, but we can stand firm in our rights to make our own decisions about such matters."

In northeast Mississippi, a shrill-voiced, tired old man of 65 heaped vituperation upon the committee and reiterated long-time convictions that Mississippi is white-man's country. He is John Elliott Rankin, for 26 years congressman for the first dis-

NAB 3 EX-CONVICTS FOR PAYROLL JOBS

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Three ex-convicts—one a recent prison breaker gravely hurt in a four-story jump toward a new escape—were in police custody tonight in connection with two separate holdups in which hooded and swift-working gunmen snatched payrolls totaling $137,000.

Held in $50,000 bail after pleading innocent to a charge of armed robbery was Patrick Farina, 34, arrested yesterday in a barbershop where he was working.

Under guard in Cambridge City Hospital and suffering from a fractured pelvis was George Hayes, 30, captured early today after leaping from an apartment house window in a drawn-gun police chase.

Hayes has been hunted by police since Sept. 19 when he broke from state's prison by scaling a wall.

Arrested in the same apartment house was another man whom police described as a former prisoner and friend of Hayes.

BRITAIN OBJECTS TO U. S. PLAN FOR HOLY LAND

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Britain was reported authoritatively today to have objected to the U. S. suggestion that the British government continue to be responsible for preservation of law and order in Palestine until the proposed independence of the Arab and Jewish states meet next July.

Although this obligation was raised by the British in a session of a special Palestine subcommittee of the United Nations assembly, British official sources said it did not mean that the London government had rejected the American plan for implementing the proposed partition of the Holy Land.

These sources said the British cabinet would have to make the decision in the matter and this probably would not be until some time next week.

DETROIT, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Vice President R. J. Thomas tossed a monkey wrench into the CIO United Auto Workers' relations with the National Labor Relations Board today by announcing he would not sign non-Communist affidavits as required by the Taft-Hartley act.

Less than 24 hours after Union President Walter P. Reuther announced the executive board's reluctant decision to comply with the law, Thomas joined heads of the AFL United Mine Workers and the CIO Steelworkers in their refusal to heed the rule.

Truman's Advisors Rule Out Tax Cut

Continuation Of Present Rates Urged To Pay For Foreign Aid Costs; Seek Some Inflation Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Truman's top econoimc advisors called today for continuation of present federal taxes to pay the costs of long-range aid to Europe.

Also, they advised a partway return to wartime inflation controls and said that by doing so the United States could safely support the Marshall aid plan and still reduce the national debt.

A report to the president from his economic council noted: "The main fiscal impact of a foreign aid program is its effect upon taxes."

In calling for some renewed anti-inflation rules, it said: "Sericus inflation of grain and food prices * * * is already here."

Ten Hollywood Individuals Ask Speaker Martin To Throw Out Citations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Ten Hollywood individuals threatened with contempt of Congress proceedings by the House committee on un-American Activities, today asked Speaker Martin to nullify the action.

The ten specifically asked the speaker not to certify contempt citations to the United States District Attorney and that their lawyers be given a hearing before him.

During its investigation of reported Communist influence in the movie capital the ten were adjudged by a subcommittee to be in contempt of it after declining to answer questions as to whether they were Communists. The full committee has yet to act. If it concurs, as expected, it will ask Martin to certify the contempt charge.

Dean Rodney Cline and Mr. Land will leave for Baton Rouge Monday to confer with university officials for a study of the plans. When approved by them, bids will be asked and it is hoped that the contract can be awarded at an early date and construction started.

It is expected to have the new structure in use for the fall term in 1948.

Jes' Ramblin'

Justice of the Peace E. V. Beard, of Ward 8, a visitor to the Morning World yesterday, makes a living from his 80-acre farm in the hill section, together with what he brings in from a marriage ceremony every now and then and other emoluments of his office. Interrogated to know how many marriages he has performed in the 35 years he has held the job of justice, he shook his graying head and got thoughtful. At least, he admitted, it might be more than 300.

"I charge 'em $3 to get doubled up in harness," he declared, but once I got $5 and this is how. One night late, I was called from bed and when I opened up the front door there was a young man. 'I have a girl in the car,' he said, 'we want to get married.' Quickly he went to the car and took something in his arms, brought her to the house and set her down. She was far less than five feet tall and looked like a mere child. I performed the ceremony and he put out a $5 bill. I started to get change but he said 'That's all right,' and picking up his burden in his arms he ran with her to the car. I always thought it was a peculiar case.

"Another time I married I couple and when through with the ceremony, the man said he was hard up. I told him I'd make the fee at a cut rate, charging only half price, $1.50. But he said he didn't have even that. Of course I'd married 'em and so could not unmarry 'em. I told him to bring me $1.50 when he got it and they left. Later I was told they walked to the forks of the road when they quarreled and the girl is reported to have told her husband that if he

3 PERSONS KILLED IN QUAKE IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An earthquake killed at least three persons and caused heavy damage in some Andes Mountains cities of Peru today. Reports said the loss of life might be even higher.

Lima suffered neither damage nor casualties, but the interior ministry said two children were killed and several persons were injured when the cathedral tower collapsed at Huancayo, 125 miles east of this city, and one other fatality occurred at Huancavelica, about 50 miles south of Huancayo.

Reports from the eastern slope of the Andes bordering the Amazon jungle said that the city of Laa Merced was believed to have been destroyed, that half the houses in San Raon were in ruins and that there were "many victims" in San Luis de Shuaro.

The government will send planes to the stricken area tomorrow carrying food, medicine and doctors.

CHURCHILL CLAIMS LANDSLIDE VICTORY AT BRITISH POLLS

Heaviest Voting In 10 Years Sweeps Labor Party Out Of Local Offices

SWING IN PUBLIC OPINION SHOWN IN EARLY RETURNS

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Winston Churchill's Conservatives claimed an "overwhelming" victory early today over Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party on the strength of nearly complete returns from yesterday's municipal elections in England and Wales.

Both parties in heated campaigns had called the elections a test of popularity for Attlee's government, which replaced Churchill's after a landslide Parliamentary victory more than two years ago. The voting apparently was the heaviest for any local elections in upward of 10 years.

Balloting was for 3,266 council seats —one third of each borough council— in 392 cities and towns, not including London.

Returns from 365 of these localities showed:

Conservatives gained 588 seats, lost 17; Labor gained 42 lost 646; Liberals gained 44, lost 46; Communists gained none, lost nine; Independents gained 170, lost 126.

Less than an hour after midnight, Conservative party headquarters issued a statement which said:

"The results so far available disclose an overwhelming conservative victory. Although the returns from some large boroughs still are awaited, the wholesale rejection of Socialist doctrine throughout the country indicates a complete sweeping of public opinion."

Since coming to power in Britain, labor has nationalized a series of key industries but has been beset increasingly by economic difficulties that hampered adoption of more and more austerity measures. Only today Britons were deprived of gasoline for pleasure driving.

Of the seats at stake, 1,475 have been held by Laborites, 1,032 by Independents, 618 by Conservatives, 131 by Liberals and 10 by Communists. Practically all the "Independents" were conceded to have conservative sympathies.

Some 12,000,000 voters—about half the number eligible for national general elections—had the right to ballot yesterday.

MAN O' WAR DIES OF HEART ATTACK

30-Year-Old Stallion Succumbs In Stall; America's Foremost Thoroughbred

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov 1.—(AP)—Man o' War, America's foremost thoroughbred, died of a heart attack today.

Death came to the big 30-year-old stallion this afternoon in his stall at the Faraway farm of his owner, Samuel D. Riddle of Lexington and Philadelphia.,

Death brought an end to a three fold career.

Starting in 1919 as a two-year-old he won 20 of the 21 races he entered, established five world records and retired after two years to become the leading money winning sire of all time. His third career was to his public who regarded his life as an open book.

"Pops," the name the stable boys tagged on him, had been ill since last summer.

He was retired to a rocking chair life last May 23 to spend his last days in the quiet of the Faraway farm

TITO EXPELS TWO AMERICAN REPORTERS FROM YUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two American newspaper correspondents—a man and his wife—were ordered expelled today from Yugoslavia, leaving only four foreign reporters from Western nations in Marshall Tito's country.

A government spokesman said Arthur M. Brandel, correspondent for the New York Times, and his wife, who writes for the United Press under the name of Mary Lester, were being expelled because "their writing has not tended to create a better understanding between our two countries."

A militiaman, who awakened the Brandels at 7:45 a. m., told them:

"I am instructed by the ministry of the interior to inform you that you have 24 hours in which to leave our country. I am also instructed that if you do not leave, we shall take the necessary steps."

He did not explain what these steps might be.

U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon, informed of the expulsion order by Brandel, said he considered it a "grave incident in principle" and took up the matter with the minister of foreign affairs.

Cannon said when he first discussed the affair with Vladimir Velebit, deputy foreign minister, Velebit said it

MICHIGAN, NOTRE DAME, S. M. U. CONTINUE UNDEFEATED PACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Michigan, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Penn, Southern Methodist, Penn State, Notre Dame and Army all triumphed today as the college football teams turned into November and attendant crucial contests.

Michigan and the SMU Mustangs subdued stalwart conference opponents, the former downing Illinois by a 14 to 7 count to strengthen its Big Nine title hopes and virtually assure the Wolverines of a Jan. 1 journey to the Rose Bowl.

Southern Methodist turned loose its great back, Chunky Doak Walker, and he guided his mates to a 14 to 13 decision over Texas that all but decided the Southwest flag winner.

While those two unbeaten powerhouses were disposing of their foes, Notre Dame and Army completed arrangements for their climactic grudge battle at South Bend next week-end. The Irish, making use of every break, capsized Navy, 27 to 0, and the Cadets started on a new win streak by punishing Washington & Lee, 65 to 13.

Earl Blaik, Army coach, used 48 men but if Army found the passers it has so desperately sought all fall only the coaching staff knows. Terry Brennan, however, gave indications he may be the running back the Irish have been seeking.

Georgia Tech overcame bad weather and bad punting to down Duke, 7 to 0, and remain unbeaten;

West Monroe Woman Dies

Four Calhoun Youths Injured In Head-On Collision On Highway 80; Two Others Hospitalized

Two head-on collisions and an auto smashing into a mobile cement mixer claimed one life and injured six other persons, one critically, in a series of accidents in the Monroe area late yesterday.

Mrs. Mabel Collie, 52, died in a Mulhearn ambulance en route to a hospital after a 1941 Nash she was driving collided head-on with an empty gravel truck near her home on the old Natchitoches road about a mile west of the West Monroe city limits.

State police arrested the driver of the gravel truck, Clyde Bennett Huey, 37, of Route 2, West Monroe, at the scene and lodged him in the parish jail on tentative charges of negligent homicide pending further investigation by the district attorney's office.

Coroner Dr. J. T. French attributed Mrs. Collie's death to severe head and brain injuries.

According to state police, Mrs. Collie, returning home from a grocery store, about 3:30 p.m., crashed into Huey's empty truck as he swerved to the opposite side of the road after losing control of the truck when he dropped off the shoulder of the pavement.

Tire marks, state police said, indicated that Huey, traveling west, ran off the highway on a slight curve, and then shot across to Mrs. Collie's lane. Police said it was apparent that Huey was traveling at high speed.

REVAMPED FARM PROGRAM NEEDED

Four Cornerstones Of Long-Range Plan Studied By Agriculture Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Farm price props, production controls, soil conservation payments and encouragement of farmer co-operatives dropped into place today as the four cornerstones for congressional consideration of long range agriculture policy.

A majority of rural spokesmen told the House agriculture committee that the old farm program, refined and polished, is good enough for the future.

The congressional group headed back for Washington today, after a 5,000 mile swing through New England, the Atlantic seaboard states, the deep south, the north central states and the midwest.

It went into 23 states and heard approximately 500 farmers testify on what they have on their minds for future farm policy when much of the agriculture-supporting legislation dies at the end of next year.

A few said "let the farmer stand on his own feet," but the majority view was summed up by a Negro, Joe Brooks, from Yazoo county, Miss. He

U. N. CONTROL OF S. W. AFRICA AGAIN DEMANDED

Assembly Calls On South Africa To Place Territory Under Trusteeship

U. S., RUSSIA SUPPORT OPPOSITION BY BRITISH

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The general assembly tonight again called on the government of South Africa to place the territory of southwest Africa under United Nations trusteeship. South Africa did not comply with a previous appeal from the 1946 assembly.

Britain was the only big power to oppose the move, with the United States and Russia joining in support.

The ballot came after a Danish amendment to water down the proposal was accepted. The modification struck out a one-year time limit for compliance and left the assembly merely expressing "hope" that South Africa would submit the agreement by next fall.

Debate over the trusteeship issue held up a final vote in the Soviet "warmonger" case where the assembly political committee threw out the original Russian charges and substituted a resolution condemning all propaganda "designed or likely to provoke or encourage any threat to the peace, breach of the peace, or act of aggression."

The "peace-calling" proposal was adopted 56 to 0 in committee and now

KILLER CAPTURED BY 'SMALL ARMY'

Nationwide Hunt For Oklahoma Desperado Ends With Arrest In Alabama

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The F. B. I. tonight announced that "a nation-wide hunt for a thrice-convicted murderer, bank robber and escape artist ended here" late today with the capture of an Oklahoma desperado four miles north of Citronelle, Ala.

John K. Munford, F. B. I. agent in charge of the Mobile office, identified the convict as Julius D. Bohannon, 41, originally of Morris county, Texas.

Arresting officers were listed as a "small army" by Munford. The Alabama highway patrol assisted the F. B. I.

Bohannon escaped from Oklahoma state prison, McAlester, Sept. 1, Munford said.

At the time of his escape, the desperado was serving one of three lifetime sentences for murder. Federal Bureau of Investigation identification orders had been placed throughout the country, according to Munford.

Bohannon for the past few weeks had been operating a beer tavern near Citronelle, where the capture took place.

Asked why he came to Mobile county, Bohannon told officers that "I just wanted to get somewhere I wouldn't be recognized."

Ironically, Munford said, the fugitive's capture was affected through an identification made by a person

ASSEMBLY SLATED TO SHIFT TO PARIS

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The United Nations assembly probably will hold its 1948 session in Paris, Geneva or Brussels, an authoritative source said today.

Temporary shifting of U. N. activities from the United States for the two or three-month period was regarded by this source as virtually certain with selection of the European site the only issue to be settled.

France formally proposed last Thursday that the assembly move to Europe for its 1948 session.

SEEK TO NULLIFY CONTEMPT ACTIONS

Ten Hollywood Individuals Ask Speaker Martin To Throw Out Citations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Ten Hollywood individuals threatened with contempt of Congress proceedings by the House committee on un-American Activities, today asked Speaker Martin to nullify the action.

The ten specifically asked the speaker not to certify contempt citations to the United States District Attorney and that their lawyers be given a hearing before him.

During its investigation of reported Communist influence in the movie capital the ten were adjudged by a subcommittee to be in contempt of it after declining to answer questions as to whether they were Communists. The full committee has yet to act. If it concurs, as expected, it will ask Martin to certify the contempt charge.

Counsel for the group said in a letter to Martin "the inquiry concerning the witness' political affiliation was not pertinent or material to the in-

SCIENCE BUILDING PLANS COMPLETED

Plans and specifications for the proposed large and most modern science building for Northeast Junior college, funds for which were allocated by Louisiana State University last spring, have been completed by H. H. Land, local architect, it was announced Saturday.

Dean Rodney Cline and Mr. Land will leave for Baton Rouge Monday to confer with university officials for a study of the plans. When approved by them, bids will be asked and it is hoped that the contract can be awarded at an early date and construction started.

It is expected to have the new structure in use for the fall term in 1948.

Jes' Ramblin'

Justice of the Peace E. V. Beard, of Ward 8, a visitor to the Morning World yesterday, makes a living from his 80-acre farm in the hill section, together with what he brings in from a marriage ceremony every now and then and other emoluments of his office. Interrogated to know how many marriages he has performed in the 35 years he has held the job of justice, he shook his graying head and got thoughtful. At least, he admitted, it might be more than 300.

"I charge 'em $3 to get doubled up in harness," he declared, but once I got $5 and this is how. One night late, I was called from bed and when I opened up the front door there was a young man. 'I have a girl in the car,' he said, 'we want to get married.' Quickly he went to the car and took something in his arms, brought her to the house and set her down. She was far less than five feet tall and looked like a mere child. I performed the ceremony and he put out a $5 bill. I started to get change but he said 'That's all right,' and picking up his burden in his arms he ran with her to the car. I always thought it was a peculiar case.

"Another time I married I couple and when through with the ceremony, the man said he was hard up. I told him I'd make the fee at a cut rate, charging only half price, $1.50. But he said he didn't have even that. Of course I'd married 'em and so could not unmarry 'em. I told him to bring me $1.50 when he got it and they left. Later I was told they walked to the forks of the road when they quarreled and the girl is reported to have told her husband that if he

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An earthquake killed at least three persons and caused heavy damage in some Andes Mountains cities of Peru today. Reports said the loss of life might be even higher.

Lima, suffered neither damage nor casualties, but the interior ministry said two children were killed and several persons were injured when the cathedral tower collapsed at Huancayo, 125 miles east of this city, and one other fatality occurred at Huancavelica, about 50 miles south of Huancayo.

Reports from the eastern slope of the Andes bordering the Amazon jungle said that the city of Laa Merced was believed to have been destroyed, that half the houses in San Raon were in ruins and that there were "many victims" in San Luis de Shuaro.

The government will send planes to the stricken area tomorrow carrying food, medicine and doctors.

CHURCHILL CLAIMS LANDSLIDE VICTORY AT BRITISH POLLS

Heaviest Voting In 10 Years Sweeps Labor Party Out Of Local Offices

SWING IN PUBLIC OPINION SHOWN IN EARLY RETURNS

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Winston Churchill's Conservatives claimed an "overwhelming" victory early today over Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party on the strength of nearly complete returns from yesterday's municipal elections in England and Wales.

Both parties in heated campaigns had called the elections a test of popularity for Attlee's government, which replaced Churchill's after a landslide Parliamentary victory more than two years ago. The voting apparently was the heaviest for any local elections in upward of 10 years.

Balloting was for 3,266 council seats—one third of each borough council—in 392 cities and towns, not including London.

Returns from 365 of these localities showed:

Conservatives gained 588 seats, lost 17; Labor gained 42 lost 646; Liberals gained 44, lost 46; Communists gained none, lost nine; Independents gained 170, lost 126.

Less than an hour after midnight, Conservative party headquarters issued a statement which said:

"The results so far available disclose an overwhelming conservative victory. Although the returns from some large boroughs still are awaited, the wholesale rejection of Socialist doctrine throughout the country indicates a complete sweeping of public opinion."

Since coming to power in Britain, labor has nationalized a series of key industries but has been beset increasingly by economic difficulties that hampered adoption of more and more austerity measures. Only today Britons were deprived of gasoline for pleasure driving.

Of the seats at stake, 1,475 have been held by Laborites, 1,032 by Independents, 618 by Conservatives, 131 by Liberals and 10 by Communists. Practically all the "Independents" were conceded to have conservative sympathies.

Some 12,000,000 voters—about half the number eligible for national general elections—had the right to ballot yesterday.

MAN O' WAR DIES OF HEART ATTACK

30-Year-Old Stallion Succumbs In Stall; America's Foremost Thoroughbred

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov 1.—(AP)—Man o' War, America's foremost thoroughbred, died of a heart attack today.

Death came to the big 30-year-old stallion this afternoon in his stall at the Faraway farm of his owner, Samuel D. Riddle of Lexington and Philadelphia.,

Death brought an end to a three fold career.

Starting in 1919 as a two-year-old he won 20 of the 21 races he entered, established five world records and retired after two years to become the leading money winning sire of all time. His third career was to his public who regarded his life as an open book.

"Pops," the name the stable boys tagged on him, had been ill since last summer.

He was retired to a rocking chair life last May 23 to spend his last days in the quiet of the Faraway farm

TITO EXPELS TWO AMERICAN REPORTERS FROM YUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two American newspaper correspondents—a man and his wife—were ordered expelled today from Yugoslavia, leaving only four foreign reporters from Western nations in Marshall Tito's country.

A government spokesman said Arthur M. Brandel, correspondent for the New York Times, and his wife, who writes for the United Press under the name of Mary Lester, were being expelled because "their writing has not tended to create a better understanding between our two countries."

A militiaman, who awakened the Brandels at 7:45 a. m., told them:

"I am instructed by the ministry of the interior to inform you that you have 24 hours in which to leave our country. I am also instructed that if you do not leave, we shall take the necessary steps."

He did not explain what these steps might be.

U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon, informed of the expulsion order by Brandel, said he considered it a "grave incident in principle" and took up the matter with the minister of foreign affairs.

Cannon said when he first discussed the affair with Vladimir Velebit, deputy foreign minister, Velebit said it

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Michigan, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Penn, Southern Methodist, Penn State, Notre Dame and Army all triumphed today as the college football teams turned into November and attendant crucial contests.

Michigan and the SMU Mustangs subdued stalwart conference opponents, the former downing Illinois by a 14 to 7 count to strengthen its Big Nine title hopes and virtually assure the Wolverines of a Jan. 1 journey to the Rose Bowl.

Southern Methodist turned loose its great back, Chunky Doak Walker, and he guided his mates to a 14 to 13 decision over Texas that all but decided the Southwest flag winner.

While those two unbeaten powerhouses were disposing of their foes, Notre Dame and Army completed arrangements for their climactic grudge battle at South Bend next week-end. The Irish, making use of every break, capsized Navy, 27 to 0, and the Cadets started on a new win streak by punishing Washington & Lee, 65 to 13.

Earl Blaik, Army coach, used 48 men but if Army found the passers it has so desperately sought all fall only the coaching staff knows. Terry Brennan, however, gave indications he may be the running back the Irish have been seeking.

Georgia Tech overcame bad weather and bad punting to down Duke, 7 to 0, and remain unbeaten;

West Monroe Woman Dies

Four Calhoun Youths Injured In Head-On Collision On Highway 80; Two Others Hospitalized

Two head-on collisions and an auto smashing into a mobile cement mixer claimed one life and injured six other persons, one critically, in a series of accidents in the Monroe area late yesterday.

Mrs. Mabel Collie, 52, died in a Mulhearn ambulance en route to a hospital after a 1941 Nash she was driving collided head-on with an empty gravel truck near her home on the old Natchitoches road about a mile west of the West Monroe city limits.

State police arrested the driver of the gravel truck, Clyde Bennett Huey, 37, of Route 2, West Monroe, at the scene and lodged him in the parish jail on tentative charges of negligent homicide pending further investigation by the district attorney's office.

Coroner Dr. J. T. French attributed Mrs. Collie's death to severe head and brain injuries.

According to state police, Mrs. Collie, returning home from a grocery store, about 3:30 p.m., crashed into Huey's empty truck as he swerved to the opposite side of the road after losing control of the truck when he dropped off the shoulder of the pavement.

Tire marks, state police said, indicated that Huey, traveling west, ran off the highway on a slight curve, and then shot across to Mrs. Collie's lane. Police said it was apparent that Huey was traveling at high speed.

REVAMPED FARM PROGRAM NEEDED

Four Cornerstones Of Long-Range Plan Studied By Agriculture Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Farm price props, production controls, soil conservation payments and encouragement of farmer co-operatives dropped into place today as the four cornerstones for congressional consideration of long range agriculture policy.

A majority of rural spokesmen told the House agriculture committee that the old farm program, refined and polished, is good enough for the future.

The congressional group headed back for Washington today, after a 5,000 mile swing through New England, the Atlantic seaboard states, the deep south, the north central states and the midwest.

It went into 23 states and heard approximately 500 farmers testify on what they have on their minds for future farm policy when much of the agriculture-supporting legislation dies at the end of next year.

A few said "let the farmer stand on his own feet," but the majority view was summed up by a Negro, Joe Brooks, from Yazoo county, Miss. He

EXODUS OF RUSSIANS FROM BRAZIL SLATED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Brazilian foreign office said that the exodus of Russian diplomats from Rio de Janeiro would begin today simultaneously with the departure of the first group of Brazilian diplomats from Moscow.

Brazil severed diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union Oct. 21 because of Russian failure to acknowledge Brazilian protests over articles in the Russian press critical of President Eurico Gaspar Dutra and the Brazilian army.

U. N. CONTROL OF S. W. AFRICA AGAIN DEMANDED

U. S., RUSSIA SUPPORT OPPOSITION BY BRITISH

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The general assembly tonight again called on the government of South Africa to place the territory of southwest Africa under United Nations trusteeship. South Africa did not comply with a previous appeal from the 1946 assembly.

Britain was the only big power to oppose the move, with the United States and Russia joining in support.

The ballot came after a Danish amendment to water down the proposal was accepted. The modification struck out a one-year time limit for compliance and left the assembly merely expressing "hope" that South Africa would submit the agreement by next fall.

Debate over the trusteeship issue held up a final vote in the Soviet "warmonger" case where the assembly political committee threw out the original Russian charges and substituted a resolution condemning all propaganda "designed or likely to provoke or encourage any threat to the peace, breach of the peace, or act of aggression."

The "peace-calling" proposal was adopted 56 to 0 in committee and now

Nationwide Hunt For Oklahoma Desperado Ends With Arrest In Alabama

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The F. B. I. tonight announced that "a nation-wide hunt for a thrice-convicted murderer, bank robber and escape artist ended here" late today with the capture of an Oklahoma desperado four miles north of Citronelle, Ala.

John K. Munford, F. B. I. agent in charge of the Mobile office, identified the convict as Julius D. Bohannon, 41, originally of Morris county, Texas.

Arresting officers were listed as a "small army" by Munford. The Alabama highway patrol assisted the F. B. I.

Bohannon escaped from Oklahoma state prison, McAlester, Sept. 1, Munford said.

At the time of his escape, the desparado was serving one of three lifetime sentences for murder. Federal Bureau of Investigation identification orders had been placed throughout the country, according to Munford.

Bohannon for the past few weeks had been operating a beer tavern near Citronelle, where the capture took place.

Asked why he came to Mobile county, Bohannon told officers that "I just wanted to get somewhere I wouldn't be recognized."

Ironically, Munford said, the fugitive's capture was affected through an identification made by a person

ASSEMBLY SLATED TO SHIFT TO PARIS

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The United Nations assembly probably will hold its 1948 session in Paris, Geneva or Brussels, an authoritative source said today.

Temporary shifting of U. N. activities from the United States for the two or three-month period was regarded by this source as virtually certain with selection of the European site the only issue to be settled.

France formally proposed last Thursday that the assembly move to Europe for its 1948 session.

Will Assemble At Hotel Virginia To Discuss Lighting

Ennett H. Scott, chairman of the retail merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce, has called a special meeting of his division to meet at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon on the roof garden of the Virginia Hotel, to consider the proposition of decorating the streets with colored lights for the Christmas season.

Monroe has had no special lighting on the streets since before the war, and the merchants feel it is imperative that this city be decorated this year, especially since all of the cities in the state, regardless of size, are planning elaborate decorations.

The mayor and members of the city commission have received a special invitation from Mr. Scott to attend this meet, so that definite plans may be formulated to be put into effect immediately after Thanksgiving.

Mr. Scott urges all members of the retail merchant's division to make a special effort to attend this meeting.

KERRVILLE, Tex., Nov. 1.—(Special)—William E. Russell, student at Schreiner Institute and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. JR. RED CROSS TO SEEK MEMBERSHIP

Monday will mark the beginning of a two-week campaign which seeks to enroll the students of Monroe and Ouachita parish 100 per cent as Junior Red Cross members.

The Monroe Morning World, knowing of the wonderful opportunity for service to others which the Junior Red Cross offers, heartily endorses the membership campaign in the local schools.

Founded in 1917 by President Woodrow Wilson, the Junior Red Cross has grown to an organization of 19,000,000 members working toward the betterment of their fellows.

Its members will make gift boxes for children overseas, favors for service men; will take part in forest fire prevention; assist in community betterment programs and serve otherwise. Another project will be that of a bicycle safety program.

Although about one-fifth of U. S. people live on farms, it was estimated that in the 1947 boom season they received only one-ninth of the U. S. income.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Ever since the mighty Indian subcontinent was divided into two sovereign dominions—India (Hindu) and Pakistan (Moslem)—there have been danger signals warning of the possibility of civil war between these old politico-religious enemies who frequently have engaged in sanguinary conflict through the centuries.

There have been terrible communal clashes in various parts of the country. Unnumbered thousands of people have been killed, and there have been looting and burning. Much of this has grown out of the unhappy circumstance that many Moslems had been living in territory which was awarded to the Hindu dominion of India, and many Hindus were caught within Moslem Pakistan.

The latest untoward development, however—the invasion of the great princely state of Kashmir by Moslem tribesmen from the neighboring northwest frontier province, within Pakistan—brings the sub-continent with its 400,000,000 people nearer to civil war than anything which has transpired previously. The danger lies in these tangled circumstances:

When the dominions were created, the fabulously rich maharajah of Kashmir, Sir Hari Singh, declared his independence of both. Moslem Pakistan felt that the Moslem population of Kashmir belonged within Pakistan. And when the Moslem tribesmen invaded Kashmir recently, the government of the state charged that the invasion had been instigated by Pakistan, an allegation denied by the Pakistan government. The invasion went badly for the maharajah and he joined the Hindu dominion of India, asking for protection.

The dominion of India sent troops into Kashmir to aid the prince's forces in defense. A reliable source states that Pakistan also started a brigade for Kashmir but withdrew it when warned by Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck, the Briton who commands the armies of both dominions, that an accidental clash between Pakistan and Indian troops would mean "war between the dominions." Officials of Pakistan and India are scheduled to meet this week-end to try to iron out the problems threatening civil war.

Meantime the troops of Kashmir and the dominion of India haven't fared well at the hands of the invading tribesmen. You have to know your tribesmen to understand the seeming anomaly of their success against trained soldiery. As remarked in a previous article, I spent some time on the northwest frontier and rode with several thousand British troops when they rounded up and interned 600 tribesmen in the neighborhood of the Khyber Pass.

These tribesmen are primitives, not far removed from the barbarians who swept through the Khyber into India 2,000 years ago, and more. However, they are crafty and, having cut their teeth on rifle barrels in a manner of speaking, they are tough fighters and are not without crude military skill. The men spend their lives fighting, raiding, pillaging and murdering in neighboring settlements, and always have been a thorn in the side of the British.

To illustrate the type of craftiness they possess, they will steal a blanket from under a sleeping man without awakening him. You don't believe it? Well, it's like this: The tribesman crawls into the sleeper's tent and tickles one side of the victim's body with a feather or piece of grass. The sleeper rolls over onto the side being tickled. Then the tribesman folds the released half of the blanket and tickles the sleeper on that side, with the result that the latter again rolls towards his tormenter and so rolls off the blanket. Then the tribesman vamooses with his loot.

However, apart from this crude cunning, the tribesmen are fierce fighters who are unafraid of death. They also have great skill in the use of firearms and are deadly with a sword at close quarters. That's what the Kashmir and Indian troops are up against.

SPEEDING CAR WRECKED FLEEING FROM POLICE

Ending an 18-block chase that began near the north end of Cypress street in West Monroe at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, a 1940 Lincoln Zephyr upset at the intersection of Wood street and its driver and sole occupant was pulled uninjured from the wreckage by Officers W. E. Lawrence and O. H. Hill. At the police station, where he was charged with speeding and reckless driving, he identified himself as Kenneth S. Boyce, 24, of Bastrop.

Boyce was traveling between 70 and 80 miles an hour, the officers said in their report, when he tried to make a left turn onto Wood and his machine upset. They said he had attempted to outrun their 1947 Ford patrol car after he had passed them at a high rate of speed, and had ignored their siren and red light as they signalled for him to halt. He was doing all right, too, they added, until he came to the dead end of Cypress' 100 block.

Will Assemble At Hotel Virginia To Discuss Lighting

Ennett H. Scott, chairman of the retail merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce, has called a special meeting of his division to meet at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon on the roof garden of the Virginia Hotel, to consider the proposition of decorating the streets with colored lights for the Christmas season.

Monroe has had no special lighting on the streets since before the war, and the merchants feel it is imperative that this city be decorated this year, especially since all of the cities in the state, regardless of size, are planning elaborate decorations.

The mayor and members of the city commission have received a special invitation from Mr. Scott to attend this meet, so that definite plans may be formulated to be put into effect immediately after Thanksgiving.

Mr. Scott urges all members of the retail merchant's division to make a special effort to attend this meeting.

MONROE STUDENT PROMOTED

KERRVILLE, Tex., Nov. 1.—(Special)—William E. Russell, student at Schreiner Institute and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Russell, of Monroe, La., was listed as staff-sergeant on the year's first promotion order, released yesterday by Colonel Raymond Orr, U. S. A. (retired), professor of military science and tactics.

JR. RED CROSS TO SEEK MEMBERSHIP

Monday will mark the beginning of a two-week campaign which seeks to enroll the students of Monroe and Ouachita parish 100 per cent as Junior Red Cross members.

The Monroe Morning World, knowing of the wonderful opportunity for service to others which the Junior Red Cross offers, heartily endorses the membership campaign in the local schools.

Founded in 1917 by President Woodrow Wilson, the Junior Red Cross has grown to an organization of 19,000,000 members working toward the betterment of their fellows.

Its members will make gift boxes for children overseas, favors for service men; will take part in forest fire prevention; assist in community betterment programs and serve otherwise. Another project will be that of a bicycle safety program.

Although about one-fifth of U. S. people live on farms, it was estimated that in the 1947 boom season they received only one-ninth of the U. S. income.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastri digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Ever since the mighty Indian subcontinent was divided into two sovereign dominions—India (Hindu) and Pakistan (Moslem)—there have been danger signals warning of the possibility of civil war between these old politico-religious enemies who frequently have engaged in sanguinary conflict through the centuries.

There have been terrible communal clashes in various parts of the country. Unnumbered thousands of people have been killed, and there have been looting and burning. Much of this has grown out of the unhappy circumstance that many Moslems had been living in territory which was awarded to the Hindu dominion of India, and many Hindus were caught within Moslem Pakistan.

The latest untoward development, however—the invasion of the great princely state of Kashmir by Moslem tribesmen from the neighboring northwest frontier province, within Pakistan—brings the sub-continent with its 400,000,000 people nearer to civil war than anything which has transpired previously. The danger lies in these tangled circumstances:

When the dominions were created, the fabulously rich maharajah of Kashmir, Sir Hari Singh, declared his independence of both. Moslem Pakistan felt that the Moslem population of Kashmir belonged within Pakistan. And when the Moslem tribesmen invaded Kashmir recently, the government of the state charged that the invasion had been instigated by Pakistan, an allegation denied by the Pakistan government. The invasion went badly for the maharajah and he joined the Hindu dominion of India, asking for protection.

The dominion of India sent troops into Kashmir to aid the prince's forces in defense. A reliable source states that Pakistan also started a brigade for Kashmir but withdrew it when warned by Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck, the Briton who commands the armies of both dominions, that an accidental clash between Pakistan and Indian troops would mean "war between the dominions." Officials of Pakistan and India are scheduled to meet this week-end to try to iron out the problems threatening civil war.

Meantime the troops of Kashmir and the dominion of India haven't fared well at the hands of the invading tribesmen. You have to know your tribesmen to understand the seeming anomaly of their success against trained soldiery. As remarked in a previous article, I spent some time on the northwest frontier and rode with several thousand British troops when they rounded up and interned 600 tribesmen in the neighborhood of the Khyber Pass.

These tribesmen are primitives, not far removed from the barbarians who swept through the Khyber into India 2,000 years ago, and more. However, they are crafty and, having cut their teeth on rifle barrels in a manner of speaking, they are tough fighters and are not without crude military skill. The men spend their lives fighting, raiding, pillaging and murdering in neighboring settlements, and always have been a thorn in the side of the British.

To illustrate the type of craftiness they possess, they will steal a blanket from under a sleeping man without awakening him. You don't believe it? Well, it's like this: The tribesman crawls into the sleeper's tent and tickles one side of the victim's body with a feather or piece of grass. The sleeper rolls over onto the side being tickled. Then the tribesman folds the released half of the blanket and tickles the sleeper on that side, with the result that the latter again rolls towards his tormenter and so rolls off the blanket. Then the tribesman vamooses with his loot.

However, apart from this crude cunning, the tribesmen are fierce fighters who are unafraid of death. They also have great skill in the use of firearms and are deadly with a sword at close quarters. That's what the Kashmir and Indian troops are up against.

Christmas Lighting

Plans are being made now for the lighting and decorating of our downtown streets for the Christmas holidays. In its announcement of a meeting at the Virginia Hotel Monday, the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce asks: "Do you want Christmas street decorations." The reply should be an emphatic "Yes," and the Monday meeting should be well attended.

The value of attractive street decorations and brilliant lighting should be apparent to every business man. Originally the plan was devised to provide a gay atmosphere for the celebration of the holidays. But it goes farther than that; merchants have found that beautifully lighted streets in the shopping district attract many visitors from out of town and actually stimulate buying by residents of the community.

Various plans for financing the project have been followed in cities in our vicinity. In the cities which have municipally-owned utilities, the expense is usually borne by the city itself. In cities which do not have their own plants, there has been a minimum charge to merchants for the electric power with many cities bearing the expense of installing the lights and the decorations.

In Alexandria, for instance, the city takes understandable pride in its elaborate Christmas decorations. Each year the city not only installs its decorations in the downtown shopping areas but also decorates its outlying community centers. In Jackson, which does not own its power plant, beautiful lights and decorations are strung each Christmas, with merchants paying the line charges.

Most certainly Monroe should keep pace with our neighbors. The meager efforts of the past will not suffice.

BIRTHDAY WITH WINGS

Pan American Airways has just observed its 20th birthday. The age of adulthood in this country is 21, but Pan American is international, and surely it would be niggling to question that, at 20, it has come of age.

It was Oct. 28, 1927, that a frail wooden-winged 10-passenger Fokker F-7 was babied across the 90 miles of water separating Key West from Havana, at 85 miles an hour.

This was not the first international passenger service. That was opened in 1920 by the Royal Dutch Line, KLM, between Amsterdam and London.

It was not the first scheduled American passenger service. The Air Transport Association credits Western Air Express, now Western Air Lines, with that for its 660-mile service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, opened April 17, 1926.

Nor was it the first American scheduled service in planes primarily for passengers. On July 6, 1926, Philadelphia Rapid Transit cashed in on the Quaker City's sesquicentennial by opening regular passenger service between Philadelphia and Washington.

But the very pettiness of these beginnings serve to emphasize the courage required by Juan Trippe when he got hold of $300,000 and undertook regular over-water international service of any kind.

During the first six months of 1947, Pan American carried 457,817 paying passengers an average of 1,100 miles each on its Latin American, Atlantic, Pacific and Alaska divisions. That was three out of every four passengers flown by all U. S. international air lines. It was more than half the total of passengers handled by all international lines, domestic and foreign, serving our shores.

During those six months, Pan American's more than 200 planes, most of them four-motored and many capable of carrying more than 50 passengers at a speed of 300 miles an hour, were scheduled for almost 29 million miles of flight. Except for the Alaska division, their performance was above 97 per cent.

Notwithstanding costs and lingering timidities, only four of the 19 domestic airlines reported in American Aviation handled as many passengers as Pan American during the first half of 1947, and only two boasted as many passenger-miles.

American, TWA and United give first-class transoceanic service to the far places. Their planes, their services, their charges are comparable to Pan American's. More than 15 foreign flag lines serve this country, mostly with American-built planes, often with American pilots, some giving as good, safe service as our own.

But American lines still handle 75 per cent of trans-Atlantic and 90 per cent of trans-Pacific and Caribbean business, and Pan American carries three-fourths of it.

Pan American pioneered, took the big original risks, gambled lives and huge sums of money against unguessable odds—and won. So, a few days late, we are happy to say to Pan American: Happy Birthday. Keep 'em flying. May the shadows of your wings never grow less.

WHEAT SITUATION

Lack of rain throughout the wheat growing country is a complicating factor in the food situation. Discouraging prospects for another crop are prompting growers to hang on to wheat in storage, to insure an income next year in event of a crop failure. This year's crop becomes a cushion for setbacks apparently in the making.

The United States produced 1,400,000,000 bushels of wheat this year. Of this vast crop an estimated 40 per cent, or more than 500,000,000 bushels, is still on the farms where grown. Marketing the crop over a period of two years also will soften income taxes for a single year, an idea that looks mighty attractive on the heels of President Truman's two vetoes of income tax reduction bills.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—Pals expect Spike Jones, whose divorce became final this week, to run—not walk—to the nearest J. P. with his singer, Helen Grayco . . . I hear Richard Greene is unhappy about the roles handed him by 20th Century-Fox bosses, and unhappier still about their refusal to give him time out for a London stage play . . . Radio thrush Peggy Lee, trying to avoid that impending major operation, is in an L. A. hospital, for a thirty-day rest cure . . . Seems there's an impasse at M.-G.-M., with Margaret O'Brien (backed by mama, no doubt) refusing to cut her hair in boy fashion for her role in "The Big City."

Shirley Jean Rickert, one-time blonde child beauty of the "Our Gang" comedies and now an MGM dancer, is readying a divorce suit against her husband, U. C. L. A. student James Rydell . . . Primo Carnera, the ex-heavyweight champ, is buying a Beverly Hills home and will bid for screen work . . . The Kay Kysers' new heir is expected on February 1 . . . Bells to Ken Murray for donating 16 millimeter prints of his novelty film, "Bill and Coo," to all govenment hospitals . . . Time out for Edmund O'Brien, suffering from penicillin poisoning.

New York sources report that Faye McKenzie and Steve Cochran have definitely reconciled and canceled divorce plans . . . Wotzis about Wally Vernon, the old-time screen comic, being ousted from an Oakland, California, night club engagement because the manager considered his material offensive? . . . . Lew Ayres and Charles Bickford are inking a partnership agreement and will build a resort in Northern California.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: Columbia's "It Had to Be You" (Ginger Rogers-Cornel Wilde-Spring Byington). An effervescent farce, superbly played, that will send you home with a wonderful 1-aftermath . . . RECOMMENDED: RKO's "Man About Town" (Maurice Chevalier-Francois Perier-Marcelle Derrien). Gay, witty and delightfully different . . . GOOD: MGM's "Killer McCoy" (Mickey Rooney-Brian Donlevy-Ann Blyth). A prizefight drama, with Rooney scoring well in his first adult role . . . Republic's "On The Old Spanish Trail" (Roy Rogers-Tito Guizar-Jane Frazee-Andy Devine). A high spot in the Roy Rogers program that will win cheers from fans of all degrees . . . SO-SO: Universal-International's "The Upturned Glass" (James Mason-Rosamund John). A made-in-England whodunit that will add little to Mason's American reputation . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Ginger Rogers in "It Had to Be You."

There's talk that the major studios may turn out a welter of "Class B" movies in the next year of two to offset the cut in revenue certain to result from the loss of their English market. To my way of thinking, that program will make about as much sense as the folly of a man who gets blind drunk to "forget" a sorrow. It's a sure way to lose a big percentage of the American market, too. Much more sensible would be an attack on the extravagance and waste which are common in the production of "A" pictures. Enough money is thrown away in Hollywood every year, under present production methods, to make the loss of the British market seem trivial by comparison.

I hear that the "State of the Union" set at MGM is festooned with icicles these days—and small wonder, with Katharine Hepburn, named as a Communist-sympathizer in the current Congressional Investigation of Hollywood Reds, working alongside Adolphe Menjou, who, as a witness for the Committee, spared no words in blasting some of her pals and some of her pet ideas. No matter what the outcome of the investigation may be, "I'm afraid that the friction reported from the "State of the Union" set is merely a forewarning of general dissention that will prove very harmful to the entire movie industry. The name-calling, here in Hollywood, is becoming too personalized and too vitriolic to permit unity to survive very much longer. Actors are becoming too busy hating one another to make their screen love scenes believable.

Hedy Lamarr, who's been very unhappy about the many revivals of "Ecstacy," the European-made picture in which she played a few scenes in her birthday suit, is due for another shock. The darned thing's been booked again and, this time, into one of L. A.'s bigger, down-town theatres. I'm a bit upset by the constant revivals, too—not by Hedy's nudism, which is no more sensational than some of the semi-draped scenes in other films, but by the evidence that the American public can be suckers enough to shell out money, year after year, to see a picture which, judged by fair standards, is remarkably devoid of any real entertainment value.

"SENSELESS DAYS"

The rather rapid birthrate of a certain classification of our population does not seem to have decreased any since P. T. Barnum called particular attention to it some years ago. We are continuing to be "suckers" for so many crack-brain ideas.

The latest half-baked brainstorm for which we are asked to fall is the "meatless Tuesday and poultry-eggless Thursday" idea! For fallacious thinking, it bids fair to rank right along with Henry Wallace's "program of scarcity" idea for which we fell in the depression days when we made soap out of little pigs.

If this were a dictatorship wherein the people had to do what they were told and any questioning of the government brought prompt liquidation, then we could understand why the people might comply with such a regulation. But we are pleased to believe this is still a government by the people, a government that exists with the "consent of the governed," and we therefore reserve to ourselves the right to question any or all governmental action.

This foregoing of meat on Tuesday and poultry and eggs on Thursday simply does not make sense—either as to why it is done or the way it is done. There are indications that the people are gradually awakening to this fact and that public opinion, that great safeguard of democracy, may soon convince even the administration of its fallaciousness.

Even if the administration's policy of "aid to Europe" were wise in itself, it is surely difficult to prove that the way we are going about it is in any way sensible.

The whole idea, says the administration, is to save grain so it can be sent to Europe. Well, the direct way to save grain is to slaughter and eat more livestock and poultry—not less! But I suppose that is too direct an approach, too simple a solution of the problem, to be acceptable to those devious minds who promulgate our national and international policies. No, they must go the roundabout way of asking people not to eat beef or pork or mutton (or even horse) on Tuesday and to leave the chickens and the turkeys and the ducks and their eggs alone on Thursday. By not eating the meat and the poultry, they figure, less livestock and chickens will be needed, therefore the farmers will raise less, therefore they will eventually need less grain, therefore the grain not used can be sent to Europe.

Such reasoning is silly. In the first place, this is a long, devious route that would take many months to produce actual results, if ever, whereas the grain for Europe, if it should be sent at all, should be immediately available. It is to be seriously doubted that the present plan is saving one single kernel of grain for anybody. The livestock and poultry we are not eating must be fed; they can't live on air and we are surely not going to let them starve. Moreover, the person who doesn't eat meat on Tuesday is just that much more likely to eat it the other days of the week, and the person who doesn't eat poultry or eggs on Thursday is just that much more likely to eat them the other days of the week. What is actually happening, in fact, is that we are eating meat on Thursday and poultry and eggs on Tuesday!

In the second place, if it is such an urgent necessity that grain must be saved for Europe, why not save it and quit just talking about it? As a matter of fact, we have not yet been given any sane reason for this action. It can't be based on humanitarianism, because more people are starving by far in Asia than in Europe. It can't be based on fear of Communism, because love of democracy can't be bought with bushels of wheat. It can't be based on patriotism, because we are not at war; if we were, and the saving of grain to send to Europe were the way to win the war, we would not just be talking about it—we would be taking whatever was needed from the grain elevators and using it for that purpose.

Until the American people are given some good reason why these "meatless days" are necessary in the first place, and then shown that the present method is the soundest method possible in the second place—neither of which has thus far been done—they are likely to consider them "senseless" days rather than otherwise.

These Days
By George E. Sokolsky

THE HOT POTATO

No matter what the almost hysterical propaganda of the state department is concerning the 16 to 1 plan, the fact is that the central problem of Europe is not so much the accumulation of American dollars as it is a return to production. Nowhere in Ernest Bevin's report, which is under consideration as the Marshall plan, is the proposal to return to a 44 or a 48-hour week. Unless that is done, production cannot be sufficient in any European country to meet domestic needs with provision for export so that dollars may be accumulated in the usual course of trade.

Henry Hazlitt, in his significant study, "Will Dollars Save the World?" issued by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York, says:

". . . Germany has become the economic cancer spot of Europe. It has been producing a pitiable fraction of its pre-war industrial output. Steel production in the British and American zones, which reached 17,800,000 tons in 1938, has been cut down in 1947 to a bare 2,800,000. To support their own economies, the Allies have tried to encourage at least the production of coal. But the bizone in western Germany, even according to the optimistic estimates of the sixteen European nations reporting on the Marshall plan, will produce only 133,000,000 tons of coal and lignite in 1947, compared with 206,000,000 in 1938. As the Ruhr, second only to Britain, was the greatest pre-war source of Europe's coal supply, the result of this output shrinkage has been to slow down the whole economy of Europe."

It is possible that sometimes in the future industrial establishments will operate on some other fuel than coal, but at present coal and iron are the basis of industry and unless coal is mined and steel is produced, industry must be at low ebb; in some places, even at a standstill. Does it serve Europe to send American coal, from West Virginia or Utah, to England or Germany at American prices, financed by American credits, while the Europeans will not work? Is fulsome charity a substitute for self-support through work?

Ernest Bevin's report says:

"The recovery program is based upon four points:

"(1) A strong production effort by each of the participating countries, especially in agriculture, fuel and power, transport, and the modernization of equipment.

"(2) The creation and maintenance of internal financial stability as an essential condition for securing the full use of Europe's productive and financial resources.

"(3) The development of economic cooperation between the participating countries.

"(4) A solution of the problem of the participating countries deficit with the American continent, particularly by exports."

Point one of this program might be regarded as including increased work, increased hours of work, but actually it does no such thing. In the present political situation, no European government would dare tell their people that work is the cure. Bevin says, referring to the program:

". . . It calls for an unprecedented peace-time effort of work by the whole population of all the participating countries. . . ."

That is an indirect statement of the case. It is easier to say it roundabout than to issue the mandate, "Work!" For unless the Europeans go to work, all the aid we may send them will be wasted and dissipated. It is like a man who mortgages his home to buy his wife—or some other lady—a mink coat. It is, indeed, Operation Rathole.

For instance, the Bevin report proposes to increase by 1951 the coal production of Europe by 30 million tons above the 1938 level. How is this to be done? On a 35-hour week? Or giving a workless day bonus for those who actually work 35 hours a week, without any absenteeism? Coal production is today 20 per cent below the 1938 level in Europe. Can they raise it to 30 per cent above that level with no other stimulant than American dollars? Obviously, they cannot. Obviously, the plan must be declared a fraud unless it includes increased hours of work, no featherbedding, no absenteeism, a willingness to add muscle and brawn to borrowed dollars.

This is not being discussed in Washington or anywhere else. It is too political. The truth is too often a hot potato.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Daniel 1; I Peter 1:13-23; 4:7-11
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

It is one thing to assert and define the standards of right living, but quite another thing to induce men to accept and follow them.

Thus, the literature of religion, and especially of the Old and New Testaments, is filled alike with assertion and appeal.

Whether man be a victim of natural depravity or not, many things incline him away from the good life. There are natural passions and desires that move on a lower plane than consideration for others that call for curbing and restraint that is not always easy. Today, especially, this is true when much popular philosophy tells youth to have its fling, follow its inclinations, and ignore inhibitions as restraints upon "freedom."

Moreover, there is much self-interest that inclines men to run roughshod over others, without regard to their rights or interests. Temptations and allurements from without, evil inclinations from within, and false standards of conduct, widely and constantly asserted in example, precept and practice, all account for a great deal of evil living in the world, and incline toward more.

The call to right living, therefore, must be strong, insistent and persistent. It is strongest when it is well-enforced by example. Daniel and his companions have stood through the ages as man of moral courage who have dared to stand against the allurements of a false and corrupting environment and the dangers of not bowing to evil demands. They chose, rather, to follow the dictates of conscience and the standards of clean living.

That word "clean" is a good word as applied to right living. Those who appreciate the meaning and value of physical cleanliness might well be brought to see the meaning and value of moral cleanliness. It is not found in the Bible, but it is so true and apt an adage that it might well be, that "cleanliness is next to godliness." In the moral and spiritual realm, it might be said that cleanliness is godliness, for it is "a clean heart" that God is represented as giving to those who will follow His ways and accept his commandments.

Peter, the Apostle, in his Epistles enforces the call to right living. His words were addressed to Christian disciples whose hearts, though they were subject to temptation, were inclined to righteousness by their Christian profession and choice. The deepest problem confronting mankind today is that of making the call to right living effective to those who have made no such choice of the good way, or who, by natural inclination or actual choice, have allied themselves with evil and its powerful forces.

How can these be brought to repentance and right living? One wonders sometimes whether the churches are not too content to live within their own sphere, too little concerned about the masses who are outside. The Christian church arose in evangelism. "He brought him to Jesus" (John 1:42) was the method, as those who found the Master brought others to the Christian fellowship and way. That is what we need, in spirit and practice.

OUR CHILDREN

A CERTAIN ACCEPTANCE

In order to live with any degree of comfort in this uncomfortable world, there has to be a certain degree of acceptance of hard facts—hard because we would prefer that they did not bother us, as they persistently do.

What bothers one person may not give another a moment's annoyance. It all depends upon how one feels about things. Some people have standards of living, of character, or judgment higher than their reach. Some have no standards, and what ever comes is welcome and to be taken on its face value. But everybody—the careful and the careless—has his hard facts to face and, if he would be at ease at all, accept and do with cheerfully.

A mother has a son on whom she has set her hope and pride. He shall be all that is worthy of honor, place and fortune. But he is a most ordinary sort of child, healthy, active, just getting by in school and on the playground. He does what he can to the extent of his ability.

There is another mother's son who has much that this ordinary boy has not and never will have. He is handsome, intelligent, gifted in many ways. He takes honor marks in his subjects in school, and always is elected captain of the team. He does what he can to the extent of his ability.

Both of these boys are happy as they are and are friends. But the mother of the grade B boy is miserable because this other boy does what she wants hers to do. She keeps at the boy, distresses herself, upsets the family by her unacceptance of a hard fact.

It need not be hard. There is nothing in this situation that decides the fortunes of these children. There is nothing to say that this ordinary boy who does his work, lives his life acceptably to all who know him, will not succeed in life, be useful, respected and happy.

To me any child is a mystery, a miracle, never to be taken for granted. No child is ordinary in the sense that he is not important. Nor can his future success be foretold. When the truth of the fact that nobody ever has developed his latent power to its full capacity is considered, how can anybody regard any child as a failure because he is different from one who happens to be set on a cherished pattern?

Acceptance of the child as he is, careful rearing and wise education will bring out the best that is in any child. That in itself is enough. There is no child but who has his gifts, and none but who has his failures. Accept the one you have as best for you and for him.

At different ages children like different books. Dr. Patri has made a list of over 50 books which he recommends for children of five ages in leaflet P-8, "A Book List."

Pitching Horseshoes

Billy Rose

There are three reasons why I seldom go to cocktail parties— (1) I'm seldom asked, (2) I don't enjoy standing around on one foot making chit-chat with people I hardly know, (3) At a cocktail party the food usually consists of canapes — a small sandwich cut into twenty-four pieces. When I'm hungry I eat at least two sandwiches and the average hostess doesn't like it when one of her guests puts the snatch on forty-eight of her canapes.

And so yesterday afternoon I passed up an invite to a cocktail party and went down to the East Side where my Aunt Frieda and Uncle Charlie live. If you're what editors call a constant reader, you know by now that my Aunt Frieda makes the best sauerbrauten on this Planet Earth.

Frieda opened the door, and I gave her the kiss I never waste on a hostess. "In two minutes is ready the supper," she said. "Talk to your genius of an uncle—genius spelled backwards, jackass."

My Uncle Charlie gave me a small hello. This didn't bother me. Charlie is an inventor, and when a man is trying to patent a camera which also sharpens ice skates, he doesn't figure to give out with big hellos.

Frieda's dinner tarted with a bowl of beet soup—better known in the intellectual hash houses as borscht. Uncle Charlie looked at the red concoction and shuddered. "Maybe it's better I should wait for the sauerbrauten," he said.

"If I had blood on my hands," snapped Aunt Frieda, "I, too, would wait."

"What do you mean, blood on his hands?" I asked my aunt.

"Ask Jake the Ripper he should tell you about the blood bank," said Aunt Frieda as she went into the kitchen for the sauerbrauten.

"What goes, Charlie?" I asked my uncle. "Trouble?"

"By me is dandy," said Charlie, "but by Budnick's chess parlor is trouble. Because Budnick for five months is not paying the rent, the landlord is giving him a dispossess paper. Seeing as how the landlord is threatening the cultural life of the neighborhood, the chess players is holding a meeting. From Marcus is coming an idea. Each player should sell to a hospital one pint blood. For each pint blood, says Marcus, the hospital is paying five dollars."

'How much rent did the chess club owe?" I asked.

"One hundred fifty," said my uncle. "But the chess club is only got fifteen members—seventy-five dollars. Somebody says we should give two pints each, but Budnick is looking at us and saying he is not so sure we got two pints each. We adjourn.

"The next day I am reasoning with logic. Hospitals are not buying blood to lose money. Somewhere is a profit. I investigate. On Eleventh Street I am findin ga private blood bank which is paying for a pint ten dollars."

"Enough to pay of the landlord," I said.

"Exactly," said Charlie. "But this bank is buying blood only in bottles. Well, during the war I am giving the Red Cross three times blood, so naturally I am taking charge. First, I am sterilizing a bicycle pump there should be no germs. Then from Budnick I am lending his two-gallon coffee container. Last Thursday when your Aunt Frieda is visiting her cousin in Brooklyn, I am opening the blood bank. On the kitchen table is stretching out the chess players one by one and giving their blood."

"All in one coffee container?" I gasped.

"In one can," said my uncle. "I am operating the bicycle pump and, as Marcus was kind enough to say, even Dr. Kildare could take lessons."

Frieda interrupted this gory recital with a platter of sauerbrauten. "Ask the Dracula," she said, "about the blood all over my clean kitchen."

"There was no loose blood in the kitchen," said Charlie with dignity. "That was borscht. After giving his blood, Budnick is feeling a little dizzy. He is knocking over a pot borscht your aunt is leaving on the stove."

"Did you get your hundred and fifty?" I asked the old boy.

"When to the hospital I am taking the coffee container," said Charlie, "the doctor is giving me strange looks. He says I should wait, and when he is coming back, is coming back with him three policemen."

"What did the cops charge you with?" I asked.

"Why should they charge?" asked Charlie. "For two hours is shining in my eyes flashlights and detectives is asking me where I am hiding the body."

"Even worse," said Frieda, "policemen is scraping borscht off my kitchen floor and putting it on little glass slides. Then downstairs in the furnace someone is discovering one of Mrs. Mendel's soup bones. Is coming a wagon and the whole tenement is going to the station house for questions."

"How did you all get out of the hoosegow?" I asked my uncle.

"Later," said Charlie, "Budnick and the members of the chess club is explaining."

"What happened to the container of blood?" I asked.

"The hospital is refusing to pay," said Charlie. "Somebody has the wrong type blood and is spoiling the batch. Our fourteen members who vote straight Republican is naturally blaming Marcus who is a Socialist."

Aunt Frieda put a heaping dish of candied red cabbage on the table. Uncle Charlie looked at it and then turned away. "Maybe better I am taking a little nap," he said.

Christmas Lighting

Plans are being made now for the lighting and decorating of our downtown streets for the Christmas holidays. In its announcement of a meeting at the Virginia Hotel Monday, the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce asks: "Do you want Christmas street decorations." The reply should be an emphatic "Yes," and the Monday meeting should be well attended.

The value of attractive street decorations and brilliant lighting should be apparent to every business man. Originally the plan was devised to provide a gay atmosphere for the celebration of the holidays. But it goes farther than that; merchants have found that beautifully lighted streets in the shopping district attract many visitors from out of town and actually stimulate buying by residents of the community.

Various plans for financing the project have been followed in cities in our vicinity. In the cities which have municipally-owned utilities, the expense is usually borne by the city itself. In cities which do not have their own plants, there has been a minimum charge to merchants for the electric power with many cities bearing the expense of installing the lights and the decorations.

In Alexandria, for instance, the city takes understandable pride in its elaborate Christmas decorations. Each year the city not only installs its decorations in the downtown shopping areas but also decorates its outlying community centers. In Jackson, which does not own its power plant, beautiful lights and decorations are strung each Christmas, with merchants paying the line charges.

Most certainly Monroe should keep pace with our neighbors. The meager efforts of the past will not suffice.

BIRTHDAY WITH WINGS

Pan American Airways has just observed its 20th birthday. The age of adulthood in this country is 21, but Pan American is international, and surely it would be niggling to question that, at 20, it has come of age.

It was Oct. 28, 1927, that a frail wooden-winged 10-passenger Fokker F-7 was babied across the 90 miles of water separating Key West from Havana, at 85 miles an hour.

This was not the first international passenger service. That was opened in 1920 by the Royal Dutch Line, KLM, between Amsterdam and London.

It was not the first scheduled American passenger service. The Air Transport Association credits Western Air Express, now Western Air Lines, with that for its 660-mile service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, opened April 17, 1926.

Nor was it the first American scheduled service in planes primarily for passengers. On July 6, 1926, Philadelphia Rapid Transit cashed in on the Quaker City's sesquicentennial by opening regular passenger service between Philadelphia and Washington.

But the very pettiness of these beginnings serve to emphasize the courage required by Juan Trippe when he got hold of $300,000 and undertook regular over-water international service of any kind.

During the first six months of 1947, Pan American carried 457,817 paying passengers an average of 1,100 miles each on its Latin American, Atlantic, Pacific and Alaska divisions. That was three out of every four passengers flown by all U. S. international air lines. It was more than half the total of passengers handled by all international lines, domestic and foreign, serving our shores.

During those six months, Pan American's more than 200 planes, most of them four-motored and many capable of carrying more than 50 passengers at a speed of 300 miles an hour, were scheduled for almost 29 million miles of flight. Except for the Alaska division, their performance was above 97 per cent.

Notwithstanding costs and lingering timidities, only four of the 19 domestic airlines reported in American Aviation handled as many passengers as Pan American during the first half of 1947, and only two boasted as many passenger-miles.

American, TWA and United give first-class transoceanic service to the far places. Their planes, their services, their charges are comparable to Pan American's. More than 15 foreign flag lines serve this country, mostly with American-built planes, often with American pilots, some giving as good, safe service as our own.

But American lines still handle 75 per cent of trans-Atlantic and 90 per cent of trans-Pacific and Caribbean business, and Pan American carries three-fourths of it.

Pan American pioneered, took the big original risks, gambled lives and huge sums of money against unguessable odds—and won. So, a few days late, we are happy to say to Pan American: Happy Birthday. Keep 'em flying. May the shadows of your wings never grow less.

WHEAT SITUATION

Lack of rain throughout the wheat growing country is a complicating factor in the food situation. Discouraging prospects for another crop are prompting growers to hang on to wheat in storage, to insure an income next year in event of a crop failure. This year's crop becomes a cushion for setbacks apparently in the making.

The United States produced 1,400,000,000 bushels of wheat this year. Of this vast crop an estimated 40 per cent, or more than 500,000,000 bushels, is still on the farms where grown. Marketing the crop over a period of two years also will soften income taxes for a single year, an idea that looks mighty attractive on the heels of President Truman's two vetoes of income tax reduction bills.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—Pals expect Spike Jones, whose divorce became final this week, to run—not walk—to the nearest J. P. with his singer, Helen Grayco . . . I hear Richard Greene is unhappy about the roles handed him by 20th Century-Fox bosses, and unhappier still about their refusal to give him time out for a London stage play . . . Radio thrush Peggy Lee, trying to avoid that impending major operation, is in an L. A. hospital, for a thirty-day rest cure . . . Seems there's an impasse at M.-G.-M., with Margaret O'Brien (backed by mama, no doubt) refusing to cut her hair in boy fashion for her role in "The Big City."

Shirley Jean Rickert, one-time blonde child beauty of the "Our Gang" comedies and now an MGM dancer, is readying a divorce suit against her husband, U. C. L. A. student James Rydell . . . Primo Carnera, the ex-heavyweight champ, is buying a Beverly Hills home and will bid for screen work . . . The Kay Kysers' new heir is expected on February 1 . . . Bells to Ken Murray for donating 16 millimeter prints of his novelty film, "Bill and Coo," to all govenment hospitals . . . Time out for Edmund O'Brien, suffering from penicillin poisoning.

New York sources report that Faye McKenzie and Steve Cochran have definitely reconciled and canceled divorce plans . . . Wotzis about Wally Vernon, the old-time screen comic, being ousted from an Oakland, California, night club engagement because the manager considered his material offensive? . . . . Lew Ayres and Charles Bickford are inking a partnership agreement and will build a resort in Northern California.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: Columbia's "It Had to Be You" (Ginger Rogers-Cornel Wilde-Spring Byington). An effervescent farce, superbly played, that will send you home with a wonderful 1-aftermath . . . RECOMMENDED: RKO's "Man About Town" (Maurice Chevalier-Francois Perier-Marcelle Derrien). Gay, witty and delightfully different . . . GOOD: MGM's "Killer McCoy" (Mickey Rooney-Brian Donlevy-Ann Blyth). A prizefight drama, with Rooney scoring well in his first adult role . . . Republic's "On The Old Spanish Trail" (Roy Rogers-Tito Guizar-Jane Frazee-Andy Devine). A high spot in the Roy Rogers program that will win cheers from fans of all degrees . . . SO-SO: Universal-International's "The Upturned Glass" (James Mason-Rosamund John). A made-in-England whodunit that will add little to Mason's American reputation . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Ginger Rogers in "It Had to Be You."

There's talk that the major studios may turn out a welter of "Class B" movies in the next year of two to offset the cut in revenue certain to result from the loss of their English market. To my way of thinking, that program will make about as much sense as the folly of a man who gets blind drunk to "forget" a sorrow. It's a sure way to lose a big percentage of the American market, too. Much more sensible would be an attack on the extravagance and waste which are common in the production of "A" pictures. Enough money is thrown away in Hollywood every year, under present production methods, to make the loss of the British market seem trivial by comparison.

I hear that the "State of the Union" set at MGM is festooned with icicles these days—and small wonder, with Katharine Hepburn, named as a Communist-sympathizer in the current Congressional Investigation of Hollywood Reds, working alongside Adolphe Menjou, who, as a witness for the Committee, spared no words in blasting some of her pals and some of her pet ideas. No matter what the outcome of the investigation may be, "I'm afraid that the friction reported from the "State of the Union" set is merely a forewarning of general dissention that will prove very harmful to the entire movie industry. The name-calling, here in Hollywood, is becoming too personalized and too vitriolic to permit unity to survive very much longer. Actors are becoming too busy hating one another to make their screen love scenes believable.

Hedy Lamarr, who's been very unhappy about the many revivals of "Ecstacy," the European-made picture in which she played a few scenes in her birthday suit, is due for another shock. The darned thing's been booked again and, this time, into one of L. A.'s bigger, down-town theatres. I'm a bit upset by the constant revivals, too—not by Hedy's nudism, which is no more sensational than some of the semi-draped scenes in other films, but by the evidence that the American public can be suckers enough to shell out money, year after year, to see a picture which, judged by fair standards, is remarkably devoid of any real entertainment value.

"SENSELESS DAYS"

The rather rapid birthrate of a certain classification of our population does not seem to have decreased any since P. T. Barnum called particular attention to it some years ago. We are continuing to be "suckers" for so many crack-brain ideas.

The latest half-baked brainstorm for which we are asked to fall is the "meatless Tuesday and poultry-eggless Thursday" idea! For fallacious thinking, it bids fair to rank right along with Henry Wallace's "program of scarcity" idea for which we fell in the depression days when we made soap out of little pigs.

If this were a dictatorship wherein the people had to do what they were told and any questioning of the government brought prompt liquidation, then we could understand why the people might comply with such a regulation. But we are pleased to believe this is still a government by the people, a government that exists with the "consent of the governed," and we therefore reserve to ourselves the right to question any or all governmental action.

This foregoing of meat on Tuesday and poultry and eggs on Thursday simply does not make sense—either as to why it is done or the way it is done. There are indications that the people are gradually awakening to this fact and that public opinion, that great safeguard of democracy, may soon convince even the administration of its fallaciousness.

Even if the administration's policy of "aid to Europe" were wise in itself, it is surely difficult to prove that the way we are going about it is in any way sensible.

The whole idea, says the administration, is to save grain so it can be sent to Europe. Well, the direct way to save grain is to slaughter and eat more livestock and poultry—not less! But I suppose that is too direct an approach, too simple a solution of the problem, to be acceptable to those devious minds who promulgate our national and international policies. No, they must go the roundabout way of asking people not to eat beef or pork or mutton (or even horse) on Tuesday and to leave the chickens and the turkeys and the ducks and their eggs alone on Thursday. By not eating the meat and the poultry, they figure, less livestock and chickens will be needed, therefore the farmers will raise less, therefore they will eventually need less grain, therefore the grain not used can be sent to Europe.

Such reasoning is silly. In the first place, this is a long, devious route that would take many months to produce actual results, if ever, whereas the grain for Europe, if it should be sent at all, should be immediately available. It is to be seriously doubted that the present plan is saving one single kernel of grain for anybody. The livestock and poultry we are not eating must be fed; they can't live on air and we are surely not going to let them starve. Moreover, the person who doesn't eat meat on Tuesday is just that much more likely to eat it the other days of the week, and the person who doesn't eat poultry or eggs on Thursday is just that much more likely to eat them the other days of the week. What is actually happening, in fact, is that we are eating meat on Thursday and poultry and eggs on Tuesday!

In the second place, if it is such an urgent necessity that grain must be saved for Europe, why not save it and quit just talking about it? As a matter of fact, we have not yet been given any sane reason for this action. It can't be based on humanitarianism, because more people are starving by far in Asia than in Europe. It can't be based on fear of Communism, because love of democracy can't be bought with bushels of wheat. It can't be based on patriotism, because we are not at war; if we were, and the saving of grain to send to Europe were the way to win the war, we would not just be talking about it—we would be taking whatever was needed from the grain elevators and using it for that purpose.

Until the American people are given some good reason why these "meatless days" are necessary in the first place, and then shown that the present method is the soundest method possible in the second place—neither of which has thus far been done—they are likely to consider them "senseless" days rather than otherwise.

These Days

THE HOT POTATO

No matter what the almost hysterical propaganda of the state department is concerning the 16 to 1 plan, the fact is that the central problem of Europe is not so much the accumulation of American dollars as it is a return to production. Nowhere in Ernest Bevin's report, which is under consideration as the Marshall plan, is the proposal to return to a 44 or a 48-hour week. Unless that is done, production cannot be sufficient in any European country to meet domestic needs with provision for export so that dollars may be accumulated in the usual course of trade.

Henry Hazlitt, in his significant study, "Will Dollars Save the World?" issued by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York, says:

". . . Germany has become the economic cancer spot of Europe. It has been producing a pitiable fraction of its pre-war industrial output. Steel production in the British and American zones, which reached 17,800,000 tons in 1938, has been cut down in 1947 to a bare 2,800,000. To support their own economies, the Allies have tried to encourage at least the production of coal. But the bizone in western Germany, even according to the optimistic estimates of the sixteen European nations reporting on the Marshall plan, will produce only 133,000,000 tons of coal and lignite in 1947, compared with 206,000,000 in 1938. As the Ruhr, second only to Britain, was the greatest pre-war source of Europe's coal supply, the result of this output shrinkage has been to slow down the whole economy of Europe."

It is possible that sometimes in the future industrial establishments will operate on some other fuel than coal, but at present coal and iron are the basis of industry and unless coal is mined and steel is produced, industry must be at low ebb; in some places, even at a standstill. Does it serve Europe to send American coal, from West Virginia or Utah, to England or Germany at American prices, financed by American credits, while the Europeans will not work? Is fulsome charity a substitute for self-support through work?

Ernest Bevin's report says:

"The recovery program is based upon four points:

"(1) A strong production effort by each of the participating countries, especially in agriculture, fuel and power, transport, and the modernization of equipment.

"(2) The creation and maintenance of internal financial stability as an essential condition for securing the full use of Europe's productive and financial resources.

"(3) The development of economic cooperation between the participating countries.

"(4) A solution of the problem of the participating countries deficit with the American continent, particularly by exports."

Point one of this program might be regarded as including increased work, increased hours of work, but actually it does no such thing. In the present political situation, no European government would dare tell their people that work is the cure. Bevin says, referring to the program:

". . . It calls for an unprecedented peace-time effort of work by the whole population of all the participating countries. . . ."

That is an indirect statement of the case. It is easier to say it roundabout than to issue the mandate, "Work!" For unless the Europeans go to work, all the aid we may send them will be wasted and dissipated. It is like a man who mortgages his home to buy his wife—or some other lady—a mink coat. It is, indeed, Operation Rathole.

For instance, the Bevin report proposes to increase by 1951 the coal production of Europe by 30 million tons above the 1938 level. How is this to be done? On a 35-hour week? Or giving a workless day bonus for those who actually work 35 hours a week, without any absenteeism? Coal production is today 20 per cent below the 1938 level in Europe. Can they raise it to 30 per cent above that level with no other stimulant than American dollars? Obviously, they cannot. Obviously, the plan must be declared a fraud unless it includes increased hours of work, no featherbedding, no absenteeism, a willingness to add muscle and brawn to borrowed dollars.

This is not being discussed in Washington or anywhere else. It is too political. The truth is too often a hot potato.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Daniel 1; I Peter 1:13-23; 4:7-11
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

It is one thing to assert and define the standards of right living, but quite another thing to induce men to accept and follow them.

Thus, the literature of religion, and especially of the Old and New Testaments, is filled alike with assertion and appeal.

Whether man be a victim of natural depravity or not, many things incline him away from the good life. There are natural passions and desires that move on a lower plane than consideration for others that call for curbing and restraint that is not always easy. Today, especially, this is true when much popular philosophy tells youth to have its fling, follow its inclinations, and ignore inhibitions as restraints upon "freedom."

Moreover, there is much self-interest that inclines men to run roughshod over others, without regard to their rights or interests. Temptations and allurements from without, evil inclinations from within, and false standards of conduct, widely and constantly asserted in example, precept and practice, all account for a great deal of evil living in the world, and incline toward more.

The call to right living, therefore, must be strong, insistent and persistent. It is strongest when it is well-enforced by example. Daniel and his companions have stood through the ages as man of moral courage who have dared to stand against the allurements of a false and corrupting environment and the dangers of not bowing to evil demands. They chose, rather, to follow the dictates of conscience and the standards of clean living.

That word "clean" is a good word as applied to right living. Those who appreciate the meaning and value of physical cleanliness might well be brought to see the meaning and value of moral cleanliness. It is not found in the Bible, but it is so true and apt an adage that it might well be, that "cleanliness is next to godliness." In the moral and spiritual realm, it might be said that cleanliness is godliness, for it is "a clean heart" that God is represented as giving to those who will follow His ways and accept his commandments.

Peter, the Apostle, in his Epistles enforces the call to right living. His words were addressed to Christian disciples whose hearts, though they were subject to temptation, were inclined to righteousness by their Christian profession and choice. The deepest problem confronting mankind today is that of making the call to right living effective to those who have made no such choice of the good way, or who, by natural inclination or actual choice, have allied themselves with evil and its powerful forces.

How can these be brought to repentance and right living? One wonders sometimes whether the churches are not too content to live within their own sphere, too little concerned about the masses who are outside. The Christian church arose in evangelism. "He brought him to Jesus" (John 1:42) was the method, as those who found the Master brought others to the Christian fellowship and way. That is what we need, in spirit and practice.

OUR CHILDREN

A CERTAIN ACCEPTANCE

In order to live with any degree of comfort in this uncomfortable world, there has to be a certain degree of acceptance of hard facts—hard because we would prefer that they did not bother us, as they persistently do.

What bothers one person may not give another a moment's annoyance. It all depends upon how one feels about things. Some people have standards of living, of character, or judgment higher than their reach. Some have no standards, and what ever comes is welcome and to be taken on its face value. But everybody—the careful and the careless—has his hard facts to face and, if he would be at ease at all, accept and do with cheerfully.

A mother has a son on whom she has set her hope and pride. He shall be all that is worthy of honor, place and fortune. But he is a most ordinary sort of child, healthy, active, just getting by in school and on the playground. He does what he can to the extent of his ability.

There is another mother's son who has much that this ordinary boy has not and never will have. He is handsome, intelligent, gifted in many ways. He takes honor marks in his subjects in school, and always is elected captain of the team. He does what he can to the extent of his ability.

Both of these boys are happy as they are and are friends. But the mother of the grade B boy is miserable because this other boy does what she wants hers to do. She keeps at the boy, distresses herself, upsets the family by her unacceptance of a hard fact.

It need not be hard. There is nothing in this situation that decides the fortunes of these children. There is nothing to say that this ordinary boy who does his work, lives his life acceptably to all who know him, will not succeed in life, be useful, respected and happy.

To me any child is a mystery, a miracle, never to be taken for granted. No child is ordinary in the sense that he is not important. Nor can his future success be foretold. When the truth of the fact that nobody ever has developed his latent power to its full capacity is considered, how can anybody regard any child as a failure because he is different from one who happens to be set on a cherished pattern?

Acceptance of the child as he is, careful rearing and wise education will bring out the best that is in any child. That in itself is enough. There is no child but who has his gifts, and none but who has his failures. Accept the one you have as best for you and for him.

At different ages children like different books. Dr. Patri has made a list of over 50 books which he recommends for children of five ages in leaflet P-8, "A Book List."

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

There are three reasons why I seldom go to cocktail parties— (1) I'm seldom asked, (2) I don't enjoy standing around on one foot making chitchat with people I hardly know, (3) At a cocktail party the food usually consists of canapes — a small sandwich cut into twenty-four pieces. When I'm hungry I eat at least two sandwiches and the average hostess doesn't like it when one of her guests puts the snatch on forty-eight of her canapes.

And so yesterday afternoon I passed up an invite to a cocktail party and went down to the East Side where my Aunt Frieda and Uncle Charlie live. If you're what editors call a constant reader, you know by now that my Aunt Frieda makes the best sauerbrauten on this Planet Earth.

Frieda opened the door, and I gave her the kiss I never waste on a hostess. "In two minutes is ready the supper," she said. "Talk to your genius of an uncle—genius spelled backwards, jackass."

My Uncle Charlie gave me a small hello. This didn't bother me. Charlie is an inventor, and when a man is trying to patent a camera which also sharpens ice skates, he doesn't figure to give out with big hellos.

Frieda's dinner tarted with a bowl of beet soup—better known in the intellectual hash houses as borscht. Uncle Charlie looked at the red concoction and shuddered. "Maybe it's better I should wait for the sauerbrauten," he said.

"If I had blood on my hands," snapped Aunt Frieda, "I, too, would wait."

"What do you mean, blood on his hands?" I asked my aunt.

"Ask Jake the Ripper he should tell you about the blood bank," said Aunt Frieda as she went into the kitchen for the sauerbrauten.

"What goes, Charlie?" I asked my uncle. "Trouble?"

"By me is dandy," said Charlie, "but by Budnick's chess parlor is trouble. Because Budnick for five months is not paying the rent, the landlord is giving him a dispossess paper. Seeing as how the landlord is threatening the cultural life of the neighborhood, the chess players is holding a meeting. From Marcus is coming an idea. Each player should sell to a hospital one pint blood. For each pint blood, says Marcus, the hospital is paying five dollars."

'How much rent did the chess club owe?" I asked.

"One hundred fifty," said my uncle. "But the chess club is only got fifteen members—seventy-five dollars. Somebody says we should give two pints each, but Budnick is looking at us and saying he is not so sure we got two pints each. We adjourn.

"The next day I am reasoning with logic. Hospitals are not buying blood to lose money. Somewhere is a profit. I investigate. On Eleventh Street I am findin ga private blood bank which is paying for a pint ten dollars."

"Enough to pay of the landlord," I said.

"Exactly," said Charlie. "But this bank is buying blood only in bottles. Well, during the war I am giving the Red Cross three times blood, so naturally I am taking charge. First, I am sterilizing a bicycle pump there should be no germs. Then from Budnick I am lending his two-gallon coffee container. Last Thursday when your Aunt Frieda is visiting her cousin in Brooklyn, I am opening the blood bank. On the kitchen table is stretching out the chess players one by one and giving their blood."

"All in one coffee container?" I gasped.

"In one can," said my uncle. "I am operating the bicycle pump and, as Marcus was kind enough to say, even Dr. Kildare could take lessons."

Frieda interrupted this gory recital with a platter of sauerbrauten. "Ask the Dracula," she said, "about the blood all over my clean kitchen."

"There was no loose blood in the kitchen," said Charlie with dignity. "That was borscht. After giving his blood, Budnick is feeling a little dizzy. He is knocking over a pot borscht your aunt is leaving on the stove."

"Did you get your hundred and fifty?" I asked the old boy.

"When to the hospital I am taking the coffee container," said Charlie, "the doctor is giving me strange looks. He says I should wait, and when he is coming back, is coming back with him three policemen."

"What did the cops charge you with?" I asked.

"Why should they charge?" asked Charlie. "For two hours is shining in my eyes flashlights and detectives is asking me where I am hiding the body."

"Even worse," said Frieda, "policemen is scraping borscht off my kitchen floor and putting it on little glass slides. Then downstairs in the furnace someone is discovering one of Mrs. Mendel's soup bones. Is coming a wagon and the whole tenement is going to the station house for questions."

"How did you all get out of the hoosegow?" I asked my uncle.

"Later," said Charlie, "Budnick and the members of the chess club is explaining."

"What happened to the container of blood?" I asked.

"The hospital is refusing to pay," said Charlie. "Somebody has the wrong type blood and is spoiling the batch. Our fourteen members who vote straight Republican is naturally blaming Marcus who is a Socialist."

Aunt Frieda put a heaping dish of candied red cabbage on the table. Uncle Charlie looked at it and then turned away. "Maybe better I am taking a little nap," he said.

NO PRICE HIKE IN SUGAR SEEN

Despite Last Minute Runs, Good Supplies On Tap In Nation's Stores

(By Associated Press)

Despite some runs on sugar before federal price controls were dropped Friday midnight, good supplies of the product are available in the nation's retail stores at no increase in price, a survey indicated Saturday.

A spot check of sugar brokers, trade sources and retailers in several representative cities across the country gave this picture of the sugar situation:

No shortages exist in any section of the United States and no retail price boosts were put into effect Saturday. Most sources said they did not expect sugar prices to rise in the near future, but there were some isolated predictions that retail prices ultimately would be increased from one-half cent to two cents a pound.

In Chicago, a spokesman for Lamborn and Co., sugar brokers, said, "there is plenty of sugar available in the United States despite recent unprecedented demand from the retailers for this time of year. An excellent sugar beet crop in the west is being converted into sugar at this time."

Another Chicago broker estimated there was a month's normal supply of refined sugar in the city's warehouses and added, "if I received an order for a car load of sugar today, I could ship it out Monday."

There were a few isolated reports that housewives, fearing shortages or price boosts when price controls expired, had created temporary shortages of packaged sugar. However, industry spokesmen said the situation was remedied as soon as new packages could be filled.

Some sugar brokers in New York said a surplus is in prospect for next year. They pointed to expectations of a huge crop in Cuba, the rapid restoration of the Philippine sugar industry and the revival of sugar beet industries in western Europe. However, others said demand will increase also, with exports increased to hunger areas abroad.

The survey showed that retail sugar prices were unchanged in Boston, New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Kansas City, Chicago, San Francisco, Seattle and Los Angeles on the first day in five and a half years that the commodity has been free of controls. Sugar was the first food placed under wartime controls, rationing and price controls starting in April, 1942. Sugar rationing ended this spring.

8 New Producers Reported In Ora

Only One Abandonment Mars Record For Week; Three Union Wildcat Ventures In Progress; Two Failures In Delhi

Eight new producers and one abandonment was the record of Ora field during the past week, the regular report of the Monroe district conservation office disclosed yesterday.

Three of the successes were made by the Lion Oil Company, fast-moving newcomer in the development. All in section 34-22-1W, the southwest extension of the field, they were listed as the Farrar No. 6, tested at pumping 132 barrels daily from 2123-31 feet; Farrar No. 7, with a daily flow of 165 barrels a day from 2118-31 feet through a 16/64-inch choke, and the Farrar No. 8, gauged at 231 barrels daily through a 16/64-inch choke with perforations from 2104-19 feet.

The Marine Oil Company's S. L. Smith, also in section 34-22-1W, was gauged at 359 barrels a day through a 20/64-inch choke from 2124-38 feet. Of two C. H. Murphy, Jr., wells, the Norris No. 2 in section 26-22-1W was gauged at pumping 115 barrels daily from 2137-45 feet, and the Williams No. 1, in section 27-22-1W, was completed with a flow of 219 barrels daily through a 20/64 inch choke from 2144-64 feet. The Shell Oil Company's Frost Lumber Industries No. D-1, in 34-22-1W, was rated as pumping 338 barrels a day from 2076-2111 feet.

The only abandonment in the Ora field was the Guy Mabee Drilling Company's S. L. Smith No. 1, in section 34-22-1W, reported dry at a total depth of 2190 feet, but the same company's S. L. Smith No. 3, in the same tract, was tested as an assured producer, pumping at a rate of 373 barrels a day from 2132-44 feet.

In the Union parish wildcat field, the Crow Production Company was reported on location at its H. C. Gatson No. 1, eight miles northwest of the Ora field and five miles west of the now depleted and abandoned Oakland field. Also on location is the E. C. Johnson company at the J. L. Shaw No. 1, in section 18-21-1W, while the G. F. Hudson Company's J. W. Holloway No. 1, in 23-23-1W, is testing.

Waiting to be gauged are the Feazel, Neely Roberts Company's Dykes No. 2, in section 24-22-1W, completed last Monday at a total depth of 2150 feet; and the Guy Mabee Company's S. L. Smith No. 4, in section 34-22-1W, completed at a total depth of 2144 feet.

Smith No. 7 and No. 8, both in section 27-22-1W; and the Shell Company for the Frost Lumber Industries No. E-2, in section 34-22-1W.

In LaSalle parish Little Creek field the Justice-Mears Oil Company completed its Tremont Lumber Company No. 1, in section 26-9-2E, at 34 barrels a day through a 1/2-inch choke with perforations from 2483-86 feet.

In Franklin parish, the H. L. Hunt Company abandoned its deep wildcat venture, the P. G. Kincaid No. 1, in section 19-12-7E, after reaching a total depth of 7510 feet.

In the Delhi field, the American Liberty Oil Company abandoned the Mengel Horter Unit No. 1, in section 4-16-8E, at 3385 feet, and the Gulf Refining Company abandoned the Mrs. D. V. Cooper No. 6, in section 25-9-1E, at 3610 feet. The same company also filed application for location of the Mrs. D. V. Cooper No. 1 in section 19-17-9E.

In the Madison parish section of the Delhi field the Burden, Kemp and Chester Hunte Company requested a permit for the Frazier No. 1 in section 15-17-10E. In Richland parish the Tidewater Associated Oil Company applied for location for its B. L. Warner No. 10 in section 12-16-7E, an offset of the B. L. Warner No. 10 completed last week at a 152 barrels daily from 2812-32 feet.

Another wildcat attempt was scheduled to be made by the H. L. Hunt Company in the Catahoula parish wildcat field with the Nebo Oil Company No. F-139 in section 19-10-5E.

Total locations for the week, 32; number drilling, 61; number inactive, 16.

IDLE GAS FIELD FINALLY OPENED

Arkansas, Louisiana Agreement Gives Green Light To Ada Production

The now idle but potentially rich Ada gas field in Bienville and Webster parishes finally received a green light for commercial production yesterday with a contract by the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company for 18,000,000 cubic feet a week.

The Arkansas Louisiana agreement, effective November 1, provides the first outlet for the field, closed-in since its discovery in 1944.

The company's weekly quota will be drawn from the field's present 12 completed wells, seven of which are in Davis sand and five in Cook.

Several of the wells have been completed dually, but have never been produced previously except for drilling and test purposes. In addition to its known gas reservoirs, the field has already demonstrated the presence of some distillate.

The discovery well, the N. P. Davis No. 1, was brought in by the Carter Oil Company of Tulsa, Okla., and subsequently turned over to the Hope Producing Company for completion. Because of the necessity for extragagant flaring in the absence of transportation facilities, operations in the field were ordered suspended soon after the initial success.

The field's producing area is centered in Webster parish, but extends into the northwest corner of Bienville. A tie-in will probably be made directly with Arkansas Louisian's 20-inch east-west conduit about five miles to the north.

UNION DISTILLATE WAITING FOR TEST

Unofficial Reports Indicate Pan American Success Assured

Official gauging of Pan American Production Company's Elva Rugg No. 1 in Union parish is expected early this week as preview reports increasingly confirmed the possibility that the well may herald extensive gas-distillate development in that section of North Louisiana.

The most recent company test rated the flow at 3,330,000 cubic feet of gas and between 150 and 200 barrels of distillate daily from 8,386-404 feet through a 16/64-inch choke. Shut-in tubing pressure was given as 3,100 pounds, flowing pressure as 2,775 pounds.

On an earlier test, perforations were made from 8,750-82 feet and the hole swabbed to 7,500 feet. Output was rated at 100,000 cubic feet through an 18/64-inch choke, and the well was squeezed and plugged at 8,598 feet. Total depth is 8,690 feet.

The gas-oil ratio remained constant in both tests as 17,000:1, and corrected gravity as 60 degrees.

The well is located in section 31-20-1W about 10 miles south of the Ora field and approximately a half mile north of Union-Lincoln parish lines.

Since Pan American's acreage extends into Lincoln parish, success of the Rugg will undoubtedly lead to large-scale exploration in both parishes.

Production was found in the Bodcaw zone of the Cotton Valley formation. Five and a half inch casing was cemented at 8,830 feet.

MAN REPORTED MISSING

Mrs. A. V. Goult of Memphis, Tenn., reported to Monroe police yesterday that her father, Mr. Gray Carbell, 42, has been missing since June, 1946. His last known address was 316 Sixth street, Monroe, Mrs. Goult said. Carbell was described as being 5'6" tall, weighing 145 pounds and having blue eyes and brown hair.

Among the notable libraries of colonial America were those of Elder William Brewster, Governor Winthrop and Dr. Cotton Mather.

MODERN MARRIAGE OPPOSED BY BISHOP

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Bishop of Rochester, Dr. Christopher Chavasse, asserts in a book published today that the modern wife contributes to a "spreading rot" in British morals.

The 63-year old Church of England Bishop called for a government commission "to think out scientifically the policy that should govern the pattern of life."

He said "increasing facilities for divorce are inevitably giving courting couples the impression that marriage need be no more than a trial partnership."

NO PRICE HIKE IN SUGAR SEEN

(By Associated Press)

Despite some runs on sugar before federal price controls were dropped Friday midnight, good supplies of the product are available in the nation's retail stores at no increase in price, a survey indicated Saturday.

A spot check of sugar brokers, trade sources and retailers in several representative cities across the country gave this picture of the sugar situation:

No shortages exist in any section of the United States and no retail price boosts were put into effect Saturday. Most sources said they did not expect sugar prices to rise in the near future, but there were some isolated predictions that retail prices ultimately would be increased from one-half cent to two cents a pound.

In Chicago, a spokesman for Lamborn and Co., sugar brokers, said, "there is plenty of sugar available in the United States despite recent unprecedented demand from the retailers for this time of year. An excellent sugar beet crop in the west is being converted into sugar at this time."

Another Chicago broker estimated there was a month's normal supply of refined sugar in the city's warehouses and added, "if I received an order for a car load of sugar today, I could ship it out Monday."

There were a few isolated reports that housewives, fearing shortages or price boosts when price controls expired, had created temporary shortages of packaged sugar. However, industry spokesmen said the situation was remedied as soon as new packages could be filled.

Some sugar brokers in New York said a surplus is in prospect for next year. They pointed to expectations of a huge crop in Cuba, the rapid restoration of the Philippine sugar industry and the revival of sugar beet industries in western Europe. However, others said demand will increase also, with exports increased to hunger areas abroad.

The survey showed that retail sugar prices were unchanged in Boston, New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Kansas City, Chicago, San Francisco, Seattle and Los Angeles on the first day in five and a half years that the commodity has been free of controls. Sugar was the first food placed under wartime controls, rationing and price controls starting in April, 1942. Sugar rationing ended this spring.

8 New Producers Reported In Ora

Only One Abandonment Mars Record For Week; Three Union Wildcat Ventures In Progress; Two Failures In Delhi

Eight new producers and one abandonment was the record of Ora field during the past week, the regular report of the Monroe district conservation office disclosed yesterday.

Three of the successes were made by the Lion Oil Company, fast-moving newcomer in the development. All in section 34-22-1W, the southwest extension of the field, they were listed as the Farrar No. 6, tested at pumping 132 barrels daily from 2123-31 feet; Farrar No. 7, with a daily flow of 165 barrels a day from 2118-31 feet through a 16/64-inch choke, and the Farrar No. 8, gauged at 231 barrels daily through a 16/64-inch choke with perforations from 2104-19 feet.

The Marine Oil Company's S. L. Smith, also in section 34-22-1W, was gauged at 359 barrels a day through a 20/64-inch choke from 2124-38 feet. Of two C. H. Murphy, Jr., wells, the Norris No. 2 in section 26-22-1W was gauged at pumping 115 barrels daily from 2137-45 feet, and the Williams No. 1, in section 27-22-1W, was completed with a flow of 219 barrels daily through a 20/64 inch choke from 2144-64 feet. The Shell Oil Company's Frost Lumber Industries No. D-1, in 34-22-1W, was rated as pumping 338 barrels a day from 2076-2111 feet.

The only abandonment in the Ora field was the Guy Mabee Drilling Company's S. L. Smith No. 1, in section 34-22-1W, reported dry at a total depth of 2190 feet, but the same company's S. L. Smith No. 3, in the same tract, was tested as an assured producer, pumping at a rate of 373 barrels a day from 2132-44 feet.

In the Union parish wildcat field, the Crow Production Company was reported on location at its H. C. Gatson No. 1, eight miles northwest of the Ora field and five miles west of the now depleted and abandoned Oakland field. Also on location is the E. C. Johnson company at the J. L. Shaw No. 1, in section 18-21-1W, while the G. F. Hudson Company's J. W. Holloway No. 1, in 23-23-1W, is testing.

Waiting to be gauged are the Feazel, Neely Roberts Company's Dykes No. 2, in section 24-22-1W, completed last Monday at a total depth of 2150 feet; and the Guy Mabee Company's S. L. Smith No. 4, in section 34-22-1W, completed at a total depth of 2144 feet.

New locations in the field last week were made by H. L. Hunt, Jr., for the J. N. Compton No. 5, P. L. Williams No. 5, and P. L. Williams No. 7, all in section 3-21-1W, and the P. L. Williams No. 4, in section 34-22-1W, C. H. Murphy, Jr., for the Arvis No. 2, in section 14-22-1W, and the Williams No. 2, in section 27-22-1W; Marine Oil Company for the S. L. Smith No. 7 and No. 8, both in section 27-22-1W; and the Shell Company for the Frost Lumber Industries No. E-2, in section 34-22-1W.

In LaSalle parish Little Creek field the Justice-Mears Oil Company completed its Tremont Lumber Company No. 1, in section 26-9-2E, at 34 barrels a day through a 1/2-inch choke with perforations from 2483-86 feet.

In Franklin parish, the H. L. Hunt Company abandoned its deep wildcat venture, the P. G. Kincaid No. 1, in section 19-12-7E, after reaching a total depth of 7510 feet.

In the Delhi field, the American Liberty Oil Company abandoned the Mengel Horter Unit No. 1, in section 4-16-8E, at 3385 feet, and the Gulf Refining Company abandoned the Mrs. D. V. Cooper No. 6, in section 25-9-1E, at 3610 feet. The same company also filed application for location of the Mrs. D. V. Cooper No. 1 in section 19-17-3E.

In the Madison parish section of the Delhi field the Burden, Kemp and Chester Hunte Company requested a permit for the Frazier No. 1 in section 15-17-10E. In Richland parish the Tidewater Associated Oil Company applied for location for its B. L. Warner No. 10 in section 12-16-7E, an offset of the B. L. Warner No. 10 completed last week at a 152 barrels daily from 2812-32 feet.

Another wildcat attempt was scheduled to be made by the H. L. Hunt Company in the Catahoula parish wildcat field with the Nebo Oil Company No. F-139 in section 19-10-5E.

Total locations for the week, 32; number drilling, 61; number inactive, 16.

IDLE GAS FIELD FINALLY OPENED

Arkansas, Louisiana Agreement Gives Green Light To Ada Production

The now idle but potentially rich Ada gas field in Bienville and Webster parishes finally received a green light for commercial production yesterday with a contract by the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company for 18,000,000 cubic feet a week.

The Arkansas Louisiana agreement, effective November 1, provides the first outlet for the field, closed-in since its discovery in 1944.

The company's weekly quota will be drawn from the field's present 12 completed wells, seven of which are in Davis sand and five in Cook.

Several of the wells have been completed dually, but have never been produced previously except for drilling and test purposes. In addition to its known gas reservoirs, the field has already demonstrated the presence of some distillate.

The discovery well, the N. P. Davis No. 1, was brought in by the Carter Oil Company of Tulsa, Okla., and subsequently turned over to the Hope Producing Company for completion. Because of the necessity for extragagant flaring in the absence of transportation facilities, operations in the field were ordered suspended soon after the initial success.

The field's producing area is centered in Webster parish, but extends into the northwest corner of Bienville. A tie-in will probably be made directly with Arkansas Louisian's 20-inch east-west conduit about five miles to the north.

UNION DISTILLATE WAITING FOR TEST

Unofficial Reports Indicate Pan American Success Assured

Official gauging of Pan American Production Company's Elva Rugg No. 1 in Union parish is expected early this week as preview reports increasingly confirmed the possibility that the well may herald extensive gas-distillate development in that section of North Louisiana.

The most recent company test rated the flow at 3,330,000 cubic feet of gas and between 150 and 200 barrels of distillate daily from 8,386-404 feet through a 16/64-inch choke. Shut-in tubing pressure was given as 3,100 pounds, flowing pressure as 2,775 pounds.

On an earlier test, perforations were made from 8,750-82 feet and the hole swabbed to 7,500 feet. Output was rated at 100,000 cubic feet through an 18/64-inch choke, and the well was squeezed and plugged at 8,598 feet. Total depth is 8,690 feet.

The gas-oil ratio remained constant in both tests as 17,000:1, and corrected gravity as 60 degrees.

The well is located in section 31-20-1W about 10 miles south of the Ora field and approximately a half mile north of Union-Lincoln parish lines.

Since Pan American's acreage extends into Lincoln parish success of the Rugg will undoubtedly lead to large-scale exploration in both parishes.

Production was found in the Bodcaw zone of the Cotton Valley formation. Five and a half inch casing was cemented at 8,830 feet.

Plans were discussed for the early reorganization of the boxing team and the committee was confident that the team could be ready for a match within thirty days.

MODERN MARRIAGE OPPOSED BY BISHOP

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Bishop of Rochester, Dr. Christopher Chavasse, asserts in a book published today that the modern wife contributes to a "spreading rot" in British morals.

The 63-year old Church of England Bishop called for a government commission "to think out scientifically the policy that should govern the pattern of life."

He said "increasing facilities for divorce are inevitably giving courting couples the impression that marriage need be no more than a trial partnership."

MICHIGAN REPULSES ILLINOIS THREAT, 14-7

BIG 9 TITLE, ROSE BOWL DATE SURER FOR WOLVERINES

Illini Miss Chance For Upset Western Leaders In Last Quarter

By Charles Chamberlain

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Michigan's fiery blend of passing and running cut through dogged Illinois 14-7 today as the undefeated Wolverines gained their sixth football triumph in a charge to the Big Nine title and the accompanying Rose Bowl trip.

The defending champion Illini, forced to pass up one fine scoring opportunity in the final quarter when Michigan's aggressive line held on the 11 following a recovered fumble, suffered their second consecutive defeat before a sellout homecoming crowd of 71,119.

The victory, Michigan's 23rd in the 33-game rivalry between the two schools, gave Coach Fritz Crisler's team a tremendous shove towards the crown with three conference wins. Its remaining foes are Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio State, all comparatively easy. Illinois was the big hurdle.

Chalmers (Bump) Elliott of nearby Bloomington, Ill., who passed up the Illinois campus to join his brother, Pete, at Michigan, was the driving force in the Wolverines' two touchdowns in the first half. After Gene Derricotte had herded Michigan 58 yards only to fumble away the ball on the 14 at the outset of the opening period, Elliott helped his team shake off the disappointment by streaking 75 yards for a touchdown with Dwight Eddleman's punt. End Bob Mann bulldozed the path with a vicious block as the Bloomington blaster scampered down the sidelines.

Illinois tied the score in the first 90 seconds of the second period. Fullback Russ Steger broke loose for a 54 yard sprint before Pete Elliott caught him on the 15. Pitching Perry Moss rifled five yards to Art Dufelmeier and finally the Illini reached the one yard stripe with the aid of a 5-yard offside infraction. From there Steger rolled over the top of the Michigan line to score and Don Maechtle booted the point.

Bob Chappuis, who with Derricotte, Bumps Elliott and Jack Weisenburger helped roll up Michigan's 217 yards by rushing and 88 by air, was instrumental in the Wolverine's touchdown in the second quarter—which covered 79 yards in six plays, excluding a five-yard offside debit.

Chappuis fired a 22 yard pass while on the run to Bumps Elliott who smashed 30 more before being downed on the four. After the penalty, Reserve Halfback Henry Fonde drilled over and Dick Brieske made his 33rd conversion in 36 attempts this season.

Moss had streaks of amazing accuracy with his passes. He hit three times for a total of 23 yards during a 54-yard Illinois march which ended with two minutes remaining in the first half as Bumps Elliott intercepted on the nine.

Moss gained 26 yards on three hits at the outset of the third stanza as the Illini pushed 59 yards to the 20.

Eddleman was thrown for a five yard loss then Moss' two attempts to connect in the end zone were amply covered by Michigan's fine defense—a barrier that held Illinois to a total of 70 aerial yards. The Illini amassed 190 yards along the ground.

The threat of a tie game, which would have been the first since the

PLAN TO ORGANIZE NEW MINOR BASEBALL LOOP

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Organization of a new minor baseball league in southwest Louisiana and Southeast Texas will be discussed at a meeting in Crowley Nov. 9.

A. A. Nelson, leader of a group which has been seeking a place for Lake Charles in organized ball, said he has been informed by Lee L. Carver, chairman of a Crowley baseball committee, that the Crowley group will be host to representatives of seven other towns at a luncheon to discuss a new league.

Nelson said organization of a league with either six or eight clubs is planned. Towns asked to send representatives include Lake Charles, Jennings, Eunice, Opelousas, Morgan City, La., and Orange and Port Arthur, Texas.

Lake Charles, Opelousas and Port Arthur have been members of the Class D Evangeline League at one time or another.

TAR HEEL PASSES BEAT VOLUNTEERS

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina gained revenge for last year's loss by flashing a brilliant passing attack in capturing a 20-6 triumph over Tennessee today.

The Tar Heels in the first seven minutes rolled 58 yards for a touchdown with Fullback Hosea Rodgers setting the pace.

North Carolina stormed over early in the second quarter.

Pass interference midway of the second period set the stage for the final North Carolina tally. The Charlie Justice-John Tandy pass combination was not to be denied. Charlie although rushed badly, found Tandy in the end zone for a score.

But Ronald Bergmeier was destined to have his moment of scoring glory for Tennessee in the fourth period. Tackle Charlie Wildman jumped on a fumble by Bill Sherman on the Vols 38, and Neyland's boys clicked offensively for the first time all afternoon. Becker flipped a 22-yard pass to Bergmeier on the Tar Heel 25, and outran Bill Flamish for the touchdown.

JONES JUNIOR COLLEGE ROLLS ON UNDEFEATED

McCOMB, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Jones County Junior College won its sixth football game last night, defeating the Southwestern Junior College Fliers 26-7.

The Jones Bobcats are undefeated and untied this season, leading the junior college conference.

The winners scored their first touchdown before the game was two minutes old. Cooley travelled 24 yards to the Southwestern five-yard line and E. D. Hurth went over in two tries.

In the same period Jack Rucker's running sparked a 70-yard drive which paid off for another Jones touchdown when Cooley hit Flowers with a pair of short passes.

Jones' Sonny Spence received a Southwestern punt in the second quarter and sprinted 58 yards for the third score.

Southwestern stiffened in the third and the period was scoreless, and in the final quarter Southwestern's Obie Todd ran back a Jones county punt 30 yards for a touchdown.

In the closing minutes of the game Jones' Cooley skipped 46 yards for the last touchdown of the contest.

WAVE SHUT OUT BY MAROONS TO TUNE OF 20 TO 0

Underrated Mississippi Line Spoils Two Greenie Scoring Chances

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Shorty McWilliams showed 35,000 spectators what a great back can do for a football team today, and Mississippi State downed Tulane, 20 to 0, as a result.

The former Army star scored two touchdowns himself, and completely dominated the 34-yard drive which led to the third.

Tulane twice threatened, but Mississippi State's underrated line stopped both thrusts, once on the four-yard line and again on the 10.

It was an impressive Southeastern Conference debut for the Maroons who lost one game in an early-season round of intersectional play.

McWilliams, who slithered, squirmed and bulled his way seemingly at will, scored from the five-yard line in the first period to end a 41-yard march that started as soon as the Mississippians got their hands on the ball.

With State ahead only 7 to 0 in the third, McWilliams went to work again. He ran back a punt 23 yards to the Tulane 34, then accounted for all except four yards of the drive, which paid off on Jim Bailey's one-yard plunge.

Late in the fourth, Shorty took the lead in a 59-yard march, then ended it with a 19 yard charge off tackle for the touchdown.

Max Stainbrook made good two of his three tries from placement for extra points.

Tulane's threats came in the first half. Once Bob Franz blocked Eagle Matulich's punt and Ray Olsen recovered on the 14. But four plays netted only four yards.

A series of passes by Jim Keeton carried Tulane 44 yards to the four as intermission neared, but again the Tulane attack fizzled.

MINIATURE RACERS MOVE TO NEW SITE

With work on the miniature automobile track at Bernstein Park Hobby Center moving faster than expected, officials of the Miniature Power Model Association said here last night that they were abandoning plans to hold their Armistice Day races at Lakeside Country club and would run the event instead at their new Bernstein Hobby Center.

The track was completed at Bernstein Park the past week, and all that remains to get the new plant into operation for the little automobile racers is the necessary fencing.

Abandoning Lakeside, which has been turned into a residential subdivision, the miniature car racers plan to give their little machines test runs on the new track this afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock.

The Miniature Power Model Association, composed chiefly of three hobby groups here—car, boat, and model airplane enthusiasts—is also busy at the present getting two flying strips ready for use by the model plane group.

CRIMSON TIDE NIPS FAVORED WILDCATS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Alabama, riding the crest of a comeback campaign, rose to its top performance today to smack down a favored Kentucky football team, 13-0.

The Crimsons struck swiftly and surely in the first half to score twice and then were able to collect their reserve power in the shadow of their own goal when Kentucky stole the initiative in the last two quarters.

Freshman Shorty Jamerson's fumble on a Bama punt on the Wildcat 32 set the stage for another Crimson surge at the outset of the second stanza. Harry Gilmer put the ball on Kentucky's two with a pass to Rebel Steiner and Bill Cadenhead went over from the one foot line.

That ended the scoring, but not the action, and the wildcat figured prominently in the offensive fireworks until the game ended. Their lack of scoring punch when they reached striking distance was their telling weakness.

Neville's Tigers Face Ferriday In Homecoming Contest Friday

Betty Ann Cruthirds Will Reign As Queen At Game With Bulldogs

Neville High School celebrates its annual homecoming here Friday night with a football contest between the Neville Tigers and the strong Ferriday High School Bulldogs, contender for state Class B honors, featuring the program. The game will be played at Neville Stadium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Miss Betty Ann Cruthirds, a senior at Neville, has been selected by the members of the Tiger football squad to reign as their homecoming queen and she will be crowned in impressive ceremony at the stadium Friday.

Coach Bill Ruple last night announced his charges had emerged from the lopsided rout of Winnsfield Thursday night in good condition. But Bucky McElroy, fleet left halfback who was injured in the Ruston game and failed to get much action against Winnfield, is still bothered with a foot injury that isn't expected to give him much chance to do any running Friday.

However, as long as Perry Fisher, Jerry Brooks, Stoney Smallwood, and Robert Nelson continue to carry the mail as they did against Winnfield, the Tigers should be able to do all right. Fisher looked particularly impressive Thursday as he led the Bengal running attack in quest of its fifth victory of the season.

Although the Tigers are expected to rule as favorites against Ferriday, they shouldn't expect to find the Bulldogs a setup. The Ferriday eleven, currently undefeated in the district Class B conference race, has a record of five victories, one tie, and a lone defeat at the hands of Class A Winnsboro.

Ferriday and Neville have met only twice in the past, each claiming one victory. Ferriday triumphed in 1944, 25 to 7, and Neville won in 1945, 45 to 0, and Neville's 1945 team registered seven victories and set new scoring and defensive records for Tiger elevens.

LAKE PROVIDENCE NIPS OAK GROVE TIGERS, 19-0

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Nov. 1.—(Special)—The Lake Providence High School Panthers strengthened their position in the northeast Louisiana district Class B football race here last night by defeating the Oak Grove Tigers, 19 to 0.

The victory leaves only Lake Providence, Ferriday, and Tallulah undefeated in class B competition in the district.

The game was played in an almost continual rain that kept the scoring down. Lake Providence was a pregame favorite to win by an even bigger margin.

Panther touchdowns were bagged by Clement, who scored two, and G. Hopkins. First downs were 8 to 4 in favor of the Panthers. Walters, Bagby and Nix played outstanding ball for the losers.

The lineups:

Oak Grove	Pos.	L. Providence
Castleman	LE	J. Brown
J. Smith	LT	Chandler
Hickingbotham	LG	Phillips
Vining	C	P. Brown
Martin	RG	Cheek

LAKE CHARLES BATTLES CORPUS CHRISTI TO TIE

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Wildcats of Lake Charles High battled hard and furiously for a win here last night, only to be stalemated three times by the Corpus Christi Buccaneers in a game that ended in a 26 to 26 tie.

The Louisianians were ahead all the way but could not keep the speedy Corpus Christians down. Both teams used a strong wind when it was at their backs to aid their passing attacks.

DIGBY WITH NEW SUGAR BOWL JOB

Former Sports Editor Begins Duties With Mid-Winter Sports Group

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—After more than 35 years as a sports writer and a quarter of a century as sports editor of the New Orleans Item, Fred Digby today embarked on a new career—general manager of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association.

Dean of southern sports scribes, Digby is one of the founders of the association which annually stages the mid-winter sports carnival climaxed by the Sugar Bowl football game here.

It was in Digby's daily column in the Item, "Looking 'Em Over," that he plugged the sports festival and Bowl classic, finally interesting a group of New Orleans businessmen who formed the association.

As general manager, he'll serve as a sort of executive assistant to the president, an annually elective office, and will handle routine correspondence, publicity and the script for Sugar Bowl movies—jobs he's handled gratis in the past.

"The only real difference," he chuckled today, "is that I'll be on the payroll with the title of general manager."

As to future plans for changes in the Sugar Bowl organization, he has none, Digby said. In fact, the Sugar Bowl association has never had any set plans, merely changing the routine each year to meet shifting circumstances.

"Each year is always different from the last," he said, "because each year you have different teams. And please don't ask me who's going to play in the 1949 game because I don't know—Nobody knows until the football season's over."

But Digby had plenty to say about the proposed enlargement of Sugar Bowl stadium. Twelve thousand seats will be added to the present capacity of 73,000, he said, and work is scheduled to begin January 2, the very next day after this season's gridiron classic.

"We're going to doubledeck and enlarge the north end, just as the east and west side stands are now. The whole top tier will then be connected, with rest rooms and other conveniences," Digby said.

For sports writers who find the long climb to the Sugar Bowl press box a bit taxing, he added particularly heartening news—"and an elevator to the press box."

AGGIES, ARKANSAS SCRAP TO 0-0 TIE

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Texas A. and M. and the Arkansas Razorbacks teeter-tottered to a 21-21 draw and Clyde Scott, slippery-hipped Arkansas spark, staged a sensational offensive show in a Southwest Conference football game here today.

Scott ran 53 yards for one touchdown, passed for another and, netting 115 of Arkansas' 124 yards rushing, dealt the Aggies misery all afternoon. But A. and M., cashing in on two breaks and passing with deadly accuracy, wouldn't be beaten.

All of the scoring except the Razorbacks' last touchdown, which set the tie, came in a dizzy first half. Arkansas jumped off to a 14-0 lead in the first five minutes—the first two times it touched the ball—but the Aggies fought back to lead 21-14 at halftime.

The tying Arkansas touchdown came on 33 yard scoring pass from Scott to Ross Fritchard in the final period. Duval Thornton converted.

When the Pilgrims undertook farming in Indian lines they used fish for fertilizer.

GREEN BAY RISKS PRO GRID RATING IN STEELER TILT

Chi Cards, Tied With Packers, Takes On Los Angeles Again Today

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Green Bay, tied for first place with the Chicago Cardinals in the Western division, wil play most of the rampaging Pittsburgh football team tomorrow in Milwaukee in one of five highly important National Football League games.

In other contests New York will meet Detroit in Detroit; the Chicago Bears will play Boston in the hub; Los Angeles plays a return engagement with the Cardinals in Chicago; and the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins meet in the capital.

Pittsburgh's pace-setting Eastern division eleven, with four victories and two reverses, defeated Detroit and lost to Los Angeles in its two appearances against Western Division clubs. In its first meeting with an Eastern division team Green Bay vanquished Washington last Sunday. Jock Sutherland will depend on his hard-hitting, sharp-blocking eleven, and his winged attack to keep the Steelers on the top rung of the Eastern Division.

John Clement, leading the league in ground gaining and in third place in the Eastern division in passing; Steve Lach, the East's top scorer, and Joe Glamp, who has kicked 20 consecutive points after touchdown and three field goals, are three reasons why the Steelers believe they might upset the favored Packers.

Green Bay is not without its star performers. Tony Canadeo, Jack Jacobs and Ward Cuff are only three of the Wisconsin luminaries who are bidding for top positions in the race for statistical honors.

Another game in the west that is meriting nationwide attention will be played in Chicago between the Cardinals, currently tied for first place with Green Bay, and the Los Angeles Rams, just one game off the pace.

In their first meeting two weeks ago the Rams, playing their best game of the season, defeated the Cardinals 27 to 7. Last week, however, the Californians bowed to the Philadelphia Eagles 14 to 7 and dropped into third place in the Western division. The Cards, on the other hand, debounded to defeat Boston, 27 to 7.

When the Washington Redskins and the Philadelphia Eagles meet anything may happen. In their first encounter this season they amassed a total of 87 points to establish a National Football League individual game scoring record. A free scoring game is predicted for their second meeting in Washington.

With Sammy Baugh displaying uncanny accuracy in his passing and with such brilliant receivers as Hugh Taylor and Bob Nussbaumer, Washington expects to reverse the score of the first meeting but the Eagles, with the brilliant Steve Van Buren, doing the running, and Tommy Thompson, second to Baugh in the Eastern division in passing, to do the hurling, have high expectations of repeating their early season triumph.

The Bears will make their first appearance in Boston in the history of the league meeting the Yanks for only the second time. In their first encounter in 1944 the Bears won. Victor in its last three starts the Chicago eleven, with Sid Luckman pitching in major league style, are favored to win over the much improved Yanks.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The University of Maryland has installed four television receivers in its gymnasium and scattered others at vantage points around the campus so that everyone can get a look at today's West Virginia game in spite of an overcrowded stadium. That idea might be used to solve the problems of big crowds vs. small gyms during the basketball season . . . Bill Gimbel of Chicago is starting his 31st year of bowling in one league without having missed a single game. He's after the record of another Chicagoan, Harry Steers, who retired after 34 unbroken seasons . . . Has anyone pointed out that baseball's "high school" rule was the result of a two-way agreement in which the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations agreed to put more emphasis on baseball in return for immunity from player-snatching?

Good Luck Story

Cal Abrams, the Brooklyn-reared rookie whom the Dodgers recently brought up from Mobile, couldn't buy a hit when he was playing on a sandlot team at Sheepshead Bay in 1942. Dodger scouts, who had a string on him, considered converting him into a pitcher because he had a great arm and they thought he'd never be a hitter . . . But when an Olean outfielder broke a leg, Manager Jake Pitler was so hard pressed that he figured anyone would do and took Abrams . . . Cal merely hit .327 for the rest of the season and has made marks of .331 and .345 in his two seasons since leaving the army.

Sportspourri

The football Yankees' Spec Sanders came close to fulfilling that old threat to "run 'em out of the stadium" in last week's game against the Chicago Rockets. After Spec had run for record gains of 250 yards, a couple of Oklahoma neighbors hollered to him as he left the field. Spec galloped over and climbed into the stands to shake hands . . . A year ago Ray Poole led the Mississippi grid team in scoring with 29 points and caught 29 passes for 282 yards. So far this year Brother Barney has made 36 points in six games and has caught 23 passes for 208 yards. .. . The Michigan State team has been victim of two "fifth down" incidents this season—in separate games with diffemt sets of officials working.

Weak-End Notes

There's a lively feud in a Pennsylvania pro football league over a lunch. Seems the business manager of a "home" team was tasked to arrange for the visitors' post-game meal. He did, at the cost of about three bucks per man, and the entire visitors' share of the gate receipts went to pay the tab . . . J. V. Sikes, Georgia baseball coach, is shilling for night baseball in the Southeastern Conference. With lights and big enough parks, the games would draw 10,000 to 15,000 he contends . . . Best football line of the week is George (N. Y. Sun) Trevor's remark that Lynn Dorset's name sounds like a town in Vermont.

SKEET CLUB TO CONDUCT SHOOT THIS AFTERNOON

The Ouachita Parish Skeet club will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock in a shoot on the club's Plum street range adjacent to the Monroe police department's pistol range, it was announced last night by John Fox.

Fox also said the shoot was open to any visitors desiring to participate and he said the club was especially anxious to entertain out-of-town shooters.

DIAMOND JUBILEE MEETING DRAWING TOP FLIGHT ENTRY

Finest Selection Of Horses In Fair Grounds' History To Be On Hand

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 1.—(Special)—With 3,600 horses seeking space in 1,200 available stalls, the Fair Grounds Diamond Jubilee meeting which opens Thanksgiving Day will present the finest selection of turf blue bloods in the 75-year history of New Orleans' famous race course.

A million dollars in purses—with a generous sprinkling of $5,000 events as well as the richer handicaps—provide a tempting lure for a number of the nation's bigger stables during the 75-day meeting.

Dixiana's Spy Song and Star Reward will head a strong contingent under Trainer Jack Hodgins. Mrs. Harry Lunger's Christiana Stable will winter for the first time in New Orleans, and William Helis is shipping twenty thoroughbreds down for the meeting.

Looming as likely stake winners at the Diamond Jubilee will be Ben Whitaker's My Request and Carolyn A., the Louisiana Derby champ of last season. Then Johnny Theall will have a hard hitting group of racers in Fox Brownie, King Dorsett, Brown Mogul, Flareback, Dorothy Brown and others.

Jack S. L., Mrs. John Letellier's star which has raced in the money twenty one times out of his last twenty-five starts, will again be one of the Fair Grounds favorites. Also, Sylvester Labrot, Jr., plans to ship Repand, Raol, Gorget and several others for Fair Grounds racing.

These are but a few of the major campaigners set to winter in New Orleans, but the rank and file of horses will be far superior to any racing here in the past. Already some 500 have checked into their stalls and morning activity on the newly rebuilt track is buzzing.

Some of the finest jockeys of the nation are slated to perform at the Fair Grounds. Steve Brooks, current rider of 1947, will be on hand as also will be Eric Guerin, who added considerable lustre to an already bright career by riding Jet Pilot in the Kentucky Derby. Jimmy Combest, leading rider of the 1946-47 meeting, will again be back to ride for J. A. Kinard and Monte Parke. Johnny d'Augustino, one of the leading jockeys of the midwest, figures to provide keen competition in the jockey race.

RICE OWLS OVERWHELM TEXAS TECH'S RAIDERS

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 1.— (AP) — Rice's Owls waited an entire quarter today before rolling out a powerful ground and air attack that enabled them to completely overwhelm the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 40 to 7.

The Border Conference eleven, hoping to gain its first victory in four stars this season against Southwest Conference teams, took to the air in the opening minutes of play to take a 7 to 0 lead.

Rice did not move into Tech territory the first period and the tight Red Raider defense was not broken until Halfback Huey Keeney booted a punt that was good for a net 65-yards. Tech kicked out on the Rice 44 and from that point on the Houston eleven dominated the game.

The Owls drove 56 yards for the first score and followed up with another 58 yard march, mostly through the air, to lead 14 to 7 at the half.

A blocked punt by Guard S. J. Roberts led to a third period score, while in the final stanza, with third and fourth stringers dominating the play, the Owls drove 39 and 34 yards and cashed in on an intercepted pass.

MICHIGAN REPULSES ILLINOIS THREAT, 14-7

BIG 9 TITLE, ROSE BOWL DATE SURER FOR WOLVERINES

By Charles Chamberlain

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Michigan's fiery blend of passing and running cut through dogged Illinois 14-7 today as the undefeated Wolverines gained their sixth football triumph in a charge to the Big Nine title and the accompanying Rose Bowl trip.

The defending champion Illini, forced to pass up one fine scoring opportunity in the final quarter when Michigan's aggressive line held on the 11 following a recovered fumble, suffered their second consecutive defeat before a sellout homecoming crowd of 71,119.

The victory, Michigan's 23rd in the 33-game rivalry between the two schools, gave Coach Fritz Crisler's team a tremendous shove towards the crown with three conference wins. Its remaining foes are Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio State, all comparatively easy. Illinois was the big hurdle.

Chalmers (Bump) Elliott of nearby Bloomington, Ill., who passed up the Illinois campus to join his brother, Pete, at Michigan, was the driving force in the Wolverines' two touchdowns in the first half. After Gene Derricotte had herded Michigan 58 yards only to fumble away the ball on the 14 at the outset of the opening period, Elliott helped his team shake off the disappointment by streaking 75 yards for a touchdown with Dwight Eddleman's punt. End Bob Mann bulldozed the path with a vicious block as the Bloomington blaster scampered down the sidelines.

Illinois tied the score in the first 90 seconds of the second period. Fullback Russ Steger broke loose for a 54 yard sprint before Pete Elliott caught him on the 15. Pitching Perry Moss rifled five yards to Art Dufelmeier and finally the Illini reached the one yard stripe with the aid of a 5-yard offside infraction. From there Steger rolled over the top of the Michigan line to score and Don Maechtle booted the point.

Bob Chappuis, who with Derricotte, Bumps Elliott and Jack Weisenburger helped roll up Michigan's 217 yards by rushing and 88 by air, was instrumental in the Wolverine's touchdown in the second quarter—which covered 79 yards in six plays, excluding a five-yard offside debit.

Chappuis fired a 22 yard pass while on the run to Bumps Elliott who smashed 30 more before being downed on the four. After the penalty, Reserve Halfback Henry Fonde drilled over and Dick Brieske made his 33rd conversion in 36 attempts this season.

Moss had streaks of amazing accuracy with his passes. He hit three times for a total of 23 yards during a 54-yard Illinois march which ended with two minutes remaining in the first half as Bumps Elliott intercepted on the nine.

Moss gained 26 yards on three hits at the outset of the third stanza as the Illini pushed 59 yards to the 20.

Eddleman was thrown for a five yard loss then Moss' two attempts to connect in the end zone were amply covered by Michigan's fine defense—a barrier that held Illinois to a total of 70 aerial yards. The Illini amassed 190 yards along the ground.

The threat of a tie game, which would have been the first since the

PLAN TO ORGANIZE NEW MINOR BASEBALL LOOP

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Organization of a new minor baseball league in southwest Louisiana and Southeast Texas will be discussed at a meeting in Crowley Nov. 9.

A. A. Nelson, leader of a group which has been seeking a place for Lake Charles in organized ball, said he has been informed by Lee L. Carver, chairman of a Crowley baseball committee, that the Crowley group will be host to representatives of seven other towns at a luncheon to discuss a new league.

Nelson said organization of a league with either six or eight clubs is planned. Towns asked to send representatives include Lake Charles, Jennings, Eunice, Opelousas, Morgan City, La., and Orange and Port Arthur, Texas.

Lake Charles, Opelousas and Port Arthur have been members of the Class D Evangeline League at one time or another.

TAR HEEL PASSES BEAT VOLUNTEERS

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina gained revenge for last year's loss by flashing a brilliant passing attack in capturing a 20-6 triumph over Tennessee today.

The Tar Heels in the first seven minutes rolled 58 yards for a touchdown with Fullback Hosea Rodgers setting the pace.

North Carolina stormed over early in the second quarter.

Pass interference midway of the second period set the stage for the final North Carolina tally. The Charlie Justice-John Tandy pass combination was not to be denied. Charlie although rushed badly, found Tandy in the end zone for a score.

But Ronald Bergmeier was destined to have his moment of scoring glory for Tennessee in the fourth period. Tackle Charlie Wildman jumped on a fumble by Bill Sherman on the Vols 38, and Neyland's boys clicked offensively for the first time all afternoon. Becker flipped a 22-yard pass to Bergmeier on the Tar Heel 25, and outran Bill Flamish for the touchdown.

JONES JUNIOR COLLEGE ROLLS ON UNDEFEATED

McCOMB, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Jones County Junior College won its sixth football game last night, defeating the Southwestern Junior College Fliers 26-7.

The Jones Bobcats are undefeated and untied this season, leading the junior college conference.

The winners scored their first touchdown before the game was two minutes old. Cooley travelled 24 yards to the Southwestern five-yard line and E. D. Hurth went over in two tries.

In the same period Jack Rucker's running sparked a 70-yard drive which paid off for another Jones touchdown when Cooley hit Flowers with a pair of short passes.

Jones' Sonny Spence received a Southwestern punt in the second quarter and sprinted 58 yards for the third score.

Southwestern stiffened in the third and the period was scoreless, and in the final quarter Southwestern's Obie Todd ran back a Jones county punt 90 yards for a touchdown.

In the closing minutes of the game Jones' Cooley skipped 46 yards for the last touchdown of the contest.

WAVE SHUT OUT BY MAROONS TO TUNE OF 20 TO 0

Underrated Mississippi Line Spoils Two Greenie Scoring Chances

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Shorty McWilliams showed 35,000 spectators what a great back can do for a football team today, and Mississippi State downed Tulane, 20 to 0, as a result.

The former Army star scored two touchdowns himself, and completely dominated the 34-yard drive which led to the third.

Tulane twice threatened, but Mississippi State's underrated line stopped both thrusts, once on the four-yard line and again on the 10.

It was an impressive Southeastern Conference debut for the Maroons who lost one game in an early-season round of intersectional play.

McWilliams, who slithered, squirmed and bulled his way seemingly at will, scored from the five-yard line in the first period to end a 41-yard march that started as soon as the Mississippians got their hands on the ball.

With State ahead only 7 to 0 in the third, McWilliams went to work again. He ran back a punt 23 yards to the Tulane 34, then accounted for all except four yards of the drive, which paid off on Jim Bailey's one-yard plunge.

Late in the fourth, Shorty took the lead in a 59-yard march, then ended it with a 19 yard charge off tackle for the touchdown.

Tulane's threats came in the first half. Once Bob Franz blocked Eagle Matulich's punt and Ray Olsen recovered on the 14. But four plays netted only four yards.

A series of passes by Jim Keeton carried Tulane 44 yards to the four as intermission neared, but again the Tulane attack fizzled.

MINIATURE RACERS MOVE TO NEW SITE

With work on the miniature automobile track at Bernstein Park Hobby Center moving faster than expected, officials of the Miniature Power Model Association said here last night that they were abandoning plans to hold their Armistice Day races at Lakeside Country club and would run the event instead at their new Bernstein Hobby Center.

The track was completed at Bernstein Park the past week, and all that remains to get the new plant into operation for the little automobile racers is the necessary fencing.

Abandoning Lakeside, which has been turned into a residential subdivision, the miniature car racers plan to give their little machines test runs on the new track this afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock.

The Miniature Power Model Association, composed chiefly of three hobby groups here—car, boat, and model airplane enthusiasts—is also busy at the present getting two flying strips ready for use by the model plane group.

CRIMSON TIDE NIPS FAVORED WILDCATS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Alabama, riding the crest of a comeback campaign, rose to its top performance today to smack down a favored Kentucky football team, 13-0.

The Crimsons struck swiftly and surely in the first half to score twice and then were able to collect their reserve power in the shadow of their own goal when Kentucky stole the initiative in the last two quarters.

Freshman Shorty Jamerson's fumble on a Bama punt on the Wildcat 32 set the stage for another Crimson surge at the outset of the second stanza. Harry Gilmer put the ball on Kentucky's two with a pass to Rebel Steiner and Bill Cadenhead went over from the one foot line.

That ended the scoring, but not the action, and the wildcat figured prominently in the offensive fireworks until the game ended. Their lack of scoring punch when they reached striking distance was their telling weakness.

Neville's Tigers Face Ferriday In Homecoming Contest Friday

Betty Ann Cruthirds Will Reign As Queen At Game With Bulldogs

Neville High School celebrates its annual homecoming here Friday night with a football contest between the Neville Tigers and the strong Ferriday High School Bulldogs, contender for state Class B honors, featuring the program. The game will be played at Neville Stadium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Miss Betty Ann Cruthirds, a senior at Neville, has been selected by the members of the Tiger football squad to reign as their homecoming queen and she will be crowned in impressive ceremony at the stadium Friday.

Coach Bill Ruple last night announced his charges had emerged from the lopsided rout of Winnsfield Thursday night in good condition. But Bucky McElroy, fleet left halfback who was injured in the Ruston game and failed to get much action against Winnfield, is still bothered with a foot injury that isn't expected to give him much chance to do any running Friday.

However, as long as Perry Fisher, Jerry Brooks, Stoney Smallwood, and Robert Nelson continue to carry the mail as they did against Winnfield, the Tigers should be able to do all right. Fisher looked particularly impressive Thursday as he led the Bengal running attack in quest of its fifth victory of the season.

Although the Tigers are expected to rule as favorites against Ferriday, they shouldn't expect to find the Bulldogs a setup. The Ferriday eleven, currently undefeated in the district Class B conference race, has a record of five victories, one tie, and a lone defeat at the hands of Class A Winnsboro.

Ferriday and Neville have met only twice in the past, each claiming one victory. Ferriday triumphed in 1944, 25 to 7, and Neville won in 1945, 45 to 0, and Neville's 1945 team registered seven victories and set new scoring and defensive records for Tiger elevens.

LAKE PROVIDENCE NIPS OAK GROVE TIGERS, 19-0

The victory leaves only Lake Providence, Ferriday, and Tallulah undefeated in class B competition in the district.

The game was played in an almost continual rain that kept the scoring down. Lake Providence was a pregame favorite to win by an even bigger margin.

Panther touchdowns were bagged by Clement, who scored two, and G. Hopkins. First downs were 8 to 4 in favor of the Panthers. Walters, Bagby and Nix played outstanding ball for the losers.

The lineups:

Oak Grove	Pos.	L. Providence
Castleman	LE	J. Brown
J. Smith	LT	Chandler

LAKE CHARLES BATTLES CORPUS CHRISTI TO TIE

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Wildcats of Lake Charles High battled hard and furiously for a win here last night, only to be stalemated three times by the Corpus Christi Buccaneers in a game that ended in a 26 to 26 tie.

The Louisianians were ahead all the way but could not keep the speedy Corpus Christians down. Both teams used a strong wind when it was at their backs to aid their passing attacks.

DIGBY WITH NEW SUGAR BOWL JOB

Former Sports Editor Begins Duties With Mid-Winter Sports Group

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—After more than 35 years as a sports writer and a quarter of a century as sports editor of the New Orleans Item, Fred Digby today embarked on a new career—general manager of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association.

Dean of southern sports scribes, Digby is one of the founders of the association which annually stages the mid-winter sports carnival climaxed by the Sugar Bowl football game here.

It was in Digby's daily column in the Item, "Looking 'Em Over," that he plugged the sports festival and Bowl classic, finally interesting a group of New Orleans businessmen who formed the association.

As general manager, he'll serve as a sort of executive assistant to the president, an annually elective office, and will handle routine correspondence, publicity and the script for Sugar Bowl movies—jobs he's handled gratis in the past.

"The only real difference," he chuckled today, "is that I'll be on the payroll with the title of general manager."

As to future plans for changes in the Sugar Bowl organization, he has none, Digby said. In fact, the Sugar Bowl association has never had any set plans, merely changing the routine each year to meet shifting circumstances.

"Each year is always different from the last," he said, "because each year you have different teams. And please don't ask me who's going to play in the 1949 game because I don't know—Nobody knows until the football season's over."

But Digby had plenty to say about the proposed enlargement of Sugar Bowl stadium. Twelve thousand seats will be added to the present capacity of 73,000, he said, and work is scheduled to begin January 2, the very next day after this season's gridiron classic.

"We're going to doubledeck and enlarge the north end, just as the east and west side stands are now. The whole top tier will then be connected, with rest rooms and other conveniences," Digby said.

For sports writers who find the long climb to the Sugar Bowl press box a bit taxing, he added particularly heartening news—"and an elevator to the press box."

AGGIES, ARKANSAS SCRAP TO 0-0 TIE

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Texas A. and M. and the Arkansas Razorbacks teeter-tottered to a 21-21 draw and Clyde Scott, slippery-hipped Arkansas spark, staged a sensational offensive show in a Southwest Conference football game here today.

Scott ran 53 yards for one touchdown, passed for another and, netting 115 of Arkansas' 124 yards rushing, dealt the Aggies misery all afternoon. But A. and M., cashing in on two breaks and passing with deadly accuracy, wouldn't be beaten.

All of the scoring except the Razorbacks' last touchdown, which set the tie, came in a dizzy first half. Arkansas jumped off to a 14-0 lead in the first five minutes—the first two times it touched the ball—but the Aggies fought back to lead 21-14 at halftime.

The tying Arkansas touchdown came on 33 yard scoring pass from Scott to Ross Fritchard in the final period. Duval Thornton converted.

GREEN BAY RISKS PRO GRID RATING IN STEELER TILT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Green Bay, tied for first place with the Chicago Cardinals in the Western division, wil play most of the rampaging Pittsburgh football team tomorrow in Milwaukee in one of five highly important National Football League games.

In other contests New York will meet Detroit in Detroit; the Chicago Bears will play Boston in the hub; Los Angeles plays a return engagement with the Cardinals in Chicago; and the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins meet in the capital.

Pittsburgh's pace-setting Eastern division eleven, with four victories and two reverses, defeated Detroit and lost to Los Angeles in its two appearances against Western Division clubs. In its first meeting with an Eastern division team Green Bay vanquished Washington last Sunday. Jock Sutherland will depend on his hard-hitting, sharp-blocking eleven, and his winged attack to keep the Steelers on the top rung of the Eastern Division.

John Clement, leading the league in ground gaining and in third place in the Eastern division in passing; Steve Lach, the East's top scorer, and Joe Glamp, who has kicked 20 consecutive points after touchdown and three field goals, are three reasons why the Steelers believe they might upset the favored Packers.

Green Bay is not without its star performers. Tony Canadeo, Jack Jacobs and Ward Cuff are only three of the Wisconsin luminaries who are bidding for top positions in the race for statistical honors.

Another game in the west that is meriting nationwide attention will be played in Chicago between the Cardinals, currently tied for first place with Green Bay, and the Los Angeles Rams, just one game off the pace.

In their first meeting two weeks ago the Rams, playing their best game of the season, defeated the Cardinals 27 to 7. Last week, however, the Californians bowed to the Philadelphia Eagles 14 to 7 and dropped into third place in the Western division. The Cards, on the other hand, debounded to defeat Boston, 27 to 7.

When the Washington Redskins and the Philadelphia Eagles meet anything may happen. In their first encounter this season they amassed a total of 87 points to establish a National Football League individual game scoring record. A free scoring game is predicted for their second meeting in Washington.

With Sammy Baugh displaying uncanny accuracy in his passing and with such brilliant receivers as Hugh Taylor and Bob Nussbaumer, Washington expects to reverse the score of the first meeting but the Eagles, with the brilliant Steve Van Buren, doing the running, and Tommy Thompson, second to Baugh in the Eastern division in passing, to do the hurling, have high expectations of repeating their early season triumph.

The Bears will make their first appearance in Boston in the history of the league meeting the Yanks for only the second time. In their first encounter in 1944 the Bears won. Victor in its last three starts the Chicago eleven, with Sid Luckman pitching in major league style, are favored to win over the much improved Yanks.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The University of Maryland has installed four television receivers in its gymnasium and scattered others at vantage points around the campus so that everyone can get a look at today's West Virginia game in spite of an overcrowded stadium. That idea might be used to solve the problems of big crowds vs. small gyms during the basketball season . . . Bill Gimbel of Chicago is starting his 31st year of bowling in one league without having missed a single game. He's after the record of another Chicagoan, Harry Steers, who retired after 34 unbroken seasons . . . Has anyone pointed out that baseball's "high school" rule was the result of a two-way agreement in which the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations agreed to put more emphasis on baseball in return for immunity from player-snatching?

Good Luck Story

Cal Abrams, the Brooklyn-reared rookie whom the Dodgers recently brought up from Mobile, couldn't buy a hit when he was playing on a sandlot team at Sheepshead Bay in 1942. Dodger scouts, who had a string on him, considered converting him into a pitcher because he had a great arm and they thought he'd never be a hitter . . . But when an Olean outfielder broke a leg, Manager Jake Pitler was so hard pressed that he figured anyone would do and took Abrams . . . Cal merely hit .327 for the rest of the season and has made marks of .331 and .345 in his two seasons since leaving the army.

Sportspourri

The football Yankees' Spec Sanders came close to fulfilling that old threat to "run 'em out of the stadium" in last week's game against the Chicago Rockets. After Spec had run for record gains of 250 yards, a couple of Oklahoma neighbors hollered to him as he left the field. Spec galloped over and climbed into the stands to shake hands . . . A year ago Ray Poole led the Mississippi grid team in scoring with 29 points and caught 29 passes for 282 yards. So far this year Brother Barney has made 36 points in six games and has caught 23 passes for 208 yards. . . . The Michigan State team has been victim of two "fifth down" incidents this season—in separate games with different sets of officials working.

Weak-End Notes

There's a lively feud in a Pennsylvania pro football league over a lunch. Seems the business manager of a "home" team wa sasked to arrange for the visitors' post-game meal. He did, at the cost of about three bucks per man, and the entire visitors' share of the gate receipts went to pay the tab . . . J. V. Sikes, Georgia baseball coach, is shilling for night baseball in the Southeastern Conference. With lights and big enough parks, the games would draw 10,000 to 15,000 he contends . . . Best football line of the week is George (N. Y. Sun) Trevor's remark that Lynn Dorset's name sounds like a town in Vermont.

SKEET CLUB TO CONDUCT SHOOT THIS AFTERNOON

The Ouachita Parish Skeet club will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock in a shoot on the club's Plum street range adjacent to the Monroe police department's pistol range, it was announced last night by John Fox.

Fox also said the shoot was open to any visitors desiring to participate and he said the club was especially anxious to entertain out-of-town shooters.

DIAMOND JUBILEE MEETING DRAWING TOP FLIGHT ENTRY

Finest Selection Of Horses In Fair Grounds' History To Be On Hand

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 1.—(Special)—With 3,600 horses seeking space in 1,200 available stalls, the Fair Grounds Diamond Jubilee meeting which opens Thanksgiving Day will present the finest selection of turf blue bloods in the 75-year history of New Orleans' famous race course.

A million dollars in purses—with a generous sprinkling of $5,000 events as well as the richer handicaps—provide a tempting lure for a number of the nation's bigger stables during the 75-day meeting.

Dixiana's Spy Song and Star Reward will head a strong contingent under Trainer Jack Hodgins. Mrs. Harry Lunger's Christiana Stable will winter for the first time in New Orleans, and William Helis is shipping twenty thoroughbreds down for the meeting.

Looming as likely stake winners at the Diamond Jubilee will be Ben Whitaker's My Request and Carolyn A., the Louisiana Derby champ of last season. Then Johnny Theall will have a hard hitting group of racers in Fox Brownie, King Dorsett, Brown Mogul, Flareback, Dorothy Brown and others.

Jack S. L., Mrs. John Letellier's star which has raced in the money twenty one times out of his last twenty-five starts, will again be one of the Fair Grounds favorites. Also, Sylvester Labrot, Jr., plans to ship Repand, Raol, Gorget and several others for Fair Grounds racing.

These are but a few of the major campaigners set to winter in New Orleans, but the rank and file of horses will be far superior to any racing here in the past. Already some 500 have checked into their stalls and morning activity on the newly rebuilt track is buzzing.

Some of the finest jockeys of the nation are slated to perform at the Fair Grounds. Steve Brooks, current rider of 1947, will be on hand as also will be Eric Guerin, who added considerable lustre to an already bright career by riding Jet Pilot in the Kentucky Derby. Jimmy Combest, leading rider of the 1946-47 meeting, will again be back to ride for J. A. Kinard and Monte Parke. Johnny d'Augustino, one of the leading jockeys of the midwest, figures to provide keen competition in the jockey race.

RICE OWLS OVERWHELM TEXAS TECH'S RAIDERS

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Rice's Owls waited an entire quarter today before rolling out a powerful ground and air attack that enabled them to completely overwhelm the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 40 to 7.

The Border Conference eleven, hoping to gain its first victory in four stars this season against Southwest Conference teams, took to the air in the opening minutes of play to take a 7 to 0 lead.

Rice did not move into Tech territory the first period and the tight Red Raider defense was not broken until Halfback Huey Keeney booted a punt that was good for a net 65-yards. Tech kicked out on the Rice 44 and from that point on the Houston eleven dominated the game.

The Owls drove 56 yards for the first score and followed up with another 58 yard march, mostly through the air, to lead 14 to 7 at the half.

A blocked punt by Guard S. J. Roberts led to a third period score, while in the final stanza, with third and fourth stringers dominating the play, the Owls drove 39 and 34 yards and cashed in on an intercepted pass.

WALKER SPARKS PONIES TO BARE 14-TO-13 VICTORY

Layne Stands Out For Steers, But Unable To Offset Mustang Ace

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Magnificent Doak Walker passed, ran and kicked Southern Methodist to a 14-13 victory over Texas today in a thrilling offensive duel that left the Methodist the only undefeated, untied team in the great southwest.

The chunky little man from Dallas bested Bobby Layne, his schoolboy rival of yesterday, in the heralded individual battle of stars. But even in defeat Layne, Texas' passin' man, was a glittering standout of a battle that had a crowd of 45,000 in a continuous uproar.

A Walker pass set up the first touchdown and he took a pass to lead to the other, then he planted both extra points between the goal posts as S. M. U. took over leadership in the Southwest Conference race and started eyeing the Cotton Bowl where the conference champions is the host team.

The Methodists broke in front three minutes after the game started and never were headed although Texas threw into a tie early in the second period. It was short-lived, however.

Paul Page romped 81 yards with a hand-off from Frank Payne on the opening kickoff racing to the Texas 19-yard line and it required only six plays for S. M. U. to score. Three line tries failed but Walker passed to Dick McKissack on the four. McKissack made a yard at the line then Walker handed off to Page who circled left end for the score.

Layne passes led to both Texas touchdowns.

Late in the first period, after Byron Gillory ran a punt back to the Southern Methodist 32, Layne pitched to Dale Schwartzkopf for eight and to Max Bumgardner for a first down on the S. M. U. 13. Jim Canady hit left guard for four, Tom Landry tapped left guard to drive to the three. Canady then made two at right guard and Landry climbed over the same position for the score. Frank Guess kicked the extra point.

Southern Methodist grabbed the lead back midway of the second period. It was on a 73-yard drive with a 54-yard pass play from Gilbert Johnson to Walker eating up most of the distance. Walker was knocked out of bounds on the Texas one-yard line by Gillory. McKissack crashed center for the touchdown.

The final Texas score came early in the fourth period. Texas drove from its 28-yard line on Layne's great passing. First he flipped to Schwartzkopf for 21 yards, then to Peppy Blount for 26. Three line tries failed and Layne passed to Gillory for a touchdown. Guess' try for extra point was wide.

ISTROUMA, BOGALUSA IMPRESSIVE IN SOUTH, TORNADO TOPS NORTH

(By Associated Press)

Istrouma and Bogalusa put on football exhibitions Friday night which gave other elevens in Louisiana's Class AA High School circles something to worry about.

Pouring it on, Istrouma walloped Bolton, 48 to 0, while Bogalusa was toying with Jonesboro-Hodge, 46 to 0.

Thus the two elevens moved along toward the clash Nov. 14 which will decide the southeast district race—and maybe the state championship.

In the north district, Haynesville stomped Byrd, 32 to 0, to take over the lead at this point. Fair Park turned in a 21 to 0 triumph over Bossier City.

Beaten twice by Double A opponents, Sulphur of the southwest district derived some satisfaction from a 25 to 6 victory over De Ridder.

Two other southwest elevens played thrillers. Jennings was held even in the first half, but managed to score over St. James of Port Arthur, Texas, 27 to 20. Lake Charles, invading Texas, fought Corpus Christi to a 26 to 26 deadlock.

The only New Orleans double A eleven to see action was Nicholls, which went to Lafayette and downed the home team, 21 to 0.

The important prep league clash between Warren Easton and Holy Cross was postponed, because of rain, until Sunday night.

AMERICANS LEAP AHEAD IN RYDER CUP GOLF EVENT

U. S Aces Make Clean Sweep For 1st Day's Matches With British

By Russ Newland

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1.—(AP)—America scored a grand slam over Britain today in the opening of the Ryder Cup golf series, racking up four points to none in Scotch foursome matches ranging from routs to sensational comebacks.

The first day's test of the international golfing classic, revived after a ten year's lapse, brought U. S. Open Champion Lew Worsham and Ed Oliver a lopsided 10 and 9 win over Britain's captain, Henry Cotton and his partner, Arthur Lees.

Americans Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum, both former champions, continued the battering attack against the best from the isles across the waters by defeating Fred Daly, British open and pro title holder, and Charles Ward, 6 and 5.

Ben Hogan, captain of the Americans and Jimmy Demaret, made a thrilling uphill fight to win from James Adams and Max Faulkner, 2 up.

In the fourth encounter of the two-ball events, each player hitting alternate shots, Byron Nelson, once kingpin of American golf, teamed up with Herman Barron to take the measure of Dai Rees and Samuel King, 2 and 1.

Nelson, who came out of retirement for the renewal of the trans-Atlantic competition, and his partner, Barron, also had to come from behind before scoring a hard fought win.

Their opponents, Rees and King, led the match until the 29th hole where Nelson dropped a 15-foot putt to even the count. The Americans grabbed the next two and held the advantage to the last.

The early outlook for Hogan and Demaret was even blacker. Adams and Faulkner teamed well to hold a substantial 4 up lead at the 9th and retained a 2 up margin through the 18th. The American twosome started playing the kind of golf they are capable of on the third nine, chalking up a two-under par 33 to pick up four holes. They moved into the lead for the first time at the 25th and at the 27th held a 2 up margin.

The Britishers, still fighting, evened the match at the 33rd but saw hopes vanish as Hogan and Demaret combined their shots to take the 34th and the 36th in the final close-out.

VANDY RUNS UP EARLY SCORE TO BEAT AUBURN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Vanderbilt put on a first half scoring spree then coasted the rest of the way today to defeat Auburn 28 to 0 in a miserable drizzle on rainsoaked Dudley Field.

The Commodores, overwhelming pre-game favorites over their Southeastern Conference foe, had command of the situation from the very start. They put across two touchdowns in each of the first and second periods.

The Commodores appeared to lose their inspiration in the second half while Auburn's showed a corresponding increase.

With Bobby Berry doing most of the lugging, the Commodores took the opening kickoff and rolled to their first score, Jim Baughn taking it over on a pass from Berry. Bernie Rohling scored the other Commodore first period marker with a slithering 21 yard jaunt off tackle.

Late in the first period an Auburn fumble was recovered by Vanderbilt on the Plainsman 23. Then shortly after the second stanza opened Dean Davidson hit the line for the score.

A couple of plays later Vanderbilt recovered a bad pass from the Auburn center and Mac Robinson, Vanderbilt freshman, scored through the line.

IRISH TAKE TO AIR TO WALLOP LESS FAVORED MIDDIES

South Benders Turn Three Fumbles, Intercepted Pass Into Scores

By Fritz Howell

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Notre Dame's alert and magnificently equipped gridders turned three Navy fumbles and an intercepted pass into touchdowns today to sink the Middies, 27 to 0, and rolled on toward the national championship with their fifth straight conquest.

The South Bend sensations scored in each of the first three periods. Only a fumble on the goal line kept them from hitting pay dirt in the final stanza with a lineup of third and fourth stringers.

With Quarterbacks Johnny Lujack and Frank Tripucka doing the tossing the Notre Dames hit the airlines for 263 yards, completing 18 of 27 attempts, two for touchdowns.

Navy's oft-beaten team also was forced to the skies as its ground game was held to 112 yards, and the Middies bit off 139 yards overhead although connecting on only nine of 28 attempts. The Irish had a 17 to 10 edge in first downs, getting 11 through the air to four for Navy.

The payoff came early when Leon Hart picked up Bob Schwoefferman's fumble on the Navy 47. Two plays later Lujack tossed 29 yards to Halfback Jimmy Brennan in the end zone.

In the second period, backed up against his own goal line by Dick Scott's 55 yard punt to the five, Lujack faked a pass and skirted end for 67 yards, only to fumble and lose the ball when hit. Fullback Bill Hawkins fumbled, Guard John Frampton recovering. Two plays later Tripucka passed 31 yards to Hart for the second Irish marker.

Another break in the third period paid off. Hart again grabbed a fumble by Horne on the Irish 46 to set up a score. Brennan crashed over from the one.

A couple of plays later Bob Livingstone of Notre Dame intercepted one of Horne's passes on the Navy 42 and scampered all the way for the final counter.

The lineups:

Markel	LE	Martin
Shimshak	LT	Connor
Emerson	LG	Fischer

FAIR PARK INDIANS BEAT BOSSIER CITY BEARKATS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—After playing a scoreless first half the Fair Park Indians, led by Lee Hedges and Buddy Crain, turned on their offensive power and handed the Bossier Bearkats a 21-0 defeat last night on the Fair Grounds gridiron before a crowd of approximately 6,500 persons.

Hedges made the difference between the two teams and his running, passing and defensive work stood out above that of any other player on the field.

The first Fair Park touchdown came on a 60-yard march after the halftime kickoff, Hedges paving the way with a 43-yard aerial and another five-yard pass which went for a six pointer. Crain took in the scoring pass. Francis Baker converted.

The Indians pushed across their second score early in the final period with Hedges going over from the seven-yard line. Baker again converted the extra point.

Hedges again threw a touchdown pass in the fourth quarter, this time it was a 43-yard aerial to Clinton Gwinn.

Bossier threatened in the first period when it marched 88 yards to the Fair Park one-inch line. Yarborough went over into pay dirt but the play was nullified by a five-yard backfield in motion penalty.

NEVILLE FRESHMEN PLAY MINDEN SCORELESS TIE

The Neville High School freshmen, after nosing out the Winnsboro frosh last Monday, 14-13, journeyed to Minden yesterday afternoon to battle the Minden "B" team to a scoreless tie on a wet field.

Coach J. O. Claudel's Tiger Cubs made the most first downs, 9 to 3, and his Neville boys intercepted three Minden passes, but Billy Heindrich saved the day for the locals when he outraced a Minden back who broke into the clear in the third quarter, and stopped the little Crimson back on the Tiger 30.

Vallery, Jimmy Choate, and Charles Martin played outstanding ball in the Neville line while W. T. Brown, Heindrich, Guy DuPriest, and Tommy Meeks stoodout in the backfield.

The Tiger Cubs meet Winnsboro here in their next game November 10.

PLAIN DEALING'S LIONS SWAMP ARCADIA, 40-20

PLAIN DEALING, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Plain Dealing Lions swamped the Arcadia Hornets, 40-20, last night on the local gridiron.

The superior Lion team outplayed their scrappy opponent throughout the encounter and Captain Seth Arnold gave the crowd a great show with his passing. Robert McKeller proved to be a capable pass catcher for the versatile Plain Dealing tosser.

G. A. Chandler, captain of one Arcadia team and Bobby Simmons supplied the offensive power for the visitors while Shelton Henry, tackle, stood out on the defense. James Coile was the defensive star for the Lions.

O'CONNOR PLANS LONE HAND FIGHT AGAINST RULING

Other American League Clubs Leave Dispute Up To Chisox, Chandler

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Shorn of support by seven other American League clubs, Chicago White Sox General Manager Leslie M. O'Connor plans an unprecedented "lone hand" assault on Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to escape a $500 fine and suspension for signing a high school southpaw pitcher.

The Chicago official, following a six-hour closed session yesterday in which the junior loop's club owners voted to replace him on baseball's executive council, said he would seek a restraining order against the commissioner's edict in Cincinnati's federal court next week.

Chandler, notified of the league's 7-0 vote to replace O'Connor, declared at his Versailles, Ky., home, that 'naturally, I am appreciative of the confidence the American League has shown in me." The commisioner had requested President Will Harridge of the American League to name a replacement for O'Connor to participate in the Nov. 6-7 executive council session at Cincinnati, if the Chicago official were unable to act due to the suspension.

At Chicago White Sox Publicity Director Ward Stevens said O'Connor had Commissioner Chandler "in a vise and there's nothing he (Chandler) can do about it. The club can't lose, no matter what the other American League officials did."

President Harridge, summing up the six-hour session, declared:

"From now on, any action is Mr. O'Connor's personal business, and that of the White Sox. Like any business, baseball is anxious to stay out of the courts, but the American League cannot prevent any member club from going into court.

"Speaking as the league's president, we recognize Commissioner Chandler's interpretation of the rules, and the league will not be a party to any court action."

O'Connor bases his case on the premise that the White Sox did not violate baseball rules in signing 17-year-old George Zoeterman of Chicago's Christian High School, since that institution is not a member of the National Federation of High Schools. Baseball laws says students of federation schools may not be signed, but Chandler, in two bulletins issued earlier this year, ruled that students of all high schools are under the contract ban. O'Connor disputes Chandler's broadening of the rule interpretation.

O'Connor and the White Sox club were suspended Oct. 29 for failure to pay a $500 fine levied Sept. 26 for the signing of the young left-hander.

Harridge told reporters that, although the club owners discussed the case at length during the long session, they "did not take a stand on whether Mr. O'Connor is right or wrong in this controversy."

Clark Griffith of Washington, represented at the session by his son, Calvin, said he would stick by the ruling of Chandler, while Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, said he thought O'Connor should not try to involve seven other American League clubs in a controversy with the commissioner.

Jack Curtis Offers George Craig Shot At World's Wrestling Title

Light Heavyweight Championship At Stake At Kallio's Tuesday

A match Twin City wrestling fans had begun to doubt they would ever see, a world's championship match between those two pals of the mat circuits, Jack Curtis and George Craig, has been billed for Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena here.

Friendship ceases for the two ring warriors, however, when Curtis, the classy Vicksburg, Miss., champion, puts his world's light heavyweight title on the line against the challenge of Craig, Tulsa, Okla., tussler who holds the Louisiana state light-heavy belt.

Only the crown worn by Curtis will be in jeopardy Tuesday, Kallio announced. Even if Craig should fail to dethrone Curtis he will still be recognized as the state champion.

"It took a lot of talking to get this match ready," Kallio said last night. "Curtis and Craig have never met as opponents in the ring, but both are top flight light-heavies and Craig certainly deserves a chance at the world's title if anybody does."

"I think a lot of Craig as a friend and as a wrestler," Curtis told Kallio, "but he's entitled to the match if he wants it, and I shouldn't object. However, Craig shouldn't be counting too strong on victory for I certainly intend to keep the belt as long as I can."

Craig, who has held the Louisiana state title longer than any other wrestler, is anxious to win the big belt as well.

"Regardless of how I feel about Curtis all friendship ceases when we line up in opposite corners," Craig declared. "We've given each other our support in previous matches and worked from the same corner in tag matches, but it's every man for himself this trip."

In anticipation of one of his largest attendances of the fall season, Promoter Kallio also announced the advanced sale of tickets for the match will get underway tomorrow morning.

Curtis and Craig will battle over a 90-minute time limit distance with two falls to win.

The supporting cast will bring together Billy Sandow, Miami, Fla., against Chico Ortis, rowdy Haiwaiian battler, in the semi-final event. The curtain-raiser, beginning at 8 o'clock, will have an hour time limit with two falls to win.

GENERALS FALL TO ARMY, 65-13

Blaik Cleans Bench But Cadets Continue To Run Up Big Score

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Coach Earl (Red) Blaik of Army threw 48 players into a mission of mercy today, but when the carnage finally ended his black-clad cadets had run up a fearful 65-to-13 score over an outclassed Washington and Lee eleven.

The farther the Army mentor dug into his reserves the farther his pupils ran to score against the Generals from Virginia. The last play of the one-sided contest saw Bob Vinson, approximately a third stringer, race 97 yards for a touchdown after intercepting a pass.

Washington and Lee, helpless to gain on the ground through Army's powerful line, took to the air to count twice, in the first and final periods, on long, spectacular passing plays. Charlie Harrington went 66 yards for the first after taking a pass from Dick Working, and Vic Marler traveled 48 for the second, also on a flip from Working.

There was never a chance it would be a contest. Army smashed 41 yards in four plays to score the first time it got hold of the ball. Next time, three minutes later, it was 43 yards in four thrusts through the General's porus line. After that came the deluge.

Three more times in the second Army's stampeding backs swept to touchdowns, one of them on a 73-yard pass play from Arnold Galiffa to Rudy Cosentino.

Victory Over Duke Enables Georgia Tech To Preserve Unbeaten Record

By Chick Hosch

ATLANTA, Nov. 1. —(AP)— Georgia Tech marched to a touchdown in the first six minutes here today and then repulsed the Duke Blue Devils after that to preserve an undefeated football record and win handily, 7-0.

Except for the brilliant punting of Duke's Fred Folger, and wholly ineffective punting by Tech backs, the score might have been considerably larger despite the fact that rain fell during most of the game. It was Tech's sixth straight victory and Duke's first defeat.

The Yellow Jackets threw the Blue Devils back twice in the shadow of the goal, once when the visitors had second down with two yards to go for a score, and again when they failed by inches to make a first down at the Tech five.

The first time the Jackets got the ball they went 63 yards to a score. Jim Still put Tech in a hole midway of the opening period, and the Jackets stayed there until just before the half was up, when Duke recovered his fumble at the Tech 33. A penalty put it on the 15 and Folger ran to the three. Tech's great line threw the Duke backs for four consecutive losses and took over at the 16.

The third period was pretty much a repetition of the second with the Jackets kicking into the wind and then holding the Blue Devils at midfield, forcing Folger to punt again and again.

UNDEFEATED SPRINGHILL CLUBS HOMER PELS, 7-0

SPRINGHILL, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Playing before a large homecoming crowd Friday night the Springhill Lumberjacks defeated the Homer Pelicans by the score of 7-0 to remain undefeated and untied for the season.

The Lumberjacks started fast and dominated play throughout the first half. Midway in the first period Junior quick-kicked 55 yards to put Homer in the hole that eventually led to the lone touchdown for the Jacks.

S. M. U. SLAPS TEXAS FROM UNBEATEN RANKS

WALKER SPARKS PONIES TO BARE 14-TO-13 VICTORY

Layne Stands Out For Steers, But Unable To Offset Mustang Ace

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Magnificent Doak Walker passed, ran and kicked Southern Methodist to a 14-13 victory over Texas today in a thrilling offensive duel that left the Methodist the only undefeated, untied team in the great southwest.

The chunky little man from Dallas bested Bobby Layne, his schoolboy rival of yesterday, in the heralded individual battle of stars. But even in defeat Layne, Texas' passin' man, was a glittering standout of a battle that had a crowd of 45,000 in a continuous uproar.

A Walker pass set up the first touchdown and he took a pass to lead to the other, then he planted both extra points between the goal posts as S. M. U. took over leadership in the Southwest Conference race and started eyeing the Cotton Bowl where the conference champions is the host team.

The Methodists broke in front three minutes after the game started and never were headed although Texas drew into a tie early in the second period. It was short-lived, however.

Paul Page romped 81 yards with a hand-off from Frank Payne on the opening kickoff racing to the Texas 19-yard line and it required only six plays for S. M. U. to score. Three line tries failed but Walker passed to Dick McKissack on the four. McKissack made a yard at the line then Walker handed off to Page who circled left end for the score.

Layne passes led to both Texas touchdowns.

Late in the first period, after Byron Gillory ran a punt back to the Southern Methodist 32, Layne pitched to Dale Schwartzkopf for eight and to Max Bumgardner for a first down in the S. M. U. 13. Jim Canady hit left guard for four. Tom Landry tapped left guard to drive to the three. Canady then made two at right guard and Landry climbed over the same position for the score. Frank Guess kicked the extra point.

Southern Methodist grabbed the lead back midway of the second period. It was on a 73-yard drive with a 54-yard pass play from Gilbert Johnson to Walker eating up most of the distance. Walker was knocked out of bounds on the Texas one-yard line by Gillory. McKissack crashed center for the touchdown.

The final Texas score came early in the fourth period. Texas drove from its 28-yard line on Layne's great passing. First he flipped to Schwartzkopf for 21 yards, then to Peppy Blount for 26. Three line tries failed and Layne passed to Gillory for a touchdown. Guess' try for extra point was wide.

ISTROUMA, BOGALUSA IMPRESSIVE IN SOUTH, TORNADO TOPS NORTH

(By Associated Press)

Istrouma and Bogalusa put on football exhibitions Friday night which gave other elevens in Louisiana's Class AA High School circles something to worry about.

Pouring it on, Istrouma walloped Bolton, 48 to 0, while Bogalusa was toying with Jonesboro-Hodge, 46 to 0.

Thus the two elevens moved along toward the clash Nov. 14 which will decide the southeast district race—and maybe the state championship.

In the north district, Haynesville stomped Byrd, 32 to 0, to take over the lead at this point. Fair Park turned in a 21 to 0 triumph over Bossier City.

Beaten twice by Double A opponents, Sulphur of the southwest district derived some satisfaction from a 25 to 6 victory over De Ridder.

Two other southwest elevens played thrillers. Jennings was held even in the first half, but managed to score over St. James of Port Arthur, Texas, 27 to 20. Lake Charles, invading Texas, fought Corpus Christi to a 26 to 26 deadlock.

The only New Orleans double A eleven to see action was Nicholls, which went to Lafayette and downed the home team, 21 to 0.

The important prep league clash between Warren Easton and Holy Cross was postponed, because of rain, until Sunday night.

AMERICANS LEAP AHEAD IN RYDER CUP GOLF EVENT

U. S Aces Make Clean Sweep For 1st Day's Matches With British

By Russ Newland

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1.—(AP)—America scored a grand slam over Britain today in the opening of the Ryder Cup golf series, racking up four points to none in Scotch foursome matches ranging from routs to sensational comebacks.

The first day's test of the international golfing classic, revived after a ten year's lapse, brought U. S. Open Champion Lew Worsham and Ed Oliver a lopsided 10 and 9 win over Britain's captain, Henry Cotton and his partner, Arthur Lees.

Americans Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum, both former champions, continued the battering attack against the best from the isles across the waters by defeating Fred Daly, British open and pro title holder, and Charles Ward, 6 and 5.

Ben Hogan, captain of the Americans and Jimmy Demaret, made a thrilling uphill fight to win from James Adams and Max Faulkner, 2 up.

In the fourth encounter of the two-ball events, each player hitting alternate shots, Byron Nelson, once kingpin of American golf, teamed up with Herman Barron to take the measure of Dai Rees and Samuel King, 2 and 1.

Nelson, who came out of retirement for the renewal of the trans-Atlantic competition, and his partner, Barron, also had to come from behind before scoring a hard fought win.

Their opponents, Rees and King, led the match until the 29th hole where Nelson dropped a 15-foot putt to even the count. The Americans grabbed the next two and held the advantage to the last.

The early outlook for Hogan and Demaret was even blacker. Adams and Faulkner teamed well to hold a substantial 4 up lead at the 9th and retained a 2 up margin through the 18th. The American twosome started playing the kind of golf they are capable of on the third nine, chalking up a two-under par 33 to pick up four holes. They moved into the lead for the first time at the 25th and at the 27th held a 2 up margin.

The Britishers, still fighting, evened the match at the 33rd but saw hopes vanish as Hogan and Demaret combined their shots to take the 34th and the 36th in the final close-out.

VANDY RUNS UP EARLY SCORE TO BEAT AUBURN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Vanderbilt put on a first half scoring spree then coasted the rest of the way today to defeat Auburn 28 to 0 in a miserable drizzle on rainsoaked Dudley Field.

The Commodores, overwhelming pre-game favorites over their Southeastern Conference foe, had command of the situation from the very start. They put across two touchdowns in each of the first and second periods.

The Commodores appeared to lose their inspiration in the second half while Auburn's showed a corresponding increase.

With Bobby Berry doing most of the lugging, the Commodores took the opening kickoff and rolled to their first score, Jim Baughn taking it over on a pass from Berry. Bernie Rohling scored the other Commodore first period marker with a slithering 21 yard jaunt off tackle.

Late in the first period an Auburn fumble was recovered by Vanderbilt on the Plainsman 23. Then shortly after the second stanza opened Dean Davidson hit the line for the score.

By Fritz Howell

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Notre Dame's alert and magnificently equipped gridders turned three Navy fumbles and an intercepted pass into touchdowns today to sink the Middies, 27 to 0, and rolled on toward the national championship with their fifth straight conquest.

The South Bend sensations scored in each of the first three periods. Only a fumble on the goal line kept them from hitting pay dirt in the final stanza with a lineup of third and fourth stringers.

With Quarterbacks Johnny Lujack and Frank Tripucka doing the tossing the Notre Dames hit the airlines for 263 yards, completing 18 of 27 attempts, two for touchdowns.

Navy's oft-beaten team also was forced to the skies as its ground game was held to 112 yards, and the Middies bit off 139 yards overhead although connecting on only nine of 28 attempts. The Irish had a 17 to 10 edge in first downs, getting 11 through the air to four for Navy.

The payoff came early when Leon Hart picked up Bob Schwoefferman's fumble on the Navy 47. Two plays later Lujack tossed 29 yards to Halfback Jimmy Brennan in the end zone.

In the second period, backed up against his own goal line by Dick Scott's 55 yard punt to the five, Lujack faked a pass and skirted end for 67 yards, only to fumble and lose the ball when hit. Fullback Bill Hawkins fumbled, Guard John Frampton recovering. Two plays later Tripucka passed 31 yards to Hart for the second Irish marker.

Another break in the third period paid off. Hart again grabbed a fumble by Horne on the Irish 46 to set up a score. Brennan crashed over from the one.

A couple of plays later Bob Livingstone of Notre Dame intercepted one of Horne's passes on the Navy 42 and scampered all the way for the final counter.

The lineups:

FAIR PARK INDIANS BEAT BOSSIER CITY BEARKATS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—After playing a scoreless first half the Fair Park Indians, led by Lee Hedges and Buddy Crain, turned on their offensive power and handed the Bossier Bearkats a 21-0 defeat last night on the Fair Grounds gridiron before a crowd of approximately 6,500 persons.

Hedges made the difference between the two teams and his running, passing and defensive work stood out above that of any other player on the field.

The first Fair Park touchdown came on a 60-yard march after the halftime kickoff. Hedges paving the way with a 43-yard aerial and another five-yard pass which went for a six pointer. Crain took in the scoring pass. Francis Baker converted.

The Indians pushed across their second score early in the final period with Hedges going over from the seven-yard line. Baker again converted the extra point.

Hedges again threw a touchdown pass in the fourth quarter, this time it was a 43-yard aerial to Clinton Gwinn.

Bossier threatened in the first period when it marched 88 yards to the Fair Park one-inch line. Yarborough went over into pay dirt but the play was nullified by a five-yard backfield in motion penalty.

NEVILLE FRESHMEN PLAY MINDEN SCORELESS TIE

The Neville High School freshmen, after nosing out the Winnsboro frosh last Monday, 14-13, journeyed to Minden yesterday afternoon to battle the Minden "B" team to a scoreless tie on a wet field.

Coach J. O. Claudel's Tiger Cubs made the most first downs, 9 to 3, and his Neville boys intercepted three Minden passes, but Billy Heindrich saved the day for the locals when he outraced a Minden back who broke into the clear in the third quarter, and stopped the little Crimson back on the Tiger 30.

Vallery, Jimmy Choate, and Charles Martin played outstanding ball in the Neville line while W. T. Brown, Heindrich, Guy DuPriest, and Tommy Meeks stoodout in the backfield.

The Tiger Cubs meet Winnsboro here in their next game November 10.

PLAIN DEALING'S LIONS SWAMP ARCADIA, 40-20

PLAIN DEALING, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Plain Dealing Lions swamped the Arcadia Hornets, 40-20, last night on the local gridiron.

The superior Lion team outplayed their scrappy opponent throughout the encounter and Captain Seth Arnold gave the crowd a great show with his passing. Robert McKeller proved to be a capable pass catcher for the versatile Plain Dealing tosser.

G. A. Chandler, captain of one Arcadia team and Bobby Simmons supplied the offensive power for the visitors while Shelton Henry, tackle, stood out on the defense. James Coile was the defensive star for the Lions.

O'CONNOR PLANS LONE HAND FIGHT AGAINST RULING

Other American League Clubs Leave Dispute Up To Chisox, Chandler

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Shorn of support by seven other American League clubs, Chicago White Sox General Manager Leslie M. O'Connor plans an unprecedented "lone hand" assault on Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to escape a $500 fine and suspension for signing a high school southpaw pitcher.

The Chicago official, following a six-hour closed session yesterday in which the junior loop's club owners voted to replace him on baseball's executive council, said he would seek a restraining order against the commissioner's edict in Cincinnati's federal court next week.

Chandler, notified of the league's 7-0 vote to replace O'Connor, declared at his Versailles, Ky., home, that 'naturally, I am appreciative of the confidence the American League has shown in me." The commisioner had requested President Will Harridge of the American League to name a replacement for O'Connor to participate in the Nov. 6-7 executive council session at Cincinnati, if the Chicago official were unable to act due to the suspension.

At Chicago White Sox Publicity Director Ward Stevens said O'Connor had Commissioner Chandler "in a vise and there's nothing he (Chandler) can do about it. The club can't lose, no matter what the other American League officials did."

President Harridge, summing up the six-hour session, declared:

"From now on, any action is Mr. O'Connor's personal business, and that of the White Sox. Like any business, baseball is anxious to stay out of the courts, but the American League cannot prevent any member club from going into court.

"Speaking as the league's president, we recognize Commisisoner Chandler's interpretation of the rules, and the league will not be a party to any court action."

O'Connor bases his case on the premise that the White Sox did not violate baseball rules in signing 17-year-old George Zoeterman of Chicago's Christian High School, since that institution is not a member of the National Federation of High Schools. Baseball laws says students of federation schools may not be signed, but Chandler, in two bulletins issued earlier this year, ruled that students of all high schools are under the contract ban. O'Connor disputes Chandler's broadening of the rule interpretation.

O'Connor and the White Sox club were suspended Oct. 29 for failure to pay a $500 fine levied Sept. 26 for the signing of the young left-hander.

Harridge told reporters that, although the club owners discussed the case at length during the long session, they "did not take a stand on whether Mr. O'Connor is right or wrong in this controversy."

Clark Griffith of Washington, represented at the session by his son, Calvin, said he would stick by the ruling of Chandler, while Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, said he thought O'Connor should not try to involve seven other American League clubs in a controversy with the commissioner.

Jack Curtis Offers George Craig Shot At World's Wrestling Title

Light Heavyweight Championship At Stake At Kallio's Tuesday

A match Twin City wrestling fans had begun to doubt they would ever see, a world's championship match between those two pals of the mat circuits, Jack Curtis and George Craig, has been billed for Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena here.

Friendship ceases for the two ring warriors, however, when Curtis, the classy Vicksburg, Miss., champion, puts his world's light heavyweight title on the line against the challenge of Craig, Tulsa, Okla., tussler who holds the Louisiana state light-heavy belt.

Only the crown worn by Curtis will be in jeopardy Tuesday, Kallio announced. Even if Craig should fail to dethrone Curtis he will still be recognized as the state champion.

"It took a lot of talking to get this match ready," Kallio said last night. "Curtis and Craig have never met as opponents in the ring, but both are top flight light-heavies and Craig certainly deserves a chance at the world's title if anybody does."

"I think a lot of Craig as a friend and as a wrestler," Curtis told Kallio, "but he's entitled to the match if he wants it, and I shouldn't object. However, Craig shouldn't be counting too strong on victory for I certainly intend to keep the belt as long as I can."

Craig, who has held the Louisiana state title longer than any other wrestler, is anxious to win the big belt as well.

"Regardless of how I feel about Curtis all friendship ceases when we line up in opposite corners," Craig declared. "We've given each other our support in previous matches and worked from the same corner in tag matches, but it's every man for himself this trip."

In anticipation of one of his largest attendances of the fall season, Promoter Kallio also announced the advanced sale of tickets for the match will get underway tomorrow morning.

Curtis and Craig will battle over a 90-minute time limit distance with two falls to win.

The supporting cast will bring together Billy Sandow, Miami, Fla., against Chico Ortis, rowdy Haiwaiian battler, in the semi-final event. The curtain-raiser, beginning at 8 o'clock, will have an hour time limit with two falls to win.

GENERALS FALL TO ARMY, 65-13

Blaik Cleans Bench But Cadets Continue To Run Up Big Score

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Coach Earl (Red) Blaik of Army threw 48 players into a mission of mercy today, but when the carnage finally ended his black-clad cadets had run up a fearful 65-to-13 score over an outclassed Washington and Lee eleven.

The farther the Army mentor dug into his reserves the farther his pupils ran to score against the Generals from Virginia. The last play of the one-sided contest saw Bob Vinson, approximately a third stringer, race 97 yards for a touchdown after intercepting a pass.

Washington and Lee, helpless to gain on the ground through Army's powerful line, took to the air to count twice, in the first and final periods, on long, spectacular passing plays. Charlie Harrington went 66 yards for the first after taking a pass from Dick Working, and Vic Marler traveled 48 for the second, also on a flip from Working.

There was never a chance it would be a contest. Army smashed 41 yards in four plays to score the first time it got hold of the ball. Next time, three minutes later, it was 43 yards in four thrusts through the General's porus line. After that came the deluge.

Three more times in the second Army's stampeding backs swept to touchdowns, one of them on a 73-yard pass play from Arnold Galiffa to Rudy Cosentino.

ENGINEERS NOSE OUT BLUE DEVILS BY 7 TO 0 COUNT

By Chick Hosch

ATLANTA, Nov. 1. —(AP)— Georgia Tech marched to a touchdown in the first six minutes here today and then repulsed the Duke Blue Devils after that to preserve an undefeated football record and win handily, 7-0.

Except for the brilliant punting of Duke's Fred Folger, and wholly ineffective punting by Tech backs, the score might have been considerably larger despite the fact that rain fell during most of the game. It was Tech's sixth straight victory and Duke's first defeat.

The Yellow Jackets threw the Blue Devils back twice in the shadow of the goal, once when the visitors had second down with two yards to go for a score, and again when they failed by inches to make a first down at the Tech five.

The first time the Jackets got the ball they went 63 yards to a score. Jim Still put Tech in a hole midway of the opening period, and the Jackets stayed there until just before the half was up, when Duke recovered his fumble at the Tech 33. A penalty put it on the 15 and Folger ran to the three, Tech's great line threw the Duke backs for four consecutive losses and took over at the 16.

The third period was pretty much a repetition of the second with the Jackets kicking into the wind and then holding the Blue Devils at midfield, forcing Folger to punt again and again.

UNDEFEATED SPRINGHILL CLUBS HOMER PELS, 7-0

SPRINGHILL, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Playing before a large homecoming crowd Friday night the Springhill Lumberjacks defeated the Homer Pelicans by the score of 7-0 to remain undefeated and untied for the season.

The Lumberjacks started fast and dominated play throughout the first half. Midway in the first period Junior quick-kicked 55 yards to put Homer in the hole that eventually led to the lone touchdown for the Jacks.

N. J. C. INVADES MAGNOLIA A. AND M. THIS WEEK

FIRST INVASION TRIP FOR TRIBE DUE THIS WEEK

Indians Renew Rivalry With Muleriders Saturday; Great Lakes Out

After playing six consecutive games on their home stamping grounds, the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians make their first invasion trip of the season next week-end when they journey to Magnolia, Ark., for a game with the Arkansas A. and M. Muleriders Saturday night.

The game, originally one of two road scraps for the Redskins, now is the only regularly scheduled battle away from home this year for the five times victorious Tribesmen. The contest slated to be played with Great Lakes Navy at Chicago on November 21 has been cancelled, leaving the Indians idle for two open dates before facing Alabama State College in their final battle here the afternoon of Thanksgiving day.

Coach James L. Malone announced the Great Lakes game has been lost because of the disbanding of the service eleven. The Indian mentor was notified by telegram of the situation at Great Lakes and the fact that the Chicago navy base would be unable to meet its obligations.

In defeating University of Tennessee Junior College, 32 to 0, here Friday night in a rousing scramble that was harder fought than the score indicates, the Redmen concluded their campaign against junior college talent. They will be playing against four-year institutions the rest of the way.

Although the Indians came out of their Junior Volunteer scrap badly bruised and not without some casualties, they appear as the favored club for the Saturday game. Magnolia A. and M. was one of the Tribe's two victims last year when the Indians lost seven games, and this year's Redskin machine is a smoother functioning outfit with a classy line and a set of speedy backs.

Beaten only by Kilgore, Tex., Junior College, the N. J. C. eleven seems certain to get some sort of recognition nationally when the growing list of junior college bowl game sponsors start looking for representatives. The Tribe boosted its stock considerably in beating Tennessee Junior College, and, if successful against Arkansas A. and M. and the Alabama eleven, can begin entertaining ideas about post-season play.

Chappuis, a marked man, averaged 3.5 in 18 attempts and completed three passes in seven tosses for 73 yards. Two of his pitches were stolen.

Steger averaged 5.7 yards in 18 carries and Moss hit on nine out of 19 aerials for 70 yards.

EAST CENTRAL TUMBLES BEFORE HINDS, 20 TO 7

RAYMOND, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Jim Glisson and Nick Digirolama teamed up for Hinds Junior College here to down East Central Junior College, of Decatur, 20-7, in a fast-paced football game.

Digirolama accounted for two of Hinds' touchdowns, charging over from the 30 yard line on one and snagging a 48-yard pass from Gilsson for another. Glisson combined a fine throwing arm and a neat running game to spark his squad to victory, making the first score himself on a 30 yard sprint. Tennell kicked both extra points.

A pass in the last minute of play, Farmer to Sessums, was good for 40 yards and an east Central touchdown. Howell converted.

MICHIGAN

Penn State used its entire squad in routing Colgate, 46 to 0, and Penn got a measure of revenge for last year's spectacular upset by grinding down Princeton, 26 to 7.

Southern California virtually clinched the Rose Bowl berth opposite Michigan by defeating Washington, 19 to 0, as the surprising California Bears spilled UCLA, 6 to 0.

Michigan's triumph gave Bob Chappuis and his playmates a tight grip on the Big Nine laurels but a revived Wisconsin eleven moved into contention with a 29 to 0 verdict over crippled Northwestern. Third place now is occupied by Purdue, whose Boilermakers shackled Iowa, 21 to 0. Indiana shoved Ohio State into the loop cellar, 7 to 0, and Minnesota bounced Pittsburgh, 29 to 0, in a non-conference affair.

Missouri took over the big six lead with a rousing 47 to 6 conquest of Nebraska and Kansas remained in the unbeaten list with a 55 to 0 rout of neighboring Kansas state. Oklahoma celebrated its homecoming with a 27 to 9 verdict over Iowa State.

Alabama, with Harry Gilmer doing the passing and Lowell Tew the running, ended its football relations with Kentucky by downing the Wildcats, a September Southeast Conference title prospect, by a 13 to 0 score. Shorty McWilliams helped Mississippi State to a 20 to 0 edge over Tulane.

Vanderbilt's defense minded Commodores had absolutely no trouble with Auburn, 20 to 0, and moved into temporary third place.

William and Mary climbed into third place in the southern circuit by surprising Wake Forest, 21 to 0, while Duke and Washington and Lee, circuit leaders, were spilled in their non-conference skirmishes. North Carolina, a title possibility, knocked off Tennessee, 20 to 6, and Furman bowed to Florida, 34 to 7. Maryland lambasted West Virginia, 27 to 0. Vernon Morgan, newly re-instated, played for Richmond but his team lost to Virginia, 34 to 0.

Levi Jackson showed some of his 1946 form as Yale thrashed Dartmouth 23 to 14. All the Eli points were made in the first three quarters before the losers found the counting station. Boston College and Boston University romped to easy triumphs, the former pasting Georgetown, 27 to 6, and the latter taking Fordham, 26 to 6. Harvard was dumped by Rutgers, 31 to 7.

Columbia, whose passes defeated Army a week ago, moved on the ground today and whipped Cornell, 22 to 0.

Rice finally found a team it could beat, knocking off Texas Tech, 40 to 7. Arkansas and Texas A. and M. struggled through a 21 to 21 deadlock and Texas Christian turned back Baylor, 14 to 7.

Utah moved to the front of the class in the Big Seven with 13 to 7 conquest of second place Colorado.

In intersectional affairs, Detroit kept Herman Wedemeyer and his St. Mary's in check, 19 to 6, and Oklahoma A. and M.'s well-rounded attack was too much for Temple, 26 to 0.

REB ACE SCORES THREE TIMES TO DEFEAT BENGALS

Bobby Oswalt's Place kicking Gives Mississippi Victory Margin

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Charley Conerly scored three touchdowns in a brilliant exhibition tonight to give the University of Mississippi a 20 to 18 football victory over Louisiana State and further his claims for all-America honors.

The masterly Conerly counted twice in a second period surge which gave Mississippi a 13 to 6 lead at the half. But he reached the heights in the final period when he took command of a 73-yard scoring drive that choked off a furious Louisiana rally and saved the game for Ole Miss.

On that last splurge, Conerly completed two passes, then burst loose on a 26-yard scoring sortie.

Bobby Oswalt's placekicking was the scoring difference. He made good on two out of three, but Holly Heard, Louisiana giant tackle, missed all three.

The speedy L. S. U. eleven scored once the first time it got its hands on the ball on a 49-yard march climaxed by Rip Collins' one-yard plunge.

Mississippi's two second period six-pointers came on drives of 59 and 11 yards. Bobby Wilson set up the second by intercepting a pass from Y. A. Tittle and running back 20 yards. Conerly made both touchdowns on one-yard plunges.

Louisiana State came within a point of tying it up in the fourth on a 52-yard advance, with Collins going around end for the final five.

Then came Conerly's game-saving attack.

Louisiana counted in the late minutes on a 47-yard drive. Ray Coates passed 11 yards to Joe Leach for the touchdown.

stepped up before the committee and said:

"If the farmer is the backbone of the world, as some folks say, and this farm program expires next year, the world is going to have a very weak backbone." To stress his point, Brooks added:

"Way back yonder, in my county, there was a fellow that when his crops didn't look good his wife left him. But when these parity payments came in his wife came back."

Some rural people appeared nervous at present prices, but most contended the farmer's price is not out of line with other segments of the economy.

For the future, the farmers put greatest emphasis on preservation and improvement of the soil.

At Kansas City, a Missouri farmer, George H. Christopher, told the committee members of congress "ought to be ashamed of yourselves" for cutting next year's soil conservation payments from $300,000,000 to $150,000,000.

The farmers were not quite sure as a group whether they prefer a government guaranteed price at 90 per cent of parity, with acreage allotments, or a flexible price guarantee whereby the latter, if adopted, would be used to discourage overproduction and would embody less likelihood of acreage production controls.

Parity now is a price formula for agricultural products calculated to give the farmer a purchasing power equal to some past favorable period for agriculture. Farmers differed on the question of revising or "modernizing" the formula.

In addition to the major subjects of a future farm program, various farmers urged:

1. Expansion of rural electrification;
2. Crop insurance;
3. A government office to assure farmers adequate labor;
4. A general program to improve farm life so as to attract young people to stay on the land.

MAN O' WAR DIES AT AGE OF 30

Man O' War, America's best known thoroughbred, familiarly known throughout the turf world as "Big Red," died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 30 years. The famous race horse, pictured above, was beaten only once during his reign on the nation's tracks, and as a stallion sired more money-winners than any other American sire. The great horse, which died on the Faraway Farm of Samuel D. Riddle at Lexington, Ky., established five world's records during his racing career but was never a Kentucky Derby winner, having never entered the blue grass classic.

MAN O' WAR

paddocks where he had lived for most of his 30 years.

Patrick O'Neill, farm manager, said the horse "hadn't been right" for the last month. He suffered three attacks before his death.

O'Neill said Man o' War would be interred Monday in his private paddock at the base of a statue that will be erected. A French sculptor, Herbert Kaseltine, was commissioned to do the big horse in bronze and is expected to finish the work by early spring.

Man o' War's life span was compared to the equivalent of 105 years in a person.

Riddle, who remained the horse's greatest fan, purchased him as a yearling. He paid the late August Belmont $5,000 for the son of Fair Play-Mahubah.

Riddle immediately foresaw the potentialities of his yearling and heaped attention upon him from the outset.

Man o' War repaid his owner, winning 20 of his 21 starts and going undefeated as a three-year-old.

His lone defeat was by Upset in the Sanford at Saratoga. Man o' War recovered from a bad start and pulled out of close quarters in the stretch to come within a half-length of winning that one too.

When Man o' War raced there was little or no betting. In the Belmont stakes as a three year old the odds closed at 1 to 100.

In nine of his 21 starts he carried 130 or more pounds and once carried 138. He raced at distances of five furlongs to a mile and five-eighths and seemed to delight in outdistancing his foes. He once won a race by nearly a quarter of a mile.

Handicappers consistently assigned high weights to him and this was one reason Riddle retired him.

"I was told," Riddle once said, "that he could carry more weight than any other horse had ever carried before. I knew such weight would break down his legs so I retired him."

Man o' War's get earned in the neighborhood of $3,250,000, and five of them grossed more than $100,000 each.

He sired foals of 336 mares. His last stakes winner was Fairy Manhurst out of Star Fairy, foaled in 1940.

An internal hemorrhage in 1942 led to the big fellow being retired from the stud.

But his public continued to visit him and more than 50,000 persons a year called at Faraway.

His late groom, Will Harbut, who was ever near the plutocrat of the pastures for 15 years, described him as the "mostest hoss in the world."

But Harbut's illness broke up the "friendship" more than a year ago and a few weeks ago the groom preceded him in death, the victim of a stroke.

ONE KILLED

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident, police said.

The automobile was demolished, but the gravel truck, owned by W. T. Norred of West Monroe, was only slightly damaged, police said.

In the second accident, L. M. Taylor, 20, Bobby Walker, 15, Thomas Walker, about 20, and Edman Whitlock, 16, all of Calhoun, were injured at about 8 p. m., when their 1934 Ford crashed into the back end of a cement mixing truck on U. S. 80 directly in front of Patsy's Steak House about three-fourths of a mile west of West Monroe.

Thomas Walker, who suffered internal injuries and a fractured skull, was described by the attending physician as in an "extremely critical" condition.

Walker's cousin, Bobby Walker, sustained a fractured skull and concussion, but was given a good chance of recovering. Whitlock's hand was broken, and Taylor suffered a number of bruises and lacerations, the physician said.

Taylor, driver of the car, was quoted by state police as saying that the cement truck had no tail light. He said that he and his companions were en route to Monroe.

The troopers said that the truck had a tail light fixture but apparently it was not in working order. The driver, Ralph Nations, 24, of Haynesville, was not charged, pending further investigation, police said.

The four youths were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium in Mulhearn ambulances.

The third accident, also occurring about 8 p. m., took place when a north and a southbound car collided on the Sterlington road about four miles north of Monroe.

Injured were E. R. Lewis, 39, of Sterlington, who suffered shock, concussion, and lacerations, and N. M. Bean, 27, of Bonita, who suffered a lacerated scalp and concussion.

Reconstructing the accident, state police said tire marks and the positions of the two cars indicated that Lewis, en route home in a 1931 Ford, cut back onto the road after slipping off the shoulder, and crashed into Bean's 1939 Studebaker Champion in which he was driving to Monroe.

At the St. Francis Sanitarium, where he was taken by state police, Bean said that the road was slick and that with the mist obscuring his vision, he was unable to determine what had happened. Lewis, taken to the Sanitarium by a Hixson Brothers ambulance, also was not able to give an account of the accident.

The body of Mrs. Collie will be taken this afternoon to the residence where it will remain until 1:30 p. m. Monday when the funeral procession will leave for services at the First Baptist Church of West Monroe at 2 p. m. Dr. E. A. Autrey, assisted by the Rev. E. L. Tanner will officiate. Interment will be made in the Hasley cemetery under the direction of the Mulhearn funeral home.

Mrs. Collie is survived by her husband, John Collie, a West Monroe barber; her mother, Mrs. Sally Jernigan of West Monroe; four sisters, Mrs. Inez Owens of Hanford, Calif., Mrs. Mildred Malone, Mrs. W. E. Bolton, and Miss Stella Jernigan all of West Monroe; five brothers, L. R. Jernigan of Indianola, Miss., L. A. Jernigan, H. H. Jernigan, and R. A. Jernigan, all of Port Arthur, Tex., and Quintus Jernigan of West Monroe.

The name of the person identifying Bohannon was not released.

The fugitive, well-dressed at the time of his capture, not only admitted the three murders, but bragged about others, Munford said. Bohannon at first refused to talk, but admitted his identity when F. B. I. officials began comparing his fingerprints with those of the escape.

Bohannon was convicted of the slaying of two deputy sheriffs and a prison guard, according to the F. B. I. Munford said the fugitive once before had escaped from the Oklahoma prison.

Oklahoma authorities were notified tonight of the arrest, Munford said.

CALIFORNIA SNAGS UCLANS' BOWL BID

U. C. L. A. Handed First Pacific Conference Defeat By 6-0 Score

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The U. C. L. A. Bruins' Rose Bowl football stock took a big drop today and California stepped up a notch as the battering Bears from Berkeley smacked over the Uclans, 6 to 0, in a see-saw battle that was decided in the final quarter.

Bounding back from their 39-7 shellacking by Southern California a week ago, the big Bears put on an 80 yard uninterrupted drive in the early minutes of the fourth period and scored the six points that gave the favored little brother Bruins of Los Angeles their first defeat in Pacific Coast Conference play and jolted their chances of staging a repeat performance in Pasadena's rose rimmed saucer New Year's day.

A victory by U. C. L. A. over Southern California here November 22 would throw the conference race into a deadlock however.

Today's bitter but cleanly fought battle was played before 80,266 fans short of the over 90,000 expected as the gate sale failed to materialize.

There was no luck involved in the Bear scoring drive. With Bob Celeri tossing one pass 15 yards, Jack Swaner belting the line for a 25 yard gain, and John Graves adding more misery to the Bruin forwards, the Bears reached the U. C. L. A. two yard line in some 13 plays—and then Graves swept of this own left end for the winning tally.

must be approved by the full assembly. However, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky announced that he would speak again.

Last year the assembly invited South Africa to place the Southwest Territory under trusteeship after refusing to approve a plan for the Union government to annex the area. No action was taken in the intervening year and the government of Prime Minister J. C. Smutts has been accused of ignoring an assembly decision.

The case was threshed out in lengthy debate in the trusteeship committee which finally passed, 27 to 21, the resolution setting a one-year limit on compliance. The Soviet and Arab blocs were among those backing the plan with such countries as the U. S., Britain, France, Belgium and the Netherlands in opposition.

Other developments:

1. Britain was reported to have objected to the American suggestion that the London government continue to have responsibility for law and order in Palestine pending the proposed creation of independent Jewish and Arab states next July 1 under a partition proposal. British sources said the objection did not constitute rejection, however, and the final decision would have to be made in London.

2. The assembly approved over Russian objections Austria's membership in the International Civil Aviation organization. Italy previously has been approved.

N. J. C. INVADES MAGNOLIA A. AND M. THIS WEEK

FIRST INVASION TRIP FOR TRIBE DUE THIS WEEK

Indians Renew Rivalry With Muleriders Saturday; Great Lakes Out

After playing six consecutive games on their home stamping grounds, the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians make their first invasion trip of the season next week-end when they journey to Magnolia, Ark., for a game with the Arkansas A. and M. Muleriders Saturday night.

The game, originally one of two road scraps for the Redskins, now is the only regularly scheduled battle away from home this year for the five times victorious Tribesmen. The contest slated to be played with Great Lakes Navy at Chicago on November 21 has been cancelled, leaving the Indians idle for two open dates before facing Alabama State College in their final battle here the afternoon of Thanksgiving day.

Coach James L. Malone announced the Great Lakes game has been lost because of the disbanding of the service eleven. The Indian mentor was notified by telegram of the situation at Great Lakes and the fact that the Chicago navy base would be unable to meet its obligations.

In defeating University of Tennessee Junior College, 32 to 0, here Friday night in a rousing scramble that was harder fought than the score indicates, the Redmen concluded their campaign against junior college talent. They will be playing against four-year institutions the rest of the way.

Although the Indians came out of their Junior Volunteer scrap badly bruised and not without some casualties, they appear as the favored club for the Saturday game. Magnolia A. and M. was one of the Tribe's two victims last year when the Indians lost seven games, and this year's Redskin machine is a smoother functioning outfit with a classy line and a set of speedy backs.

Beaten only by Kilgore, Tex., Junior College, the N. J. C. eleven seems certain to get some sort of recognition nationally when the growing list of junior college bowl game sponsors start looking for representatives. The Tribe boosted its stock considerably in beating Tennessee Junior College, and, if successful against Arkansas A. and M. and the Alabama eleven, can begin entertaining ideas about post-season play.

Digirolama accounted for two of Hinds' touchdowns, charging over from the 30 yard line on one and snagging a 43-yard pass from Glisson for another. Glisson combined a fine throwing arm and a neat running game to spark his squad to victory, making the first score himself on a 30 yard sprint. Tennell kicked both extra points.

In intersectional affairs, Detroit kept Herman Wedemeyer and his St. Mary's in check, 19 to 6, and Oklahoma A. and M.'s well-rounded attack was too much for Temple, 26 to 0.

REB ACE SCORES THREE TIMES TO DEFEAT BENGALS

Bobby Oswalt's Place kicking Gives Mississippi Victory Margin

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Charley Conerly scored three touchdowns in a brilliant exhibition tonight to give the University of Mississippi a 20 to 18 football victory over Louisiana State and further his claims for all-America honors.

The masterly Conerly counted twice in a second period surge which gave Mississippi a 13 to 6 lead at the half.

But he reached the heights in the final period when he took command of a 73-yard scoring drive that choked off a furious Louisiana rally and saved the game for Ole Miss.

On that last splurge, Conerly completed two passes, then burst loose on a 26-yard scoring sortie.

Bobby Oswalt's placekicking was the scoring difference. He made good on two out of three, but Holly Heard, Louisiana giant tackle, missed all three.

The speedy L. S. U. eleven scored once the first time it got its hands on the ball on a 49-yard march climaxed by Rip Collins' one-yard plunge.

Mississippi's two second period six-pointers came on drives of 59 and 11 yards. Bobby Wilson set up the second by intercepting a pass from Y. A. Tittle and running back 20 yards. Conerly made both touchdowns on one-yard plunges.

Louisiana State came within a point of tying it up in the fourth on a 52-yard advance, with Collins going around end for the final five.

Then came Conerly's game-saving attack.

Louisiana counted in the late minutes on a 47-yard drive. Ray Coates passed 11 yards to Joe Leach for the touchdown.

The lineups:

stepped up before the committee and said:

"If the farmer is the backbone of the world, as some folks say, and this farm program expires next year, the world is going to have a very weak backbone." To stress his point, Brooks added:

"Way back yonder, in my county, there was a fellow that when his crops didn't look good his wife left him. But when these parity payments came in his wife came back."

Some rural people appeared nervous at present prices, but most contended the farmer's price is not out of line with other segments of the economy.

For the future, the farmers put greatest emphasis on preservation and improvement of the soil.

At Kansas City, a Missouri farmer, George H. Christopher, told the committee members of congress "ought to be ashamed of yourselves" for cutting next year's soil conservation payments from $300,000,000 to $150,000,000.

The farmers were not quite sure as a group whether they prefer a government guaranteed price at 90 per cent of parity, with acreage allotments, or a flexible price guarantee whereby the latter, if adopted, would be used to discourage overproduction and would embody less likelihood of acreage production controls.

Parity now is a price formula for agricultural products calculated to give the farmer a purchasing power equal to some past favorable period for agriculture. Farmers differed on the question of revising or "modernizing" the formula.

In addition to the major subjects of a future farm program, various farmers urged:

1. Expansion of rural electrification;
2. Crop insurance;
3. A government office to assure farmers adequate labor;
4. A general program to improve farm life so as to attract young people to stay on the land.

MAN O' WAR DIES AT AGE OF 30

Man O' War, America's best known thoroughbred, familiarly known throughout the turf world as "Big Red," died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 30 years. The famous race horse, pictured above, was beaten only once during his reign on the nation's tracks, and as a stallion sired more money-winners than any other American sire. The great horse, which died on the Faraway Farm of Samuel D. Riddle at Lexington, Ky., established five world's records during his racing career but was never a Kentucky Derby winner, having never entered the blue grass classic.

paddocks where he had lived for most of his 30 years.

Patrick O'Neill, farm manager, said the horse "hadn't been right" for the last month. He suffered three attacks before his death.

O'Neill said Man o' War would be interred Monday in his private paddock at the base of a statue that will be erected. A French sculptor, Herbert Haseltine, was commissioned to do the big horse in bronze and is expected to finish the work by early spring.

Man o' War's life span was compared to the equivalent of 105 years in a person.

Riddle, who remained the horse's greatest fan, purchased him as a yearling. He paid the late August Belmont $5,000 for the son of Fair Play-Mahubah.

Riddle immediately foresaw the potentialities of his yearling and heaped attention upon him from the outset.

Man o' War repaid his owner, winning 20 of his 21 starts and going undefeated as a three-year-old.

His lone defeat was by Upset in the Sanford at Saratoga. Man o' War recovered from a bad start and pulled out of close quarters in the stretch to come within a half-length of winning that one too.

When Man o' War raced there was little or no betting. In the Belmont stakes as a three year old the odds closed at 1 to 100.

In nine of his 21 starts he carried 130 or more pounds and once carried 138. He raced at distances of five furlongs to a mile and five-eighths and seemed to delight in outdistancing his foes. He once won a race by nearly a quarter of a mile.

Handicappers consistently assigned high weights to him and this was one reason Riddle retired him.

"I was told," Riddle once said, "that he could carry more weight than any other horse had ever carried before. I knew such weight would break down his legs so I retired him.",

Man o' War's get earned in the neighborhood of $3,250,000, and five of them grossed more than $100,000 each.

He sired foals of 386 mares. His last stakes winner was Fairy Manhurst out of Star Fairy, foaled in 1940.

An internal hemorrhage in 1942 led to the big fellow being retired from the stud.

But his public continued to visit him and more than 50,000 persons a year called at Faraway.

His late groom, Will Harbut, who was ever near the plutocrat of the pastures for 15 years, described him as the "mostest hoss in the world."

But Harbut's illness broke up the "friendship" more than a year ago and a few weeks ago the groom preceded him in death, the victim of a stroke.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident, police said.

The automobile was demolished, but the gravel truck, owned by W. T. Norred of West Monroe, was only slightly damaged, police said.

In the second accident, L. M. Taylor, 20, Bobby Walker, 15, Thomas Walker, about 20, and Edman Whitlock, 16, all of Calhoun, were injured at about 8 p. m., when their 1934 Ford crashed into the back end of a cement mixing truck on U. S. 80 directly in front of Patsy's Steak House about three-fourths of a mile west of West Monroe.

Thomas Walker, who suffered internal injuries and a fractured skull, was described by the attending physician as in an "extremely critical" condition.

Walker's cousin, Bobby Walker, sustained a fractured skull and concussion, but was given a good chance of recovering. Whitlock's hand was broken, and Taylor suffered a number of bruises and lacerations, the physician said.

Taylor, driver of the car, was quoted by state police as saying that the cement truck had no tail light. He said that he and his companions were en route to Monroe.

The troopers said that the truck had a tail light fixture but apparently it was not in working order. The driver, Ralph Nations, 24, of Haynesville, was not charged, pending further investigation, police said.

The four youths were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium in Mulhearn ambulances.

The third accident, also occurring about 8 p. m., took place when a north and a southbound car collided on the Sterlington road about four miles north of Monroe.

Injured were E. R. Lewis, 39, of Sterlington, who suffered shock, concussion, and lacerations, and N. M. Bean, 27, of Bonita, who suffered a lacerated scalp and concussion.

Reconstructing the accident, state police said tire marks and the positions of the two cars indicated that Lewis, en route home in a 1931 Ford, cut back onto the road after slipping off the shoulder, and crashed into Bean's 1939 Studebaker Champion in which he was driving to Monroe.

At the St. Francis Sanitarium, where he was taken by state police, Bean said that the road was slick and that with the mist obscuring his vision, he was unable to determine what had happened. Lewis, taken to the Sanitarium by a Hixson Brothers ambulance, also was not able to give an account of the accident.

The body of Mrs. Collie will be taken this afternoon to the residence where it will remain until 1:30 p. m. Monday when the funeral procession will leave for services at the First Baptist Church of West Monroe at 2 p. m. Dr. E. A. Autrey, assisted by the Rev. E. L. Tanner will officiate. Interment will be made in the Hasley cemetery under the direction of the Mulhearn funeral home.

Mrs. Collie is survived by her husband, John Collie, a West Monroe barber; her mother, Mrs. Sally Jernigan of West Monroe; four sisters, Mrs. Inez Owens of Hanford, Calif., Mrs. Mildred Malone, Mrs. W. E. Bolton, and Miss Stella Jernigan all of West Monroe; five brothers, L. R. Jernigan of Indianola, Miss., L. A. Jernigan, H. H. Jernigan, and R. A. Jernigan, all of Port Arthur, Tex., and Quintus Jernigan of West Monroe.

The name of the person identifying Bohannon was not released.

The fugitive, well-dressed at the time of his capture, not only admitted the three murders, but bragged about others, Munford said. Bohannon at first refused to talk, but admitted his identity when F. B. I. officials began comparing his fingerprints with those of the escape.

Bohannon was convicted of the slaying of two deputy sheriffs and a prison guard, according to the F. B. I. Munford said the fugitive once before had escaped from the Oklahoma prison.

Oklahoma authorities were notified tonight of the arrest, Munford said.

U. C. L. A. Handed First Pacific Conference Defeat By 6-0 Score

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The U. C. L. A. Bruins' Rose Bowl football stock took a big drop today and California stepped up a notch as the battering Bears from Berkeley smacked over the Uclans, 6 to 0, in a see-saw battle that was decided in the final quarter.

Bounding back from their 39-0 shellacking by Southern California a week ago, the big Bears put on an 80-yard uninterrupted drive in the early minutes of the fourth period and scored the six points that gave the favored little brother Bruins of Los Angeles their first defeat in Pacific Coast Conference play and jolted their chances of staging a repeat performance in Pasadena's rose rimmed saucer New Year's day.

A victory by U. C. L. A. over Southern California here November 22 would throw the conference race into a deadlock however.

Today's bitter but cleanly fought battle was played before 80,266 fans short of the over 90,000 expected as the gate sale failed to materialize.

There was no luck involved in the Bear scoring drive. With Bob Celeri tossing one pass 15 yards, Jack Swaner belting the line for a 25 yard gain, and John Graves adding more misery to the Bruin forwards, the Bears reached the U. C. L. A. two yard line in some 13 plays—and then Graves swept of fhis own left end for the winning tally.

must be approved by the full assembly. However, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky announced that he would speak again.

Last year the assembly invited South Africa to place the Southwest Territory under trusteeship after refusing to approve a plan for the Union government to annex the area. No action was taken in the intervening year and the government of Prime Minister J. C. Smutts has been accused of ignoring an assembly decision.

The case was threshed out in lengthy debate in the trusteeship committee which finally passed, 27 to 21, the resolution setting a one-year limit on compliance. The Soviet and Arab blocs were among those backing the plan with such countries as the U. S., Britain, France, Belgium and the Netherlands in opposition.

Other developments:

1. Britain was reported to have objected to the American suggestion that the London government continue to have responsibility for law and order in Palestine pending the proposed creation of independent Jewish and Arab states next July 1 under a partition proposal. British sources said the objection did not constitute rejection, however, and the final decision would have to be made in London.

2. The assembly approved over Russian objections Austria's membership in the International Civil Aviation organization. Italy previously has been approved.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures, after a steady opening, turned easy today. The diminished volume of trade price fixing and some hedging contributed to the sell off. Trading was quiet and dealers generally were inclined to adopt sideline positions, pending developments at Washington in connection with rising living costs and European aid. Advices from the south indicated that there was a strong spot demand with a firming tendency.

Futures closed 15 to 70 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

THE NATION TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. — (AP) — The government calls some kinds of information "top secret" or "secret" or "confidential" or "restricted."

A government official uses one of those labels on a piece of information he thinks should not be made public.

But what do they mean and what's the difference between information that is "top secret" and "secret"? This is an explanation.

Those labels have been used for years by certain government agencies like the army, navy and state departments.

This is understandable since much of their work involves the nation's welfare.

Couldn't an agency use one of those labels to cover up its own mistakes when the nation's welfare is not involved? Sure. That's always a problem.

But some months ago President Truman thought standards or rules for using those labels should be drawn up for all government agencies.

The job was given to a group called the security advisory board, made up of representatives of the army, navy and state department.

This board has finished its work, after much public criticism, and sent its recommendations to Mr. Truman. He'll have to okay or reject them.

But here are examples of the labels as they are used by the army and the state department.

Top secret—army:

1. Information on certain troop movements, such as sending General George Patton and his armored troops to North Africa in World War II.

2. Information on certain new or special methods of war, like the atomic bomb.

3. Information on war plans.

Top secret—state department:

1. Information which, if made public, could be expected to lead to war.

2. Information about his own country from a foreigner who, if it became public, might be killed.

Secret—Army

1. Information on an important event while it's happening, such as the sending of munitions to the coast of France during the Normandy invasion.

Another example might be an improvement in a tank before it got into battle. Once it was captured, there'd be no need for secrecy.

Secret—State department

1. Information on highly important diplomatic codes which the state department uses in exchanging information with U. S. embassies abroad.

2. Information on important trends in foreign affairs which, if made public might endanger this country's welfare.

Confidential—Army

1. Information from confidential informants on army employes.

2. Routine information on battles if it would be of interest to an enemy, although not of vital interest.

Confidential—State department:

1. Information on investigations of a state department employe.

2. Certain information on diplomatic codes. (As noted above, some information on diplomatic codes is so important it's listed as secret).

Restricted—Army:

1. Information indicating the number or location of troops even in places not near the battlefront.

Restricted—State department:

1. Information such as from an American ambassador abroad on what he things of a situation in a foreign country.

But would government agencies like the labor or agriculture departments ever be likely to have information that could be called "top secret" or "secret?"

Probably not, although they might have "confidential" information, such as on the investigation of an employe.

BANK TO ENLARGE ITS FACILITIES

The board of directors of Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, in its meeting on Thursday, unanimously voted to proceed at once toward rebuilding, remodeling and refurnishing its branch building in West Monroe and instructed its building committee to obtain bids and take action on the project immediately.

It is planned to give the building a new and attractive front, to extend the west wall an additional ten feet, construct a new burglar proof vault, rearrange the entire plan of the interior and to install therein an entirely new and strictly modern set of fixtures.

It is desired by banking officials to make this structure one of the most modern of its size and also to make it a credit to the business section of West Monroe.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS TO HAVE BANQUET

Knights of Pythias will meet at Castle Hall Thursday at 6 p.m. and proceed to La Casa Tea Room for a chicken supper at 6:30 p.m. For reservations those who are to attend are asked to phone A. J. Lester, 1778, or Dr. H. H. Baur, 433 or 484. No reservations can be accepted after 10 a.m. Thursday. After the supper the regular K. of P. meeting will be held in Castle Hall at 7:30 p.m. when fully 20 are expected to receive the rank of page. Nomination of officers also will take place and all knights are urged to attend.

Robert Steele, grand chancellor commander, of Shreveport, will be a guest of honor.

El Miro Temple, No. 187, Knights of Khorassan will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Castle Hall. All Dokeys, wearing fez are urged by W. L. (Bill) Rothermel, to attend.

In 1936 a quarter of U. S. families had less than $500 a year income and almost three-quarters had less than $1,500.

There are few mines which contain more gold than is contained in the vaults at Ft. Knox, Ky.

DRAMA FESTIVAL IS GIVEN PRAISE

Critics Laud Three Plays Scheduled In Monroe Shortly

"Dream Girl," "Made in Heaven" and "Kiss and Tell," to be presented here as a drama festival by Optimist Club this coming winter season, have all received high critical praise from drama reviewers, not only in New York City, but in all theatrical centers where they have fulfilled engagements.

Lewis Nichols, reporting for the New York Times, stated, "'Dream Girl' is an engaging and cheerful comedy. A sure sell-out for months to come." Said John Chapman on the New York News, "The theater gave Broadway a Christmas present last night in 'Dream Girl'; an exciting, captivating and enchanting comedy. It finds the stage in high gear." And Claudia Cassidy of the Chicago Tribune reported, "This play adds up to an evening on enchanted isles." Of "Made in Heaven," the hilariously funny comedy by Hagar Wilde, produced last season in New York by John Golden, the New York News has this to say, "John Golden knows a hit when he sees one. He's done it again with 'Made in Heaven' and the comedy had the audience rolling in the aisles." Said Robert Garland in the New York Mirror, "'Made in Heaven' is a must on your play-going list. It rolls along at a terrific pace. A gay, witty and amusing evening in the theater." And the New York Post stated, "Delightfully sophisticated comedy. A true picture of the humorous side of marital life."

"Kiss and Tell" has been acclaimed by critics from coast to coast and the consensus of opinion is that it is the funniest comedy written in a decade. Walter Winchell reports, "I have seen 'Kiss and Tell' many times—as it was originally done in New York, as a movie and in Little Theatres and community groups and I always leave the theater with a feeling of exhiliration. No matter how many times I see this play, its humor and attractiveness never grow old. In fact, like old wine, it improves with age."

Under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club, these three plays are to be presented December 13, January 31 and March 16 next at Neville High School auditorium. Tickets are on sale now at Howard Bros. Jewelry Store, The Palace and Bernheim Bros. store.

FIRE DAMAGES NEGRO APARTMENT DWELLING

A Negro apartment dwelling at 207 and 209 Short Coleman street in West Monroe, suffered considerable damage early yesterday morning when flames broke out in a rear kitchen and spread to the other rooms before West Monroe firemen could extinguish the blaze.

Firemen, who were summoned at 1:55 a. m., said the fire was caused by a gas stove being located too close to the wall. Negroes living in the house were Leola Kinnard, Ted Adams, and Ben Murray and his family.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Individual stocks today stepped into November with modest advances while many market leaders failed to get anywhere in particular.

Slowdowns were frequent from the opening on. Variations of fractions either way ruled near the close with a number of pivotals unchanged. Turnover for the two hours was in the neighborhood of 250,000 shares, a minimum since last May.

Bonds were narrow. Grains exhibited strength.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.— (AP) — Stocks: Steady; selected industrials advance. Bonds: Quiet; rails narrow. Cotton: Lower; profit taking offsets trade demand.

CHICAGO—Wheat: Steady; trade light. Corn: Steady; followed wheat action. Oats: Steady with other grains. Hogs: Nominally steady. Cattle: Nominally steady.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures fluctuated over a narrow range in today's short session. But near the close light pressure from week-end long liquidation, along with hedging, forced prices down.

The Market closed steady 35 cents to 95 cents a bale lower.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 50 cents a bale lower today. Sales 4,046, low middling 27.25, middling 32.00, good middling 32.50, receipts 5,684, stock 141,529.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton at ten southern spot markets today was 45 cents a bale lower at 32.19 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 31.69. Middling 7/8-inch average 40.40 cents a pound.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures, after a steady opening, turned easy today. The diminished volume of trade price fixing and some hedging contributed to the sell off. Trading was quiet and dealers generally were inclined to adopt sideline positions, pending developments at Washington in connection with rising living costs and European aid. Advices from the south indicated that there was a strong spot demand with a firming tendency.

Futures closed 15 to 70 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

THE NATION TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. — (AP) — The government calls some kinds of information "top secret" or "secret" or "confidential" or "restricted."

A government official uses one of those labels on a piece of information he thinks should not be made public.

But what do they mean and what's the difference between information that is "top secret" and "secret"? This is an explanation.

Those labels have been used for years by certain government agencies like the army, navy and state departments.

This is understandable since much of their work involves the nation's welfare.

Couldn't an agency use one of those labels to cover up its own mistakes when the nation's welfare is not involved? Sure. That's always a problem.

But some months ago President Truman thought standards or rules for using those labels should be drawn up for all government agencies.

The job was given to a group called the security advisory board, made up of representatives of the army, navy and state department.

This board has finished its work, after much public criticism, and sent its recommendations to Mr. Truman. He'll have to okay or reject them.

But here are examples of the labels as they are used by the army and the state department.

Top secret—army:

1. Information on certain troop movements, such as sending General George Patton and his armored troops to North Africa in World War II.

2. Information on certain new or special methods of war, like the atomic bomb.

3. Information on war plans.

Top secret—state department:

1. Information which, if made public, could be expected to lead to war.

2. Information about his own country from a foreigner who, if it became public, might be killed.

Secret—Army

1. Information on an important event while it's happening, such as the sending of munitions to the coast of France during the Normandy invasion.

Another example might be an improvement in a tank before it got into battle. Once it was captured, there'd be no need for secrecy.

Secret—State department

1. Information on highly important diplomatic codes which the state department uses in exchanging information with U. S. embassies abroad.

2. Information on important trends in foreign affairs which, if made public might endanger this country's welfare.

Confidential—Army

1. Information from confidential informants on army employes.

2. Routine information on battles if it would be of interest to an enemy, although not of vital interest.

Confidential—State department:

1. Information on investigations of a state department employe.

2. Certain information on diplomatic codes. (As noted above, some information on diplomatic codes is so important it's listed as secret).

Restricted—Army:

1. Information indicating the number or location of troops even in places not near the battlefront.

Restricted—State department:

1. Information such as from an American ambassador abroad on what he things of a situation in a foreign country.

But would government agencies like the labor or agriculture departments ever be likely to have information that could be called "top secret" or "secret?"

Probably not, although they might have "confidential" information, such as on the investigation of an employe.

BANK TO ENLARGE ITS FACILITIES

The board of directors of Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, in its meeting on Thursday, unanimously voted to proceed at once toward rebuilding, remodeling and refurnishing its branch building in West Monroe and instructed its building committee to obtain bids and take action on the project immediately.

It is planned to give the building a new and attractive front, to extend the west wall an additional ten feet, construct a new burglar proof vault, rearrange the entire plan of the interior and to install therein an entirely new and strictly modern set of fixtures.

It is desired by banking officials to make this structure one of the most modern of its size and also to make it a credit to the business section of West Monroe.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS TO HAVE BANQUET

Knights of Pythias will meet at Castle Hall Thursday at 6 p.m. and proceed to La Casa Tea Room for a chicken supper at 6:30 p.m. For reservations those who are to attend are asked to phone A. J. Lester, 1778, or Dr. H. H. Baur, 483 or 484. No reservations can be accepted after 10 a.m. Thursday. After the supper the regular K. of P. meeting will be held in Castle Hall at 7:30 p.m. when fully 20 are expected to receive the rank of page. Nomination of officers also will take place and all knights are urged to attend.

Robert Steele, grand chancellor commander, of Shreveport, will be a guest of honor.

El Miro Temple, No. 187, Knights of Khorassan will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Castle Hall. All Dokeys, wearing fez are urged by W. L. (Bill) Rothermel, to attend.

In 1936 a quarter of U. S. families had less than $500 a year income and almost three-quarters had less than $1,500.

There are few mines which contain more gold than is contained in the vaults at Ft. Knox, Ky.

DRAMA FESTIVAL IS GIVEN PRAISE

Critics Laud Three Plays Scheduled In Monroe Shortly

"Dream Girl," "Made in Heaven" and "Kiss and Tell," to be presented here as a drama festival by Optimist Club this coming winter season, have all received high critical praise from drama reviewers, not only in New York City, but in all theatrical centers where they have fulfilled engagements.

Lewis Nichols, reporting for the New York Times, stated, "'Dream Girl' is an engaging and cheerful comedy. A sure sell-out for months to come." Said John Chapman on the New York News, "The theater gave Broadway a Christmas present last night in 'Dream Girl'; an exciting, captivating and enchanting comedy. It finds the stage in high gear." And Claudia Cassidy of the Chicago Tribune reported, "This play adds up to an evening on enchanted isles." Of "Made in Heaven," the hilariously funny comedy by Hagar Wilde, produced last season in New York by John Golden, the New York News has this to say, "John Golden knows a hit when he sees one. He's done it again with 'Made in Heaven' and the comedy had the audience rolling in the aisles." Said Robert Garland in the New York Mirror, "'Made in Heaven' is a must on your play-going list. It rolls along at a terrific pace. A gay, witty and amusing evening in the theater." And the New York Post stated, "Delightfully sophisticated comedy. A true picture of the humorous side of marital life."

"Kiss and Tell" has been acclaimed by critics from coast to coast and the consensus of opinion is that it is the funniest comedy written in a decade. Walter Winchell reports, "I have seen 'Kiss and Tell' many times—as it was originally done in New York, as a movie and in Little Theatres and community groups and I always leave the theater with a feeling of exhiliration. No matter how many times I see this play, its humor and attractiveness never grow old. In fact, like old wine, it improves with age."

Under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club, these three plays are to be presented December 13, January 31 and March 16 next at Neville High School auditorium. Tickets are on sale now at Howard Bros. Jewelry Store, The Palace and Bernheim Bros. store.

FIRE DAMAGES NEGRO APARTMENT DWELLING

A Negro apartment dwelling at 207 and 209 Short Coleman street in West Monroe, suffered considerable damage early yesterday morning when flames broke out in a rear kitchen and spread to the other rooms before West Monroe firemen could extinguish the blaze.

Firemen, who were summoned at 1:55 a. m., said the fire was caused by a gas stove being located too close to the wall. Negroes living in the house were Leola Kinnard, Ted Adams, and Ben Murray and his family.

LIFTING OF CREDIT CONTROLS MAY FIND 'TERMS' UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—When you go to your favorite store Monday to buy something on the installment plan, you may find terms are unchanged. Chances are, though, you'll find it a lot easier to make a pay-as-you-go purchase.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. and Montgomery Ward and Co., the two giants of the mail order business, have announced they will require a down payment of only 10 per cent, and 18 months to pay, on all merchandise sold on the installment plan. This compares with the 20 per cent down for furniture and 33 1/3 per cent on other controlled items, with 15 months to pay, required under the defunct regulation W.

Government officials, bankers, credit experts and far-sighted retailers themselves have pleaded that a tight voluntary rein be kept on installment purchases and every other type of postponed payment.

Defunct regulation W, the war-time control administered by the Federal Reserve Board, was bitterly denounced by many a retailer and banker. Now more than a few express regret over its demise.

The Federal Reserve Board a few days ago released a sobering statement on the dangers inherent in too free or unwise use of credit.

"The continuance of strong inflationary pressure," said the statement, has confirmed the belief of the board that this is no time for the relaxation of terms by bans, finance companies and installment sellers. Easier credit will not add to the supply (of goods). It can only intensify demand and accentuate the upward pressure on prices.

"There could not be a worse time to encourage the public to go deeper and deeper into debt."

President Truman has been equally plain spoken. He said:

It will be in the public interest for every merchant and financial agency extending installment credit to avoid undue relaxation of terms.

It will be far better to reduce prices rather than to relax terms in seeking new customers."

The latest report of the Federal Reserve Board shows that credit granted retail buyers in September hit another record high. A slow-down in the growth of installment credit was noted, however, possibly because shoppers have been holding back in anticipation of the easier credit terms to be available Monday.

Economists point out that the present huge total of consumer credit outstanding—more than $11,000,000,000 and far above any pre-war figure—is not disturbing because of the huge growth in income, also at a new record.

The danger, they say, lies in the fact that the available supply of goods is not enough to go around at present and may not be enough for some time to come. But by granting easier credit, the supply of money available to purchase these goods is in effect increased and the already surging pressure to lift prices is still further intensified.

Here are some of the answers received by the Associated Press in a coast-to-coast sampling of department store credit policy:

Boston, Filene's: "Before the war Filene's required 10 per cent on installment sales and with regulation removed we see no reason why the prewar policy shouldn't be reestablished."

Pittsburgh's, Kaufmann's: "We're going to continue just as we are now for the time being. We don't think this is the time for changes."

St. Louis, Stix Baer and Fuller: "We will go along with very slight modification—our attitude of course may be influenced by competitors' terms."

Washington, Hecht's: "This is no time to relax credit policies and we will try to avoid an undue relaxation of the rules that have been in force—we may modify the rules in some unusual cases, where it is justified."

Denver, Denver Dry Goods: "We will lower down payment requirements on hard goods to 20 per cent. Balance must be paid in not to exceed 18 months and that depending on size of purchase."

Philadelphia, Lit Bros.: "The release of credit controls gives us the opportunity to make credit arrangements with the customers as we have always done in the past—to fit their individual needs. This presents an opportunity now to extend credit with a smaller down payment and a longer time to pay."

In Cincinnati, Powel Crosley Jr., president of Crosley Motors, Inc., said that removal of controls should enable lower-income groups to buy the lowest-priced new cars.

Joseph J. Schumann Jr., president of General Motors Acceptance Corporation, said:

"'Easy' credit terms are not easy. They are expensive. As we have pointed out repeatedly in the past: The cheapest way to buy a car is to pay with one's own cash."

The whole problem of consumer credit may turn out to be an academic one before the end of the month. Resumption of controls, according to many observers, will be taken up by Congress when it gets down to business in a couple of weeks.

and Jewish states will become independent.

Under the suggested U. S. plan if the assembly approves partition, Britain, as the mandatory power, would be responsible for preservation of law and order luring the six-month period, and would delinquish her andate when the Jewish and Arab nations become sovereign countries on July 1.

"What Britain is being asked to do is to take full responsibility" Martin told the subcommittee, "for the partition of Palestine between now and July, during which period Palestine will give birth to twins—armed twins."

He said that Britain's position remains unchanged and is still the same as stated by British Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones to the Assembly's Palestine committee.

He said that Britain's position remains unchanged and is still the same as stated by British Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones to the assembly's Palestine committee.

At that time Creech Jones said "it would be unreasonable to ask his majesty's government to carry the sole and full responsibility for the administration of Palestine and for enforcing changes which the United Nations regard as necessary."

"In short," he said, "his majesty's government will not accept the responsibility for enforcement whether alone or in the major role."

An official British spokesman said that as long as the British government has authority in Palestine, Britain will preserve law and order.

In a reference to the U. S. proposal calling for a three-man U. N. commission to go to Palestine immediately to act in an advisory capacity to the British, Arabs, and Jews, the spokesman said "if others are sent over on decisions we don't approve, the situation would be rather complicated."

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, Dr. Hussein F. Khaladi of the Arab higher executive, said the suggested U. S. plan had been expected but added, "we haven't yielded an inch in our rejection of partition." He said the Arab higher executive would meet tomorrow to discuss the U. S. plan in detail.

The assembly's subcommittee on Palestine met briefly today to discuss the proposed economic union in a partitioned Palestine. No decision were taken.

speak at the rally. They did not appear on the platform.

A message from the Hollywood group, barely audible over the loud speaker system, said "Please receive our regrets that due to all the factors involved, we have had to forego the privilege of standing before the hall from which the news of the birth of liberty upon this continent rang out."

One unidentified man, walking to the platform with Francis Fisher Kane, 81-year-old former U. S. attorney here, was jostled and his glasses broken. Blood streamed down his face from a cut.

Police twice climbed the speakers platform and bodily ejected hecklers, three of whom had bowled over the public address microphone.

One woman, standing in the crowd, was knocked from her feet when she screamed: "Let them talk."

The PCA last Wednesday arranged for 19 of the actors, directors and writers questioned by the House committee to come to Philadelphia and "defend their right to freedom of speech."

Nathan H. Rambo, Jr., chief of the city bureau of property and services, rejected the PCA application for holding the meeting at the Shrine and the PCA went into U. S. district court Wednesday and obtained an injunction which was upheld, only two hours before the rally, by the U. S. Third circuit court.

The PCA, with which former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace is associated nationally, is described by members as a group of "independent voters for progressive political action."

The rally was opened by Joseph Myerson, chairman of the Eastern Pennsylvania PCA chapter, but his words were drowned out in boos.

Finally he could be heard to say: "The freedom of American citizens is becoming a burning issue—"

When Kane mounted the platform after his companion had been cut, he shouted above choruses of boos:

"We are standing in front of the Hall of Independence, a symbol of liberty won for the United States generations ago. I should remind the members of this generation that the liberty of the United States is in danger if intolerance is permitted. If a person won't tolerate differences of opinion there will be liberty no more in the land."

A man identifying himself as Harry Knable, commander of a Philadelphia chapter, Order of the Purple Heart, rushed up and grabbed the microphone, shouting to the crowd:

"I want to congratulate you from the bottom of my heart for your demonstration as real Americans. You have shown that Philadelphia is still the cradle of liberty and will demonstrate to prevent Russian sympathizers from taking over."

The city had refused to allow use of the square facing Independence Hall for the rally on grounds a 1942 council ordinance limited its use to patriotic gatherings.

Federal district court, however, ordered the permit granted. The city rushed into U. S. circuit court of appeals in a last-ditch fight, but the tribunal also sanctioned the demonstration less than two hours before it was to get under way.

District Judge Guy K. Bard issued an injunction against the city "to protect freedom of speech." The circuit court did not comment on its order which was by a 2-1 vote.

PCA Attorney Saul Waldbaun told the circuit court the ordinance is "unconstitutional" and said "we feel that free speech is involved in this case."

City Solicitor Frank F. Truscott insisted free speech wasn't "involved at all," adding "They (the PCA) can meet any place in the city and we will give them police protection."

Truscott said if the expected 10,000 persons crowd into the area the lawns would "undoubtedly be damaged," adding that a $2,500 bond posted by the PCA would not be sufficient to cover the loss.

During the hearing, Judge John Biggs, Jr., asked "What is it the city fears?"

Truscott replied:

"We fear that if this organization is allowed to come in here then the Republicans will be allowed to have the same privilege, then the Democrats, then the Socialists and all the other political parties. We fear the Shrine will become a political meeting place."

James McBeth will render a vocal selection "Going Home," with Mrs. John Sholars officiating at the organ.

In addition to the Marine Corps league, and the honor guard, members of the American Legion post of Monroe will be honorary pallbearers. The active pallbearers will be Carter B. Ackel, Earl T. A detachment of state police, which will consist of Major M. J. Roden, assistaant superintendent of state police, will be participants in the military ceremony at the grave.

Lieutenant LeBlanc was educated at Ouachita Parish High School and was a member of the state police when called back to active service in December 1940, in the U. S. Marines.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Gordon M. LeBlanc of Monroe, and Arthur M. LeBlanc of Port Barre; a sister, Miss Lillian LeBlanc, of Monroe, and a nephew and namesake, John Alvin LeBlanc.

CHURCHILL

of the labor party, said his party's campaign was waged as "the greatest fight for Socialism, freedom and Democracy since the general election."

He frankly admitted that "the Tories are hoping to win at these elections that there is discontent and dissatisfaction with labor's policy."

Lord Woolton, wartime food minister and chairman of the conservative party, declared "every vote cast against the socialist candidate will be a warning to the Socialist government in Whitehall that they are losing the support which the people gave them two years ago."

Some 12,000,000 voters—about half the number eligible for national general elections—had the right to ballot today. Scattered reports indicated that voting was the heaviest in more than 10 years in local elections.

This year the conservatives have made one of their most concerted campaigns in local elections. In the past they have followed a policy of keeping hands off, at least technically, in the local voting, and the conservative parties in the municipalities are frequently known under such names as "rate payers associations" and "Independents."

For the past several years, however, the laborites have carried their national banner into local politics, gaining control of the London county council and many lesser municipal bodies and making still heavier inroads since their general election victory.

The London boroughs were not concerned in today's elections, which were confined to borough councils in the provinces.

UMW President John L. Lewis had taken a similar stand.

The auto union leader said "final determination of the attitude of the UAW-CIO with respect to the Taft-Hartley affidavits will be made by the delegates to the international convention beginning Nov. 9."

At the convention Thomas, who was defeated by Reuther for the presidency a year ago, is expected to oppose him again for the top office.

Retention of any elective union office by Thomas thus would prevent the UAW-CIO from using NLRB facilities as long as he refuses to sign an affidavit unless the law is changed.

In "officially" notifying Herzog Friday night, of the executive board's decision, Reuther said the union "in no way compromises our complete opposition to the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act and our determination to continue to fight for its outright repeal."

TITO

was the first he had heard of the expulsion.

Later, Velebit informed Cannon that Brandel was "persona non grata" to the Yugoslav government and listed the following reasons for expelling him and his wife:

1. "Brandel has sent reports not corresponding to the truth.

2. "He has criticized in an offensive manner the actions of cabinet ministers."

As an example, he said Brandel had "compared Tito to Mussolini."

Brandel said he did not recall ever having made such a comparison and that he believes Yugoslav objections to him concerned his reporting of the trial of Dragoljub Jovanovic, peasant party leader, who was charged with treason and sentenced, Oct. 8 to nine years' imprisonment.

Brandel said he was not given the official reason for his expulsion until 2 p. m., when the government spokesman said he "supposed" Mrs. Brandel was being expelled for "the same reason."

The correspondent said he needs an exit visa to get out of the country and plans to go to Italy.

The American ambassador disclosed he had cabled the state department in Washington three times regarding the matter and was keeping it completely informed.

(The United Press in New York said it knew of no reason for the expulsion of its correspondent other than the fact that she is Brandel's wife.)

Late tonight, however, the ministry of foreign affairs informed Ambassador Cannon that it had made arrangements for the Brandels' stay in Belgrade to be extended until 11 a. m., Monday to make arrangements for departure.

Brandel and Vincent Lapteff, correspondent for the French press agency, submitted their passports for 30-day renewal of their residence visas five days ago. Lapteff said he still was waiting for his passport, but he did not believe the delay meant he would be expelled.

The other three reporters from western nations still in the country are the Associated Press correspondent; Peter Furst, who represents the British News Agency Reuters, and Mrs. Furst, who writes for the London Daily Express.

The expulsion of the Brandels is the first such move made by the Yugoslavs since early 1945, when the Tito regime was new. In other instances, however, the government has refused to grant entry to some American and British correspondents, and at other times has granted exit visas without reentry permit.

didn't think enough of her to put up $1.50 spot cash, he didn't think enough of her for her to marry him. They quarreled then and there and separated and never lived together," the justice said.

J. Arthur Smith, Sr., who once lived for years in Rogersville, Tenn., read with deep interest in the Saturday Evening Post two weeks ago the story by William L. Worden on "Sons of the Legend." The article dealt with life among the peculiar people known as Malungeons, on Newman's Ridge, 25 miles from Rogersville. These people are said to be dark skinned as Negroes but they deny that they are of that race. The legends state that they are alleged by some to be Welch in their descent; other claims are that they are of Phoenician ancestry, while still others theorize that they are either Portuguese or Indian. At any rate they live by themselves, and in prohibition times, and since, are quite generally given to the operation of whiskey stills. One of the characters portrayed in the article was Big Haly Mullins, whom Mr. Smith remembers well. She was said to have weighed 700 pounds and when revenue officers went to get her on a charge of running a still, they had no way of getting the overly obese woman through her cabin door so she never appeared in court. In later years she died and the whole side of her cabin had to be ripped off to get her out of the place for burial.

Barney G. Glass, active Monroe watchmaker at 84, seemed to be the oldest member of his craft, certainly in Monroe, and in Mr. Glass' belief, in the United States. But now this record is fractured, for we learn that he has a rival, A. G. Crooker, of Fairmont, Minn., at 91, is busy at his table repairing watches daily. Wonder when this latest record will be fractured.

George D. (Pop) Richardson, veteran "newsboy," who twice daily makes rounds up and down DeSiard street as he sells the News-Star and Morning World, was in a serious quandry, Saturday. "Jes' donna know what to do," he lamented. "I'm agoin' to run either for sheriff or mayor. I rather think I'll qualify for sheriff by next Tuesday. I can't run very fast on a cane, but I'll bet I can run faster than some of the candidates," he concluded.

Rheumatic fever is the second most frequent cause of death among people in the 20 to 24 age group in the United States.

DEATHS

GLEN ALLEN ADKINS

Glen Allen Adkins, one day old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Adkins, of Crowville, died in a hospital Friday.

The funeral was in the Masonic Cemetery in Crowville Saturday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. C. S. Wroten officiating.

The Mulhearn Funeral Home of Delhi had charge of arrangements.

E. A. PAYNE RITES

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Services for E. A. Payne, Sr., 80, who died yesterday at a local sanitarium, were held here at 4 o'clock this afternoon, followed by burial in Forest Park Cemetery. Until his retirement because of illness four months ago he had been employed since 1923 by the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Company in Shreveport.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Martha Honor Payne; four sons, Howell B. Payne, Robert B. Payne, Jr., and Richard J. Payne, all of Shreveport; two daughters, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Monroe, and Mrs. Guy Holloway, Lareda, Tex.; two brothers, R. M. Payne, Sayretown, Ala., and R. N. Payne, El Dorado, Ark.; and several grandchildren.

INFANT BLAKENEY

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Blakeney of West Monroe, who died at birth Friday in a local sanitarium, were held in Luna Community Saturday morning. Interment followed in the Luna cemetery under the direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

He is survived by his parents; one sister, Martha Blakeney, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ida Avant.

FIRE ALARMS

Companies 1, 3, and 6 answered an alarm at 10:20 p. m. Friday at 330 Auburn avenue, but found the blaze had been extinguished. Burning egg shells on a kitchen stove was given as the cause. The house was occupied by Bernard Levi.

Firemen of Company 2 put out a burning palm tree, set afire by children, at the residence of Mrs. I. H. Hamilton, 100 South Third street, at 10:30 p. m. Friday.

A false alarm turned out Companies 2 and 4 at 11:25 p. m. Friday. The alarm was turned in from Richmond and Mouton streets near the U. S. Lock and Dam No. 4.

The Louisiana Central Lumber Company night watchman reported a sawdust fire in the boiler house at 1200 Grammont street at 2:45 a. m. Saturday. Firemen of Companies 1 and 2 extinguished the blaze.

Firemen of Companies 2 and 4 were unable to save the small dwelling of James Harvell from destruction shortly after 5 a. m. Saturday. The cabin, situated behind the Rainbow grocery at 4200 South Grand street, on the river side of the levee, was consumed by the blaze that started in a rear room.

Company 1 answered an alarm at 311 North Seventh street, resident of J. H. Everett, yesterday at 1:37 p. m. Firemen said that the fire was caused by a hot water heater catching wallpaper ablaze. Little damage was inflicted on the house, firemen said.

West Monroe firemen extinguished a trash fire near the railroad bridge at 10:38 a. m. yesterday.

The council urged "outright gifts," as well as loans, to meet some of Europe's emergency needs. And it called on the U. S. taxpayer to pay the way through continued high tax rates.

It hinted at price controls over grain, steel and other goods in world scarcity, declaring that congress should provide "at least the minimum powers" to attack rising prices directly, if less drastic measures fail.

And even the less drastic measures it recommends, the council said, add up to a "vigorous program * * * to protect all our people against the disaster of demoralized business and uncontrolled inflation."

The steps—virtually the only outright recommendations made since the council was created by congress in 1946 to promote full employment and production—include:

1. Allocation of grain, scarce foods, steel and other world-shortage commodities among U. S. industrial users.

2. The "curbing of speculation and hoarding of goods"—which presumably means federal power to govern down payment requirements on the commodity exchanges, plus inventory control of the wartime type.

3. Export controls, which will expire February 29 unless congress renewes them.

4. Penalties to discourage "misuse or excessive use" of scarce essentials and measures to promote "efficient transportation and distribution."

5. The expansion and "aggressive use" of credit controls. Consumer credit control expires at midnight tonight.

The council made no recommendations for consumer price ceilings or rationing, implying that allocations and price controls, if adopted, should be restricted to producers and distributors as a means of channelling scarce goods into essential foreign and export uses.

"No comprehensive control mechanism comparable in size to that of the war period will be required," the report stated.

Mr. Truman asked the council to submit the report as background for his recommendations to congress on the Marshall plan. The presidential message probably will go to the special session starting Nov. 17.

vestigation" and that such inquiry was constitutionally impermissible.

"No contempt was committed," the letter averred, "because all appropriate questions were answered."

The ten involved, either writers or directors are: John Howard Lawson, Alvah Bessie, Herbert Biberman, Lester Cole, Edward Dmytryk, Ring Lardner, Jr., Albert Maltz, Samuel Ornitz, Adrian Scott and Dalton Trumbo.

Their counsel, headed by Robert W. Kenny and Bartley C. Crum, contended among other things, that:

The House Committee on un-American Activities is illegally and unconstitutionally constituted; that its inquiry into ideas propagated on the screen is "an abridgment and censorship of those ideas" and violates the constitution, that the "committee's sole purpose is to intimidate artists, writers and directors and to compel the entire industry to conform to the committee's notions of what is desirable for presentation on the screen."

"These matters," the letter to Martin added, "raised issues of grave constitutional import. Respect for our institutions, especially the Congress of the United States, is gravely endangered if a citizen who asserts rights guaranteed to him by the constitution is threatened with contempt proceedings and subsequent punitive action.

"We therefore respectfully request that you decline to certify the contempt proceedings and that we have the opportunity to argue this matter orally before you."

LIFTING OF CREDIT CONTROLS MAY FIND 'TERMS' UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—When you go to your favorite store Monday to buy something on the installment plan, you may find terms are unchanged. Chances are, though, you'll find it a lot easier to make a pay-as-you-go purchase.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. and Montgomery Ward and Co., the two giants of the mail order business, have announced they will require a down payment of only 10 per cent, and 18 months to pay, on all merchandise sold on the installment plan. This compares with the 20 per cent down for furniture and 33 1/3 per cent on other controlled items, with 15 months to pay, required under the defunct regulation W.

Government officials, bankers, credit experts and far-sighted retailers themselves have pleaded that a tight voluntary rein be kept on installment purchases and every other type of postponed payment.

Defunct regulation W, the war-time control administered by the Federal Reserve Board, was bitterly denounced by many a retailer and banker. Now more than a few express regret over its demise.

The Federal Reserve Board a few days ago released a sobering statement on the dangers inherent in too free or unwise use of credit.

"The continuance of strong inflationary pressure," said the statement, has confirmed the belief of the board that this is no time for the relaxation of terms by bans, finance companies and installment sellers. Easier credit will not add to the supply (of goods). It can only intensify demand and accentuate the upward pressure on prices.

"There could not be a worse time to encourage the public to go deeper and deeper into debt."

President Truman has been equally plain spoken. He said:

It will be in the public interest for every merchant and financial agency extending installment credit to avoid undue relaxation of terms.

It will be far better to reduce prices rather than to relax terms in seeking new customers."

The latest report of the Federal Reserve Board shows that credit granted retail buyers in September hit another record high. A slow-down in the growth of installment credit was noted, however, possibly because shoppers have been holding back in anticipation of the easier credit terms to be available Monday.

Economists point out that the present huge total of consumer credit outstanding—more than $11,000,000,000 and far above any pre-war figure—is not disturbing because of the huge growth in income, also at a new record.

The danger, they say, lies in the fact that the available supply of goods is not enough to go around at present and may not be enough for some time to come. But by granting easier credit, the supply of money available to purchase these goods is in effect increased and the already surging pressure to lift prices is still further intensified.

Here are some of the answers received by the Associated Press in a coast-to-coast sampling of department store credit policy:

Boston, Filene's: "Before the war Filene's required 10 per cent on installment sales and with regulation removed we see no reason why the prewar policy shouldn't be reestablished."

Pittsburgh's, Kaufmann's: "We're going to continue just as we are now for the time being. We don't think this is the time for changes."

St. Louis, Stix Baer and Fuller: "We will go along with very slight modification—our attitude of course may be influenced by competitors' terms."

Washington, Hecht's: "This is no time to relax credit policies and we will try to avoid an undue relaxation of the rules that have been in force—we may modify the rules in some unusual cases, where it is justified."

Denver, Denver Dry Goods: "We will lower down payment requirements on hard goods to 20 per cent. Balance must be paid in not to exceed 18 months and that depending on size of purchase."

Philadelphia, Lit Bros.: "The release of credit controls gives us the opportunity to make credit arrangements with the customers as we have always done in the past—to fit their individual needs. This presents an opportunity now to extend credit with a smaller down payment and a longer time to pay."

In Cincinnati, Powel Crosley Jr., president of Crosley Motors, Inc., said that removal of controls should enable lower-income groups to buy the lowest-priced new cars.

Joseph J. Schumann Jr., president of General Motors Acceptance Corporation, said:

"'Easy' credit terms are not easy. They are expensive. As we have pointed out repeatedly in the past: The cheapest way to buy a car is to pay with one's own cash."

The whole problem of consumer credit may turn out to be an academic one before the end of the month. Resumption of controls, according to many observers, will be taken up by Congress when it gets down to business in a couple of weeks.

and Jewish states will become independent.

Under the suggested U. S. plan if the assembly approves partition, Britain, as the mandatory power, would be responsible for preservation of law and order luring the six-month period, and would delinquish her andate when the Jewish and Arab nations become sovereign countries on July 1.

"What Britain is being asked to do is to take full responsibility" Martin told the subcommittee, "for the partition of Palestine between now and July, during which period Palestine will give birth to twins—armed twins."

He said that Britain's position remains unchanged and is still the same as stated by British Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones to the Assembly's Palestine committee.

He said that Britain's position remains unchanged and is still the same as stated by British Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones to the assembly's Palestine committee.

At that time Creech Jones said "it would be unreasonable to ask his majesty's government to carry the sole and full responsibility for the administration of Palestine and for enforcing changes which the United Nations regard as necessary."

"In short," he said, "his majesty's government will not accept the responsibility for enforcement whether alone or in the major role."

An official British spokesman said that as long as the British government has authority in Palestine, Britain will preserve law and order.

In a reference to the U. S. proposal calling for a three-man U. N. commission to go to Palestine immediately to act in an advisory capacity to the British, Arabs, and Jews, the spokesman said "if others are sent over on decisions we don't approve, the situation would be rather complicated."

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, Dr. Hussein F. Khaladi of the Arab higher executive, said the suggested U. S. plan had been expected but added, "we haven't yielded an inch in our rejection of partition." He said the Arab higher executive would meet tomorrow to discuss the U. S. plan in detail.

The assembly's subcommittee on Palestine met briefly today to discuss the proposed economic union in a partitioned Palestine. No decision were taken.

PCA

speak at the rally. They did not appear on the platform.

A message from the Hollywood group, barely audible over the loud speaker system, said "Please receive our regrets that due to all the factors involved, we have had to forego the privilege of standing before the hall from which the news of the birth of liberty upon this continent rang out."

One unidentified man, walking to the platform with Francis Fisher Kane, 81-year-old former U. S. attorney here, was jostled and his glasses broken. Blood streamed down his face from a cut.

Police twice climbed the speakers platform and bodily ejected hecklers, three of whom had bowled over the public address microphone.

One woman, standing in the crowd, was knocked from her feet when she screamed: "Let them talk."

The PCA last Wednesday arranged for 19 of the actors, directors and writers questioned by the House committee to come to Philadelphia and "defend their right to freedom of speech."

Nathan H. Rambo, Jr., chief of the city bureau of property and services, rejected the PCA application for holding the meeting at the Shrine and the PCA went into U. S. district court Wednesday and obtained an injunction which was upheld, only two hours before the rally, by the U. S. Third circuit court.

The PCA, with which former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace is associated nationally, is described by members as a group of "independent voters for progressive political action."

The rally was opened by Joseph Myerson, chairman of the Eastern Pennsylvania PCA chapter, but his words were drowned out in boos.

Finally he could be heard to say: "The freedom of American citizens is becoming a burning issue—"

When Kane mounted the platform after his companion had been cut, he shouted above choruses of boos:

"We are standing in front of the Hall of Independence, a symbol of liberty won for the United States generations ago. I should remind the members of this generation that the liberty of the United States is in danger if intolerance is permitted. If a person won't tolerate differences of opinion there will be liberty no more in the land."

A man identifying himself as Harry Knable, commander of a Philadelphia chapter, Order of the Purple Heart, rushed up and grabbed the microphone, shouting to the crowd:

"I want to congratulate you from the bottom of my heart for your demonstration as real Americans. You have shown that Philadelphia is still the cradle of liberty and will demonstrate to prevent Russian sympathizers from taking over."

The city had refused to allow use of the square facing Independence Hall for the rally on grounds a 1942 council ordinance limited its use to patriotic gatherings.

Federal district court, however, ordered the permit granted. The city rushed into U. S. circuit court of appeals in a last-ditch fight, but the tribunal also sanctioned the demonstration less than two hours before it was to get under way.

District Judge Guy K. Bard issued an inpunction against the city "to protect freedom of speech." The circuit court did not comment on its order which was by a 2-1 vote.

PCA Attorney Saul Waldbaun told the circuit court the ordinance is "unconstitutional" and said "we feel that free speech is involved in this case."

City Solicitor Frank F. Truscott insisted free speech wasn't "involved at all," adding "They (the PCA) can meet any place in the city and we will give them police protection."

Truscott said if the expected 10,000 persons crowd into the area the lawns would "undoubtedly be damaged," adding that a $2,500 bond posted by the PCA would not be sufficient to cover the loss.

During the hearing, Judge John Biggs, Jr., asked "What is it the city fears?"

Truscott replied:

"We fear that if this organization is allowed to come in here then the Republicans will be allowed to have the same privilege, then the Democrats, then the Socialists and all the other political parties. We fear the Shrine will become a political meeting place."

of the labor party, said his party's campaign was waged as "the greatest fight for Socialism, freedom and Democracy since the general election."

He frankly admitted that "the Tories are hoping to win at these elections that there is discontent and dissatisfaction with labor's policy."

Lord Woolton, wartime food minister and chairman of the conservative party, declared "every vote cast against the socialist candidate will be a warning to the Socialist government in Whitehall that they are losing the support which the people gave them two years ago."

Some 12,000,000 voters—about half the number eligible for national general elections—had the right to ballot today. Scattered reports indicated that voting was the heaviest in more than 10 years in local elections.

This year the conservatives have made one of their most concerted campaigns in local elections. In the past they have followed a policy of keeping hands off, at least technically, in the local voting, and the conservative parties in the municipalities are frequently known under such names as "rate payers associations" and "Independents."

For the past several years, however, the laborites have carried their national banner into local politics, gaining control of the London county council and many lesser municipal bodies and making still heavier inroads since their general election victory.

The London boroughs were not concerned in today's elections, which were confined to borough councils in the provinces.

UMW President John L. Lewis had taken a similar stand.

The auto union leader said "final determination of the attitude of the UAW-CIO with respect to the Taft-Hartley affidavits will be made by the delegates to the international convention beginning Nov. 9."

At the convention Thomas, who was defeated by Reuther for the presidency a year ago, is expected to oppose him again for the top office.

Retention of any elective union office by Thomas thus would prevent the UAW-CIO from using NLRB facilities as long as he refuses to sign an affidavit unless the law is changed.

In "officially" notifying Herzog Friday night, of the executive board's decision, Reuther said the union "in no way compromises our complete opposition to the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act and our determination to continue to fight for its outright repeal."

was the first he had heard of the expulsion.

Later, Velebit informed Cannon that Brandel was "persona non grata" to the Yugoslav government and listed the following reasons for expelling him and his wife:

1. "Brandel has sent reports not corresponding to the truth.

2. "He has criticized in an offensive manner the actions of cabinet ministers."

As an example, he said Brandel had "compared Tito to Mussolini."

Brandel said he did not recall ever having made such a comparison and that he believes Yugoslav objections to him concerned his reporting of the trial of Dragoljub Jovanovic, peasant party leader, who was charged with treason and sentenced, Oct. 8 to nine years' imprisonment.

Brandel said he was not given the official reason for his expulsion until 2 p. m., when the government spokesman said he "supposed" Mrs. Brandel was being expelled for "the same reason."

The correspondent said he needs an exit visa to get out of the country and plans to go to Italy.

The American ambassador disclosed he had cabled the state department in Washington three times regarding the matter and was keeping it completely informed.

(The United Press in New York said it knew of no reason for the expulsion of its correspondent other than the fact that she is Brandel's wife.)

Late tonight, however, the ministry of foreign affairs informed Ambassador Cannon that it had made arrangements for the Brandels' stay in Belgrade to be extended until 11 a. m., Monday to make arrangements for departure.

Brandel and Vincent Lapteff, correspondent for the French press agency, submitted their passports for 30-day renewal of their residence visas five days ago. Lapteff said he still was waiting for his passport, but he did not believe the delay meant he would be expelled.

The other three reporters from western nations still in the country are the Associated Press correspondent; Peter Furst, who represents the British News Agency Reuters, and Mrs. Furst, who writes for the London Daily Express.

The expulsion of the Brandels is the first such move made by the Yugoslavs since early 1945, when the Tito regime was new. In other instances, however, the government has refused to grant entry to some American and British correspondents, and at other times has granted exit visas without reentry permit.

didn't think enough of her to put up $1.50 spot cash, he didn't think enough of her for her to marry him. They quarreled then and there and separated and never lived together," the justice said.

J. Arthur Smith, Sr., who once lived for years in Rogersville, Tenn., read with deep interest in the Saturday Evening Post two weeks ago the story by William L. Worden on "Sons of the Legend." The article dealt with life among the peculiar people known as Malungeons, on Newman's Ridge, 25 miles from Rogersville. These people are said to be dark skinned as Negroes but they deny that they are of that race. The legends state that they are alleged by some to be Welch in their descent; other claims are that they are of Phoenician ancestry, while still others theorize that they are either Portuguese or Indian. At any rate they live by themselves, and in prohibition times, and since, are quite generally given to the operation of whiskey stills. One of the characters portrayed in the article was Big Haly Mullins, whom Mr. Smith remembers well. She was said to have weighed 700 pounds and when revenue officers went to get her on a charge of running a still, they had no way of getting the overly obese woman through her cabin door so she never appeared in court. In later years she died and the whole side of her cabin had to be ripped off to get her out of the place for burial.

Barney G. Glass, active Monroe watchmaker at 84, seemed to be the oldest member of his craft, certainly in Monroe, and in Mr. Glass' belief, in the United States. But now this record is fractured, for we learn that he has a rival, A. G. Crooker, of Fairmont, Minn., at 91, is busy at his table repairing watches daily. Wonder when this latest record will be fractured.

George D. (Pop) Richardson, veteran "newsboy," who twice daily makes rounds up and down DeSiard street as he sells the News-Star and Morning World, was in a serious quandry, Saturday. "Jes' donna know what to do," he lamented. "I'm agoin' to run either for sheriff or mayor. I rather think I'll qualify for sheriff by next Tuesday. I can't run very fast on a cane, but I'll bet I can run faster than some of the candidates," he concluded.

Rheumatic fever is the second most frequent cause of death among people in the 20 to 24 age group in the United States.

FIRE ALARMS

Companies 1, 3, and 6 answered an alarm at 10:20 p. m. Friday at 330 Auburn avenue, but found the blaze had been extinguished. Burning egg shells on a kitchen stove was given as the cause. The house was occupied by Bernard Levi.

Firemen of Company 2 put out a burning palm tree, set afire by children, at the residence of Mrs. I. H. Hamilton, 100 South Third street, at 10:30 p. m. Friday.

A false alarm turned out Companies 2 and 4 at 11:25 p. m. Friday. The alarm was turned in from Richmond and Mouton streets near the U. S. Lock and Dam No. 4.

The Louisiana Central Lumber Company night watchman reported a sawdust fire in the boiler house at 1200 Grammont street at 2:45 a. m. Saturday. Firemen of Companies 1 and 2 extinguished the blaze.

Firemen of Companies 2 and 4 were unable to save the small dwelling of James Harvell from destruction shortly after 5 a. m. Saturday. The cabin, situated behind the Rainbow grocery at 4200 South Grand street, on the river side of the levee, was consumed by the blaze that started in a rear room.

Company 1 answered an alarm at 311 North Seventh street, resident of J. H. Everett, yesterday at 1:37 p. m. Firemen said that the fire was caused by a hot water heater catching wallpaper ablaze. Little damage was inflicted on the house, firemen said.

The council urged "outright gifts," as well as loans, to meet some of Europe's emergency needs. And it called on the U. S. taxpayer to pay the way through continued high tax rates.

It hinted at price controls over grain, steel and other goods in world scarcity, declaring that congress should provide "at least the minimum powers" to attack rising prices directly, if less drastic measures fail.

And even the less drastic measures it recommends, the council said, add up to a "vigorous program * * * to protect all our people against the disaster of demoralized business and uncontrolled inflation."

The steps—virtually the only outright recommendations made since the council was created by congress in 1946 to promote full employment and production—include:

1. Allocation of grain, scarce foods, steel and other world-shortage commodities among U. S. industrial users.

2. The "curbing of speculation and hoarding of goods"—which presumably means federal power to govern down payment requirements on the commodity exchanges, plus inventory control of the wartime type.

3. Export controls, which will expire February 29 unless congress renewes them.

4. Penalties to discourage "misuse or excessive use" of scarce essentials and measures to promote "efficient transportation and distribution."

5. The expansion and "aggressive use" of credit controls. Consumer credit control expires at midnight tonight.

The council made no recommendations for consumer price ceilings or rationing, implying that allocations and price controls, if adopted, should be restricted to producers and distributors as a means of channelling scarce goods into essential foreign and export uses.

"No comprehensive control mechanism comparable in size to that of the war period will be required," the report stated.

Mr. Truman asked the council to submit the report as background for his recommendations to congress on the Marshall plan. The presidential message probably will go to the special session starting Nov. 17.

vestigation" and that such inquiry was constitutionally impermissible.

"No contempt was committed," the letter averred, "because all appropriate questions were answered."

Their counsel, headed by Robert W. Kenny and Bartley C. Crum, contended among other things, that:

The House Committee on un-American Activities is illegally and unconstitutionally constituted; that its inquiry into ideas propagated on the screen is "an abridgment and censorship of those ideas" and violates the constitution, that the "committee's sole purpose is to intimidate artists, writers and directors and to compel the entire industry to conform to the committee's notions of what is desirable for presentation on the screen."

"These matters," the letter to Martin added, "raised issues of grave constitutional import. Respect for our institutions, especially the Congress of the United States, is gravely endangered if a citizen who asserts rights guaranteed to him by the constitution is threatened with contempt proceedings and subsequent punitive action.

"We therefore respectfully request that you decline to certify the contempt proceedings and that we have the opportunity to argue this matter orally before you."

Nearing the end of a tardy campaign which has dawned only handfuls of indifferent voters, it appeared uncertain whether he would profit by the development.

Miss Lolette Moore And Captain Helms United In Marriage At Methodist Church

A wedding characterized by beauty of detail and impressive ceremony and one of paramount interest to friends here and elsewhere, took place at the First Methodist Church, West Monroe, Saturday, October 25, at 6 o'clock in the evening, when Miss Lolette Moore, daughter of Mr. J. L. Moore of Urania, La., and Capt. Earl Helms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Helms of Bellaire, Michigan, were united in marriage.

Baskets of white gladioli against a background of ferns and candelabra supporting tall white tapers, furnished the lovely setting for the ceremony. White satin bows marked the pews reserved for members of the two families and intimate friends.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Staples, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. Mrs. Raymond Spence, organist, rendered "Poeme" and "Ave Maria", while the ushers, Messrs Daniel Clark, Paul Cook and A. P. Burkett, seated the guests. "At Dawning" was played while the candles were being lighted by Mr. Daniel Clark and Mr. A. P. Burkett.

Mrs. Spence wore a silk jersey model of pink with corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's two sisters, Mrs. Paul Cook and Mrs. Bill Hendrix, served as bridesmaid and matron of honor. Mrs. Cook wore a light green rayon faille model with fitted bodice and long full skirt. Her headpiece was of green maline with flowers and she carried an arm bouquet of bronze colored fujii chrysanthemums tied with long lengths of green satin ribbon.

Mrs. Hendrix wore an orchid faille model an exact replica of the bridesmaid's gown. Her headpiece of purple maline and flowers was also similarly fashioned. Her bouquet of fujii chrysanthemums was tied with purple satin ribbon. The junior flower girl, Nancy Clayton Calhoun, wore a bouffant gown of pale pink faille with bustle back. She carried a small bouquet of pink and orchid chrysanthemums caught with tufts of pink and orchid satin ribbons. Major Dean W. Dutrack of Monticello, Indiana, served the groom in the capacity of best man. Due to the illness of the bride's father, her brother-in-law, Mr. Bill Hendrix, gave her in marriage. She walked the aisle in a beautiful gown of heavy white slipper satin. The tight fitting bodice had a yoke of illusion outlined with pearl beads and embroidery. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the hands and the graceful skirt ended in a court train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion, edged in lace, was caught to the hair with a coronet of seed pearls.

Her bouquet of white carnations and vanda orchids was tied with loops of white satin ribbon.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Helms wore a black crepe model with a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Clark on Parnell street. Mrs. Clark, wearing a gown of heavy white crepe with corsage of bronze chysanthemums tied with gold cord, stood with the wedding party and the bridegroom's parents to receive the guests.

The spacious reception suite was adorned with Rose of Montana reflected in the mirror over the mantel. The bride's table, overlaid with handsome linen cutwork was adorned with the three-tiered wedding cake embossed with lover's knots of spun sugar and surmounted with bride and groom figurines. In the center of the table tall, white tapers, encircled a mound of white chrysanthemums and tuberoses. Mrs. George Austin, wearing black and white figured marquisette model, presided at the crystal punch bowl. Mrs. T. Gallien in yellow chiffon, Mrs. Helen DeLoach in green crepe, Mrs. Lynton Cook in ice blue crepe and Mrs. Cecille Burkett in aqua lace, served the embossed individual wedding cakes and wedding mints. Miss Charlotte Cook, wearing an evening model of pink with flowers in her hair, presided over the bride's book. For traveling, Mrs. Helms wore a smart tailleur of aqua gabardine with brown lizard shoes and bag and a small brown hat. Her corsage was of bronze fujii chrysanthemums.

Captain Helms, who recently returned from overseas duty, will be stationed at Turner Field, Georgia, where he and his bride will make their home.

Out of town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. O. T. Moore, Los Angeles, California, Major Dean W. Dutrack of Monticello, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Short, and Mr. and Mrs. George Feldman of Jackson, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bell of Mangham and the groom's parents from Bellaire, Michigan.

The memory of all federated club women will be refreshed on some solid problems when they meet in Lake Charles November 6-7-8 for their Forty-eighth annual convention of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs. The three-day program promises some lively discussions on weighty subjects. The delegates will also vote on one amendment to the Constitution and eight Resolutions.

Mrs. Samuel Levy, president-director of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, who will preside, has just returned from Washington, where she heard Mr. Beldy, vice-chairman of the president's food committee, speak. He told of the dire conditions in Europe and asked the women to cooperate with the Citizen's Food Committee. As a result of this request, Mrs. Levy is urging every Louisiana club woman and all women, in fact, to:

Save bread (one slice at each meal is equal to 4/5 ounce grain); to serve only small portions—(clean up plates) and observe meatless Tuesdays.

Observe poultryless and eggless Thursdays. (Insist that restaurants and hotels do the same.) "Food," Mrs. Levy says, is a vital factor in our foreign policy. "Our foreign policy has entered the American home and taken a place at our tables."

"Floods and drouths have caused peoples of Europe to be without grain and other foods. Food is our greatest defense. I am sure that Louisiana women will conserve food in order to help other starving countries. The program has to be carried out quickly in order to get food to Europe before the winter sets in."

Registration will begin at 4 p.m., Thursday, November 6, in the lobby of the hotel. "SHOPPING THE TOWN" WITH Camille

SEARCH NO MORE for the fountain of youth. . . . This elusive spring is right here in Monroe, at MARIE WAMSLEY'S BEAUTY SALON, to be exact. Have you wondered how certain women keep that look of youth? The answer is, a course of NORMATONE FIGURE NORMALIZING treatments at MARIE WAMSLEY'S. Every woman who has taken a course of treatments will testify to the miracles performed. . . . The gentle massaging soothes nerves, brings the glow of health and slenderizes the whole body.

COOL DAYS find Monroe society on the move and all movement apparently is in the direction of the LA CASA TEA ROOM. The type of food now appearing on the daily menu satisfies appetites whetted by the cool weather. Women go to the LA CASA because they crave the hot rolls, delicious pastries, the fried chicken and the molded fruit salads the LA CASA specializes in. The atmosphere at LA CASA is genial and heart-warming — no wonder women like to entertain there.

SAM RUBIN, Monroe's connoisseur of jewels and objet d' art, has given me permission to extend an invitation to men and women in the Twin Cities to visit the R & A JEWELRY SHOP and enjoy the feast he will spread before them. . . . It will be a feast for the eyes. Superb diamonds in rare antique settings. . . . Gorgeous rubies set in handsome rings and brooches. . . . Strands of lustrous pearls. You'll be thrilled with the antique silver services and the flat silver. Take a tip from me and accept this invitation.

TOYLAND OPENING AT LEVI'S. . . . How exciting it sounds. It's a gentle reminder that Christmas is near and now's the time to shop leisurely. Every shopper at FERD LEVI'S finds the very toy desired. The assortment of toys is the biggest in years and the prices are lower. If it's a doll you want, don't look elsewhere. FERD LEVI has them in every size and every price. The children's books are beautiful. Be sure and buy at least one for all your little friends.

MEN KNOW HOW irresistibly charming a woman can be sitting across from him at a candlelit table in the Fireside Room of the RENDEZVOUS. Men love to see their wives in such glamorous environment. Food at the RENDEZVOUS is so much better, so much more appetizing than a home-cooked meal. I sometimes wonder why husbands and wives don't make a practice of dining every night in the beautiful Fireside Room at the RENDEZVOUS. Cocktails in the patio make the evening perfect.

CALLING ALL WOMEN! I would like every woman to know what a CHARMODE GIRDLE from SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. does for the figure. . . . It gives and stretches with every movement. . . . It's divinely comfortable. . . . It takes inches off the waist, flattens the stomach and conceals every bulge. . . . It streamlines the figure. There's a private fitting room at SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO., where the corsetiere will fit you with the correct garment. There's one for every figure at SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO.

THE RAINBOW INN is definitely responsible for Monroe's glamorous night life. Life would be drab without this beautiful night club, where an orchestra plays nightly and the smart set gathers for formal dinner parties served in grand manner in the Empire Room or for an informal supper in one of the private booths. Men go to the RAINBOW INN for the big, thick, steaks and hot biscuits, delicious pastries and the fried chicken. Sea food is also a specialty.

HOW WOULD YOU like to have a tangerine-colored wool tailleur that's as proper for the office as for week-end football games? FINK will take your measurements for such a suit and tailor it to a fine point. The skirt will be the correct length and pencil slim and the coat will have distinctive features never found in a ready-to-wear garment. You'll wear your all-purpose, all-weather, all-season suit straight through the winter season into spring and summer. By the way, at FINK'S you can find materials to lengthen the skirt of your last year's suit.

THEY'LL WALK hand-in-hand with health, those children of yours, if they eat plenty of good, wholesome, vitamin-packed BROGAN'S SUREBEST BREAD. It's the very staff of life for those precious youngsters of yours. There's nothing that can compare with SUREBEST BREAD for lunch box sandwiches. . . . It stays fresh for hours because of the minerals in every loaf. The kneading of SUREBEST spreads the minerals evenly and that means every slice is nutritious. Nothing satisfies the appetite of growing children like SUREBEST.

QUITE THE GRANDEST way to remember the folks at home on Thanksgiving is by placing your order for a beautiful bouquet or a lovely table arrangement with the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP. Make your "personal appearance" with family or friends by sending flowers. Flowers from the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP always bring a feeling of warmth and closeness to wife, children, parents and friends. The WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP will deliver your Thanksgiving flowers inexpensively too.

WHAT TANTILIZING SNACKS! What exciting tid-bits for that cocktail party. Monroe hostesses and hosts as well, are raving over the snack bar at STERN'S A & A PACKAGE STORE, just back of the Palace. Epicureans are flocking to STERN'S SNACK BAR and stocking up on those crisp, breadsticks, Welch rarebit in bottles, stuffed cocktail onions, imported sardines, every kind of bottled pickles imaginable. Now is the time to stock up on fine liquors, wines and cocktail mixtures from STERN'S for your holiday entertaining.

THE YOUNG CROWD likes their smart style BUSTER BROWN SHOES at the YORK SHOP and mothers like that rigid arch and flexible sole that gives little feet comfortable freedom with support where it is mostly needed. The strong, supple, leather feature of BUSTER BROWN SHOES assures long wear. If there's a single little girl who doesn't own a pair of beautiful party slippers from the YORK SHOP, I don't know who she is. The YORK SHOP is always swarming with the young fry being fitted.

NO WONDER "MOMS" revel in leisure and let the CITY BAKERY do the baking. At the CITY BAKERY you can choose from an endless variety of delicious, exciting, tantalizing sweets for luncheon and dinner. Party snacks, too. Nourishing in-between-meal handouts. There's appetizing things for breakfast, too. . . . Coffee cake, doughnuts and, of course, MEL-O-TOAST BREAD. It makes golden brown toast. The CITY BAKERY is the home of MEL-O-TOAST. Order your fruitcakes for Thanksgiving from the CITY BAKERY. . . . They are truly delicious.

MISS MYRTLE RODGERS IS PRESENTED WITH HANDSOME PIECES OF STERLING SILVER

Very often the citizens of Monroe are granted the privilege of expressing in deeds instead of words, their appreciation of work well done by educators who have served their schools and their pupils faithfully and well.

The Georgia Tucker Parent-Teacher association, for instance, presented Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal of the Georgia Tucker school for the past twenty-five years, with a handsome silver service, a chest of flat silver and a beautiful silver pitcher in recognition of the wonderful work she has accomplished during that time. A tea was planned by the P.-T. A. members as a surprise to Miss Rodgers on the twenty-fifth anniversary of her school work.

The afternoon was charmingly informal with impromptu speeches, a distinct feature. Miss Rodgers wore the exquisite corsage sent to her by Mr. Henry Haas, Jr., in memory of his mother, the late Mrs. Rose Haas who served as the first president of the Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. Miss Rodgers said the gracious welcome given her by Mrs. Haas when she became the principal at Georgia Tucker has been a constant inspiration through the years.

Mrs. Bernard Levy and Mrs. S. D. Salosman were the originators of the idea of observing Miss Rodgers' twenty-fifth anniversary in fitting manner. They both worked with the teachers and the pupils who donated toward the gift, requested than to keep it a secret. As a result Miss Rodgers was completely surprised and found it difficult to express in words her great depth of feeling. The manifestion of love on this occasion was almost overwhelming.

A glowing tribute was paid to Mrs. Rodgers in charming manner by Mrs. Thelma Davenport. She said in part "Georgia Tucker School has grown from a six-teacher school under the capable supervision of the principal—and through her fond care and "mothering" over a thousand students have graduated and gone to higher institutions of learning.

At this time Miss Rodgers was presented with a chest of sterling silver by Whiting in "The Lily" pattern, also a silver service and silver pitcher.

All business was dispensed with at this meeting. Mrs. Joe T. Ray gave the national president's message in impressive manner.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was George Campbell of Oklahoma. He delighted his listeners with the story of his unusual life. Totally blind for the first eighteen years of his life, he was educated in public schools without the aid of braille. Through the loving supervision of his parents and teachers he learned to lead a useful life. In school he majored in speech and dramatics, and since the restoration of his sight, ten years ago, he has traveled in all the states lecturing to school children and civic clubs on "Sight Preservation."

There was another surprise for everyone at the close of the meeting when the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Owen McCleary, and her committee served the beautifully decorated anniversary cake with sherbet.

"Six southern states now require enrichment of degermed products," states Mrs. Mildred Swift, Associate Agent with the Agricultural Extension Department. Since not as much as 40 per cent of our calories come from corn products, enrichment legislation has not been pushed in this state.

The agent states it would be wise for families using large amounts of corn meal and grits to request the enriched products from their grocer. A diet high in corn products depletes the body of niacin making one susceptible to pellagra or border line cases of this disease. The Agent says the enriched corn products contain niacin as well as other nutrients.

PILOT CLUB WILL PRESENT HARNETT KANE IN REVIEW OF HIS LATEST BOOK

The Monroe public awaits with keen anticipation the appearance of Harnett Kane, noted Louisiana author, who will review his latest book, "Natchez on the Mississippi" in the assembly room of the Frances Hotel November 14. He will be presented by the Pilot Club and an invitation is extended to the public to hear Mr. Kane before he leaves on a national speaking tour which will take him to approximately 60 cities.

Advance sales of "Natchez on the Mississippi" have reached approximately 45,000 copies. As a result the book, which has been acclaimed as Mr. Kane's best, will appear on the national best seller list. There's a strong possibility that the book will be sold to the movies within the next few weeks.

Described as a "glamorous picturization of a lustrous place," Mr. Kane's "Natchez on the Mississippi" is a lavishly illustrated volume. Tilden, New Orleans, who illustrated Mr. Kane's "Plantation Parade" and "Bayous of Louisiana," has done the drawings. Approximately 50 photographs will also appear, with maps, garden designs and sepia end papers based on authentic drawings of an earlier day.

Mr. Kane found many family connections between Baton Rouge and Natchez, and various scenes take place in the Baton Rouge locality. His "Natchez" tells of the famous Natchez and Robert E. Lee steamboat race; the history of a "Yellow Duchess," who had to have the color about her—her walls, floors, the skin color of her slaves, down to her own pantaloons; a planter who went to Europe to get his wife a set of dishes; another who had marble troughs, silver name plates and mirrors for the horses in his stables; the macabre Goat Castle story; the tales of Nutt's Folly; the strange wills left by planters; the grower who kept his coffin in his attic for years; the story of the garden pilgrimages; the discovery of oil in the region.

Holloways Enjoy Wedding Anniversary

Grover Holloway Home Is The Scene Of Their Silver Wedding Anniversary

One of the most distinctive affairs of the season and one of the most beautiful in detail was Mr. and Mrs. Grover Holloway's open house on their silver wedding anniversary. An atmosphere of cordiality pervaded this beautiful home in festive floral attire on this occasion. Many of the flowers arranged, with artistry in the drawing room, reception suite and dining room, were gifts from friends. The beautiful gifts of silver were also on display.

Mrs. Holloway wore a lovely white crepe evening model trimmed with lace and silver. She carried a bouquet of white tube roses tied with long lengths of silver ribbon. She and Mr. Holloway were assisted in receiving by a lifelong friend, Mrs. Henry Loeb of Corpus Christi, Texas. She wore a beautiful Roman striped taffeta evening model with corsage of tube roses.

Mrs. Holloway presented all her friends who assisted her with exquisite corsages of white tube roses. They were:

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Harry Silverstein, Mrs. Frcida Bridge, Mrs. Ernest Marchman, Mrs. Jack Masur and Mrs. M. J. Carbone.

Trays laden with glasses of champagne and cocktails were passed throughout the receiving hours by white coated attendants. They also passed luscious turkey sandwiches, pastries and individual wedding cakes embossed in silver.

The table in the dining room was a masterpiece of artistry. It was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and centrally adorned with an immense white satin heart encircled with silver wedding bells. In the center was placed a silver epergne overflowing with white tube roses with silver ribbons radiating to miniature, three-tiered wedding cakes beautifully embossed in silver. At each end of the table white tapers burned in antique silver candelabra garlanded in tube roses.

One hundred and fifty guests called during the evening to offer felicitations and to wish Mr. and Mrs. Holloway a continuation of their happy married life.

OBSERVE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Holloway posed for the society photographer in their beautiful home on Park avenue before guests arrived to enjoy with them the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The event was one of the most prominent of the season and attracted one hundred or more friends.

Thought for the Month

Mrs. Seiler Is Hostess To Literature Club

The regular meeting of the Current Literature club was held in the home of Mrs. R. F. Siler.

An interesting article on "Toward Mental Health", was given by Mrs. Earl Stovall.

Mrs. W. O. Webb presinted a review of the book, "ePace Of Mind", by Joshua Loth Leibman. This book may well prove to be a vital influence in American life. It is a book that will help men and women get more out of life. It blends the truths of religion with the most helpful insights of the comparatively new science of psychoanalysis to guide people in understanding themselves. Love, fear, grief, the urge to succeed—these are some of the moods and motives that make or undermine happiness and any man or woman can liberate himself or herself from the constant assault of life's complications if there is a basis for thoughtful individual understanding.

This book with ith wisely optimistic outlook on life provides such a basis and will help multitudes of people remain normal in this abnormal age.

The author is a great and erudite preacher with many yeasr of experience in helping people themselves. Dr. Liebman is the rabbi of Temple Israel, Boston, with the largest reform Jewish congregation in New England. He is one of the leading radio preachers in America. His Sunday broadcasts to the six New England states alone have an audience of more than one million listeners.

During the last few years Dr. Liebman has serve das University preacher at Harvard, Cornell, Vassar, Dartmouth, Wellsley, and other leading universities. He is visiting Professor of Philosophy in the Graduate School of Boston University. He also teaches Judaism to students for the Christian ministry at Andover Newton Theological School.

At the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mrs. W. A. Cotton, Mrs. Dan Dennett, Mrs. L. M. Frey, Mrs. G. M. Heidenrich, Mrs. Walter Knapp, Mrs. H. C. Menuet, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., Mrs. R. F. Seilers, Mrs. Earl Stovall, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. L. A. West, Mrs. Wm. Whitfield, Mrs. Jerry Whitledge.

SECRETARIES-INTERNATIONAL ENJOY SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

A trip to the parish fair marked a somewhat gay beginning for the second semi-annual Southwest Regional meeting of Secretaries International.

Breakfast was served at 9:00 a. m. at the Virginia Hotel last Sunday morning. Programs displaying a picture of Columbus cleverly designed in green and white, the organization's colors, and corsages or single white carnations were displayed by the hostesses, the Monroe Chapter members. Bouquets of colorful fall flowers were attractively arranged in the background. Following the invocation, Mrs. Rema Jane Allen welcomed the visitors and members to the regional meeting. Miss Juanita Dickerson, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Dorothy Williams, sang in lovely soprano voice, "That Old Devil Moon". At the request of the group, Mrs. Williams gave a piano solo, a Spanish number.

Following the delicious breakfast the gorup attended services at the First Methodist Church of Monroe where they heard a splendid address by Dr. A. M. Serex.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock at the Virginia. Garlands of brilliant autumn leaves created a splash of color down the full length of the table. The programs, at each cover were in autumn leaf design. The guest speaker was Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Superintendent of Southern Carbon compan. Mr. Cretney's speech dealt with the various professions. To quote Mr. Cretney: "Full professional life is never successful in isolation. Like the church, it must have cultural life."

In his address Mr. Cretney compared belonging to a professional organization to depositing money in a bank, stating in part: "You can't get money out of a bank unless you put it in. If you establish credit you can get out of a bank much more than you put in. Often an interested worker can borrow much more from an organization than she put in," Some of deposits of an interested worker in an organization were listed as interest in your work, unselfishness, attendance, desire to serve, friendliness. To quote Mr. Cretney: "Some become organizers, some plan makers, some get reputations of errand runners. You put into the organization loyalty as interest on the deposits. No doubt we never know when we will need money badly. We never know when we will need to take from our organization accounts. Putting in now what we can take out later is only common sense. We get joy and contentment as well as affection from others from our organization accounts if we deposit these."

One point stressed in Mr. Cretney's address was character development. He said: "No matter what other aims your organization may have, your first aim should be to encourage development of character in your members. You devote first of all to that end."

To bring out another point of his address, that of the fact that all affection and service given to other members of an organization is returned to you, Mr. Cretney concluded his splendid address with this line from the pen of a famous poet: That which the fountain sends forth returns again to the fountain."

The afternoon was devoted to the formal business session. Reports were given from the various chapters represented and such items discussed as fund raising projects like benefit raffles; club activities of the year, the hiring of a full time registrar to organize new chapters, and setting of time and place of the next semi-annual conference.

District officers were elected for 1947-1948 by acclamation with the following members chosen: Lena Wallace, Monroe, president; Johnetta Wilhite, Monroe, recording secretary; and Cora Mae Perry, Little Rock, corresponding secretary.

Representation was slightly smaller than expected due to the inability of the Shreveport Chapter delegates to attend. Those present at the meeting, including guests and members, were: R. W. Cretney, Monroe; Zenobia Lewis, Little Rock; Cora Mae Perry, Little Rock; Dora Taylor, Little Rock; Yvonne Taylor, Shreveport; Ethel Newport, Monroe, Mignon Oxford, West Monroe; Mary Frances Griffin, West Monroe; Alice Chilton, Monroe; Juanita Dickerson, Monroe; Dorothy Williams, Monroe; and Lena Wallace, Rema Jane Allen, Lois Hollingsworth, Grace King, Marguerite Lindle, Vicci Bennett, Helen Youngblood, Juanita George, Helen McDaniel, and Johnetta Wilhite, all of the Monroe chapter.

Mr. Dayton Lewis accompanied by his son, Mr. Fred Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, and his granddaughter, Mrs. Nancy Lee Green and daughter, Victoria Jane, have returned to their home in Texas following a visit in the home of his brother, Mr. John P. Lewis and family of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis of this city.

One of the most distinctive affairs of the season and one of the most beautiful in detail was Mr. and Mrs. Grover Holloway's open house on their silver wedding anniversary. An atmosphere of cordiality pervaded this beautiful home in festive floral attire on this occasion. Many of the flowers arranged, with artistry in the drawing room, reception suite and dining room, were gifts from friends. The beautiful gifts of silver were also on display.

Mrs. Holloway wore a lovely white crepe evening model trimmed with lace and silver. She carried a bouquet of white tube roses tied with long lengths of silver ribbon. She and Mr. Holloway were assisted in receiving by a lifelong friend, Mrs. Henry Loeb of Corpus Christi, Texas. She wore a beautiful Roman striped taffeta evening model with corsage of tube roses.

Mrs. Holloway presented all her friends who assisted her with exquisite corsages of white tube roses. They were:

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Harry Silverstein, Mrs. Freida Bridge, Mrs. Ernest Marchman, Mrs. Jack Masur and Mrs. M. J. Carbone.

Trays laden with glasses of champagne and cocktails were passed throughout the receiving hours by white coated attendants. They also passed luscious turkey sandwiches, pastries and individual wedding cakes embossed in silver.

The table in the dining room was a masterpiece of artistry. It was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and centrally adorned with an immense white satin heart encircled with silver wedding bells. In the center was placed a silver epergne overflowing with white tube roses with silver ribbons radiating to miniature, three-tiered wedding cakes beautifully embossed in silver. At each end of the table white tapers burned in antique silver candelabra garlanded in tube roses.

One hundred and fifty guests called during the evening to offer felicitations and to wish Mr. and Mrs. Holloway a continuation of their happy married life.

OBSERVE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Holloway posed for the society photographer in their beautiful home on Park avenue before guests arrived to enjoy with them the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The event was one of the most prominent of the season and attracted one hundred or more friends.

Thought for the Month

One of the greatest sorrows at the death of a loved one are the unsaid things. Don't leave beautiful things unsaid until they can be said no more.

Say them today.
You'll not regret it.

Musical Event Charms Audience

onroe's Musical World Charmed By Morton Gould And His Orchestra

A representative gathering composed entirely of Mon-'s patrons of the arts, had a chance to see how meticu-sly a great conductor works with his orchestra, when rton Gould appeared at the Neville auditorium last Thurs-y night with his fifty piece orchestra and two brilliant ng stars, Mimi Benzell, coloratura ano, and Wilbur Evans, baritone. embers of the Junior Charity gue added another bright jewel to r crown when they presented this lling young conductor as one of r main projects of the year.

When Mr. Gould, in immaculate evening attire, first took his place on the dais, and raised his hands impressively it was quite obvious to everyone present that a thrilling evening of music was in store for them. It was a fervently enthusiastic audience listening to the numbers on the evening's program. Each number reached a notable plane of excellence and the technical virtuosity, combined with the sweep and blazing color of it all, rightly evoked an unusually heartfelt and vigorous ovation.

It was a thrilling moment when Mr. Gould took his place at the piano and in dynamic manner conducted his orchestra while giving the piano interpretation of his own composition, "Interplay." It was set to a brisk tempo and most of the measures were delivered with intensity. There was considerable drive and rhythmic power that proved overwhelming in the finale. Mr. Gould possesses unusual individuality of style and works with a great depth of conviction.

Miss Menzell, young and beautiful and a truly great singer, wore a shining satin gown of blue and a diamond necklace. She won the hearts of her audience the minute she stepped before the footlights. Her voluminous voice is ample in range, firm and brilliant at the full, and capable of warmth and richness of sound especially in such numbers as "I Dream Too Much." She came back again and again for encores and each time she gained favor with the audience.

The handsome young baritone, Wilbur Evans with his gamin smile, possesses a voice of vivid, dynamic contrasts. Extreme brilliance was noted in "Shadrack," and in "Serenade" the tender quality of his voice was heard to splendid advantage. Mr. Evans sings with a strong and manly resonance and with equally commendable diction. He also sings in the most convincing manner and with so much spontaneity one can't help but believe he sings for the pure joy of it. The audience was simply enchanted with the performance of Mr. Evans and Miss Benzell in "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin. They had a wonderful collaborator in Mr. Gould who directed the orchestra with superb skill.

The concert reached its climax with the unfoldment of Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine." The work was so effective and appealing and so brilliantly executed it necessitated many bows from the conductor.

onroe's Musical World Charmed By Morton Gould And His Orchestra

A representative gathering composed entirely of Mon-'s patrons of the arts, had a chance to see how meticu-sly a great conductor works with his orchestra, when rton Gould appeared at the Neville auditorium last Thurs-y night with his fifty piece orchestra and two brilliant ng stars, Mimi Benzell, coloratura ano, and Wilbur Evans, baritone. embers of the Junior Charity gue added another bright jewel to r crown when they presented this lling young conductor as one of r main projects of the year.

When Mr. Gould, in immaculate evening attire, first took his place on the dais, and raised his hands impressively it was quite obvious to everyone present that a thrilling evening of music was in store for them. It was a fervently enthusiastic audience listening to the numbers on the evening's program. Each number reached a notable plane of excellence and the technical virtuosity, combined with the sweep and blazing color of it all, rightly evoked an unusually heartfelt and vigorous ovation.

It was a thrilling moment when Mr. Gould took his place at the piano and in dynamic manner conducted his orchestra while giving the piano interpretation of his own composition, "Interplay." It was set to a brisk tempo and most of the measures were delivered with intensity. There was considerable drive and rhythmic power that proved overwhelming in the finale. Mr. Gould possesses unusual individuality of style and works with a great depth of conviction.

Miss Menzell, young and beautiful and a truly great singer, wore a shining satin gown of blue and a diamond necklace. She won the hearts of her audience the minute she stepped before the footlights. Her voluminous voice is ample in range, firm and brilliant at the full, and capable of warmth and richness of sound especially in such numbers as "I Dream Too Much." She came back again and again for encores and each time she gained favor with the audience.

The handsome young baritone, Wilbur Evans with his gamin smile, possesses a voice of vivid, dynamic contrasts. Extreme brilliance was noted in "Shadrack," and in "Serenade" the tender quality of his voice was heard to splendid advantage. Mr. Evans sings with a strong and manly resonance and with equally commendable diction. He also sings in the most convincing manner and with so much spontaneity one can't help but believe he sings for the pure joy of it. The audience was simply enchanted with the performance of Mr. Evans and Miss Benzell in "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin. They had a wonderful collaborator in Mr. Gould who directed the orchestra with superb skill.

The concert reached its climax with the unfoldment of Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine." The work was so effective and appealing and so brilliantly executed it necessitated many bows from the conductor.

Members of the Junior Charity League responsible for this brilliant event were: Mrs. Morgan Simonton, general chairman, and Mrs. Clifton Flinn, assistant; Mrs. G. L. Books To Read Now

With the first cool days of fall the circulation at Libraries shows a sharp upward rise. Everyone wants a good book to read during the long evenings.

To take care of this demand the Ouachita Parish Public Library added sixty-nine new titles of adult fiction during the month of October. Not any of these books are great works of literature, but most of them are interesting reading.

From the standpoint of literature, probably the best piece of writing found is Bernard De Voto's "Mountain Time." This is the story of a young doctor who lost faith in the medical profession and in himself. His fight to regain a normal state of mind is graphically portrayed. There is also an interesting love story in the book.

One of the most delightful books of the year is Agnes Sligh Turnbull's "The Bishop's Mantle." The central character is a young minister, who is the Rector of St. Matthews, a fashionable church in a large city. His experiences with the vestry and other members of his congregation are charmingly told. The story of his love for a beautiful young society girl, how he won her for his wife and how she finally became a good minister's wife, furnish the plot of the story.

"A Quiet Neighborhood," by Anne Goodwin Winslow is a nostalgic period piece, which reflects a way of life in the South, that is now completely gone. Some critics have compared it to "Lanterns on the Levee" by William A. Percy. It is not as good a book as "Lanterns on the Levee," but it is well worth reading.

"Web of Days" by Edna Lee is a typical romantic novel. The scene is Georgia in the days immediately following the Civil War. Every ingredient of a romantic novel is present; the wicked but attractive, run-down aristocratic planter; his deranged, but beautiful young wife; his disinherited, but charming younger brother; the beautiful and capable young governess from the North. Located on a ruined sea island plantation, this is a story you can't put down.

There are several books by well-known authors, probably none of them as good as their earlier works. Louis Bromfield has written a glorified western "Colorado." James Hilton has given his latest novel "Nothing so Strange" an American setting. Frederic Wakeman of "Huckster" fame has written an expose of the theatrical business in "The Saxon Charm." Berry Fleming has a new novel with a Southern setting "The Lightwood Tree." Margaret Lee Runbeck's new novel is called "Hope of Earth."

"Zeta" by Walter Karig is a fascinating piece of humor. "Darker" grows the Valley" by Harry Harrison Kroll is a good historical novel. Other new titles are "The Wedding Journey" by Walter D. Edmonds; "The Day they Gave Babies Away" by Dale Eunson; "Aftermath" by Hans Habe; "So Dear to My Heart" by Sterling North; "Hill of the Hawk" by Scott O'Dell; "The Ring and the Cross" by Robert Rylee"; and "Murder at the Mardi Gras" by Elizabeth M. Stone.

If you would like to read any of these books, they may be obtained at the Monroe Branch at 418 Jackson or the West Monroe Branch at 413 Natchitoches. You are most welcome at either place.

PERMITS ISSUED FOR 54 DWELLINGS

Dwelling units erection reached a 1947 high during the month of October as permits for 54 new units were issued, according to the monthly report given yesterday by Building Inspector Samuel Awl.

This month's high has been topped only once in recent years. In March, 1943, 62 homes were authorized, Inspector Awl said. He added, however, that cost of the 1943 building was only $158,000 while October units cost $206,086.

A further breakdown of building permits shows 8 non-dwellings and 23 additions and alterations. Cost for the non-dwellings was $23,295 and the additions ran $31,663 for an overall expenditure of $261,047 for October.

Two buildings were moved while three were demolished.

The earliest lighthouses of record were towers built by the Libyans and Cushites in Lower Egypt with beacon fires maintained in some of them by priests.

BOOK REVIEW FEATURES THE OCTOBER MEETING OF THE WELCOME BRANCH BOOK CLU

"The Shore Dimly Seen" was reviewed in interesting manner by Mrs. Zell Smith at the October meeting of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club in the home of Mrs. Charles Swain with Mrs. H. D. Holmes, co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. A. J. Speer presided during the short business session and Mrs. Henson Coon, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Smith who said in part:

Ellis G. Arnall, author describes himself as a democrat with a small "d", and in his book "The Shore Dimly Seen" he restates his philosophy of democracy and describes how he put it into practice in Georgia. This is a frank testament of a good American still dreaming of the simple frontier of his fathers, and he relates it in classic phrases and poetic rhythm. He was born March 20, 1907 in the town of Newnar, Georgia, into a wealthy family of mill owners and merchants. He was 12 years old when he announced his intention of becoming governor. This was probably due to the fact that his grandfather was a member of the Alabama Legislature. He displayed his talents for leadership at school. After receiving his L. L. B. degree in 1931 Arnall won admission to the Georgia bar and began his legal practice. As a "county-seat lawyer" in his home town, he studied the political scene, and in 1933 entered the political arena as a candidate for the Georgia House of Representatives. Running against five opponents, the twenty-six year old attorney won by an overwhelming vote.

In 1937, he entered the race for attorney general and was elected. As the youngest attorney general in the country, Arnall continued to grow in political statue. A first hand knowledge of the Talmadge administration reinforced Arnall's criticism of the governor's power. Since the growing opposition to the regime of Eugene Talmadge needed a crusading leader, Arnall came to the front organizing a blistering drive against Talmadge. He declared "This state has been given a national black age, Georgia wants reformation and wants it quickly." The campaign raged for months. While Talmadge ran on a program of "White supremacy," states rights and old time religion, the young leader Arnall, pledged a broad program of reform, declaring "Georgia now presents the worst type of dictatorship—I now hope to do something about it." When the votes were counted Arnall had won an emphatic victory, making him the youngest governor in the United States.

The book "The Shore Dimly Seen," won honorable mention for the award for "the most distinguished book of the year by a southern author on a southern subject" presented annually by the Southern Women's National Democratic Organization in New York. It's a rededication to the beliefs of the men who came to these shores in the 17th century, to the beliefs of those who carried on the struggle of 1776 in behalf of the common man, and to the beliefs of those who make the "freedom of other men our co cern, because nowhere in all the wo can some men be free until ever where all men are free. And they w be free on the shore dimly seen."

An article from The Saturday Ev ning Post was given by Mrs. W. Wheelis, entitled "From Sandalwo to Ant Eggs," by J. D. Ratcliff. M Ratcliff states that "There's scarce a business house in the world qu like S. B. Penick and Co. of 50 Chur Street, New York. If you are in t market for frankincense and myrr Penick can handle your order. If y want dried flies from Mexico or A eggs from Finland—which are used fish food—the company has go stocks on hand. BOOK REVIEW FEATURES THE OCTOBER MEETING OF THE WELCOME BRANCH BOOK CLU

"The Shore Dimly Seen" was reviewed in interesting manner by Mrs. Zell Smith at the October meeting of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club in the home of Mrs. Charles Swain with Mrs. H. D. Holmes, co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. A. J. Speer presided during the short business session and Mrs. Henson Coon, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Smith who said in part:

Ellis G. Arnall, author describes himself as a democrat with a small "d", and in his book "The Shore Dimly Seen" he restates his philosophy of democracy and describes how he put it into practice in Georgia. This is a frank testament of a good American still dreaming of the simple frontier of his fathers, and he relates it in classic phrases and poetic rhythm. He was born March 20, 1907 in the town of Newnar, Georgia, into a wealthy family of mill owners and merchants. He was 12 years old when he announced his intention of becoming governor. This was probably due to the fact that his grandfather was a member of the Alabama Legislature. He displayed his talents for leadership at school. After receiving his L. L. B. degree in 1931 Arnall won admission to the Georgia bar and began his legal practice. As a "county-seat lawyer" in his home town, he studied the political scene, and in 1933 entered the political arena as a candidate for the Georgia House of Representatives. Running against five opponents, the twenty-six year old attorney won by an overwhelming vote.

In 1937, he entered the race for attorney general and was elected. As the youngest attorney general in the country, Arnall continued to grow in political statue. A first hand knowledge of the Talmadge administration reinforced Arnall's criticism of the governor's power. Since the growing opposition to the regime of Eugene Talmadge needed a crusading leader, Arnall came to the front organizing a blistering drive against Talmadge. He declared "This state has been given a national black age, Georgia wants reformation and wants it quickly." The campaign raged for months. While Talmadge ran on a program of "White supremacy," states rights and old time religion, the young leader Arnall, pledged a broad program of reform, declaring "Georgia now presents the worst type of dictatorship—I now hope to do something about it." When the votes were counted Arnall had won an emphatic victory, making him the youngest governor in the United States.

The book "The Shore Dimly Seen," won honorable mention for the award for "the most distinguished book of the year by a southern author on a southern subject" presented annually by the Southern Women's National Democratic Organization in New York. It's a rededication to the beliefs of the men who came to these shores in the 17th century, to the beliefs of those who carried on the struggle of 1776 in behalf of the common man, and to the beliefs of those who make the "freedom of other men our c cern, because nowhere in all the w can some men be free until ev where all men are free. And they be free on the shore dimly seen."

An article from The Saturday E ning Post was given by Mrs. W Wheelis, entitled "From Sandalw to Ant Eggs," by J. D. Ratcliff. Ratcliff states that "There's scar a business house in the world q like S. B. Penick and Co. of 50 Ch Street, New York. If you are in market for frankincense and my Penick can handle your order. If want dried flies from Mexico or eggs from Finland—which are use fish food—the company has stocks on hand. Books To Read Now

With the first cool days of fall the circulation at Libraries shows a sharp upward rise. Everyone wants a good book to read during the long evenings.

To take care of this demand the Ouachita Parish Public Library added sixty-nine new titles of adult fiction during the month of October. Not any of these books are great works of literature, but most of them are interesting reading.

From the standpoint of literature, probably the best piece of writing found is Bernard De Voto's "Mountain Time." This is the story of a young doctor who lost faith in the medical profession and in himself. His fight to regain a normal state of mind is graphically portrayed. There is also an interesting love story in the book.

One of the most delightful books of the year is Agnes Sligh Turnbull's "The Bishop's Mantle." The central character is a young minister, who is the Rector of St. Matthews, a fashionable church in a large city. His experiences with the vestry and other members of his congregation are charmingly told. The story of his love for a beautiful young society girl, how he won her for his wife and how she finally became a good minister's wife, furnish the plot of the story.

"A Quiet Neighborhood," by Anne Goodwin Winslow is a nostalgic period piece, which reflects a way of life in the South, that is now completely gone. Some critics have compared it to "Lanterns on the Levee" by William A. Percy. It is not as good a book as "Lanterns on the Levee," but it is well worth reading.

"Web of Days" by Edna Lee is a typical romantic novel. The scene is Georgia in the days immediately following the Civil War. Every ingredient of a romantic novel is present; the wicked but attractive, run-down aristocratic planter; his deranged, but beautiful young wife; his disinherited, but charming younger brother; the beautiful and capable young governess from the North. Located on a ruined sea island plantation, this is a story you can't put down.

"Alexandra" by Gladys Schmitt is a well done character novel. Her power of description is good and her perception and feeling are excellent.

There are several books by well-known authors, probably none of them as good as their earlier works. Louis Bromfield has written a glorified western "Colorado." James Hilton has given his latest novel "Nothing so Strange" an American setting. Frederic Wakeman of "Huckster" fame has written an expose of the theatrical business in "The Saxon Charm." Berry Fleming has a new novel with a Southern setting "The Lightwood Tree." Margaret Lee Runbeck's new novel is called "Hope of Earth."

"Zotz" by Walter Karig is a fascinating piece of humor. "Darker" grows the Valley" by Harry Harrison Kroll is a good historical novel. Other new titles are "The Wedding Journey" by Walter D. Edmonds; "The Day they Gave Babies Away" by Dale Eunson; "Aftermath" by Hans Habe; "So Dear to My Heart" by Sterling North; "Hill of the Hawk" by Scott O'Dell; "The Ring and the Cross" by Robert Rylee"; and "Murder at the Mardi Gras" by Elizabeth M. Stone.

If you would like to read any of these books, they may be obtained at the Monroe Branch at 418 Jackson or the West Monroe Branch at 415 Natchitoches. You are most welcome at either place.

PERMITS ISSUED FOR 54 DWELLINGS

Dwelling units erection reached a 1947 high during the month of October as permits for 54 new units were issued, according to the monthly report given yesterday by Building Inspector Samuel Awl.

This month's high has been topped only once in recent years. In March, 1943, 62 homes were authorized, Inspector Awl said. He added, however, that cost of the 1943 building was only $158,000 while October units cost $206,086.

A further breakdown of building permits shows 8 non-dwellings and 23 additions and alterations. Cost for the non-dwellings was $23,255 and the additions ran $31,666 for an overall expenditure of $261,047 for October.

Two buildings were moved while three were demolished.

The earliest lighthouses of record were towers built by the Libyans and Cushites in Lower Egypt with beacon fires maintained in some of them by priests.

Mary Hewitt Is October Bride

Wedding In California Of Interest To Friends In Twin Cities

A wedding in San Mateo, Calif., of widespread interest to friends in the Twin Cities was that of Mary McKee Hewitt, daughter of Mrs. John McPherson McKee of West Monroe, and Mr. Alfred L. Sandretti.

For "something old" the bride wore a ring of opals and diamonds, a gift from her mother, and she had the traditional "shilling in her shoe," an English six-pence. She carried a Spanish lace handkerchief, a gift from Spanish royalty to Mrs. Ralph Lewis of Hayward.

Mrs. August Sandretti, Jr., was the bride's only attendant and wore a long white dress with long gloves and a spray of gardenias and stock tied with lime green satin ribbon. She had an off-face hat of horsehair net.

Receiving guests at her home after the wedding, Mrs. August Sandretti, mother of the groom, wore a pale blue crepe gown with feather hat and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bride's mother, Mrs. John McPherson McKee. Mrs. McKee wore a royal blue crepe gown with Talisman roses and black accessories.

The bride has been operating the Mary McKee Hewitt Dance Studios the past two years. She and her husband are both graduates of San Mateo Junior College where the bride took part in dramatics and cheer leading. The bride has a pilot's license and is active in aviation circles. She will continue her dance studio in San Mateo.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the California Maritime Academy and during the war rose to the rank of lieutenant-commander in that service. He is now vice-president and co-owner of Avery Motors. His parents are the senior August Sandrettis in whose home, at 364 Franklin, the wedding reception took place.

The couple went to Carmel on their wedding trip and are now at home in San Mateo. For traveling the bride wore a turquoise knit suit with gold, beige and brown accessories.

Among out-of-town relatives and guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Woollee, Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Dudrow and son, Douglas, San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. F. Averey, Mt. View; Mrs. Corine Yeckley and daughter, Krysten, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Hayward; Mrs. L. Brocco, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. E. Berti, Salinas; and Mr. and Mrs. R. Coleman and daughter, Madelyn, Richmond.

Devy Erlih, brilliant young French violinist whose first American concert tour this year is breaking records both from the standpoint of critical acclaim and the box office, comes to this city on Tuesday, 8:15 p. m. at Northeast Junior College. Not yet twenty, the renowned young Parisian has been designated "A prince of the violin." Said the Paris Los Arts following a recent recital: "He is the vanguard of the coming generation from which the great masters of the future will emerge."

Erlih's extraordinary artistic achievement can be traced to three major factors: His father, an accomplished msuician and as sympathetic and sensitive as his mother, first taught him to play and later carefully guided him through the perilous shoals of the "boy wonder" period, until he attained full maturity. The "formative" years, when he studied at the Paris conservatory (and won the first prize of the conservatory) were spent in war-time Paris, where the danger of over-concertizing or of being over-publicized were negligible. He possessed, from earliest childhood, the great gift of a genius that probably could not have been damaged or diverted no matter what the circumstances. The last point is, of course, the chief one, and since genius defies definition or explanation it is sufficient merely to note the comment of the distinguished critic for the Paris Spectateur: "This boy will take his place among the Kreislers and the Heifetzes.

Everywhere Devy Erith appears he engenders an electrical excitement in the concert hall. As he plays, you can almost hear members of the audience saying to themselves, "Just think—I heard Dovy Erlih on his first American tour!" Audiences are accordingly surprised—and delighted—when they meet the young French maestro to discover that he is as simple and unaffected as his approach to the music he plays. Though his chief interest, of course, is "La Musique—avant tonte chose" he is keenly interested in people and is always delighted when an American will talk to him about current problems, the weather, business conditions, or how to get Johnnie to practice his music lesson.

MRS. F. V. BARNETT EXTENDS THE HOSPITALITY OF HER HOME TO THE REVIEW CLUB

Mrs. F. V. Barnett extended the gracious hospitality of her home to members of the Review Club which met Monday afternoon, October 20, for a regular bi-monthly meeting. Effective arrangements of roses, lupin and carnations were placed with discriminate care in the reception rooms where the members and one guest, Mrs. Harrell Webster, were gathered.

The meeting opened with the reading of the club collect, led by Mrs. D. M. Moore. A business session followed with the P. sident, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, calling for the roll call, minutes, treasurer's report, as well as a special report by Mrs. W. T. Davis, chairman of American Home department, in which the significance of Better Parenthood Week was emphasized. Her talk concluded with the reading of the poem, "Faith", from the state president's monthly message.

Mrs. John P. Noel wes elected to membership on the Advisory Board, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. C. B. Braun.

It was called to the attention of the group that October 20-26 had been designated as National Bible Week, a time to focus attention upon the value of the reading of the Bible as a guide to daily living, as a regenerating power to save civilization from irretrievable ruin, to allay the fears which grip the world of today.

The afternoon's program was introduced by Mrs. E. P. Cudd, who prepared the listene s with a few well-chosen words for Mrs. Sam Smith's unusually interesting discussion of the life of Frank Lloyd Wright, one of the architectural geniuses of our times. The reviewer said, "Frank Lloyd Wright, America's greatest architect, has written a turbulent and wonderful story of life in America. It covers a period of more than half a century in which he presents a curiously-changing and always vivid background. Mr. Wright tells of his tragedies and triumphs in this very interesting and beautiful volume which he calls simply "An Autobiography by Frank Lloyd Wright". His colorful career, which has brought him world-wide acclaim, made this book a splendid contribution to the program.

Mrs. A. R. Holloway's interesting review of Richard Sherman's "The Bright Promise", gave her listeners a retrospective insight into the tragedies, frustrations and economic problems of the period from 1933-1945 in American history. The Roosevelt era was the background upon which the author superimposed the story of the Ellerys, middle-of-the-road people, ambitious, intelligent, adaptable to New York life or Middle West provincialism. This family simply mirror the problems of those difficult years, the bewilderment and self-doubt which characterized millions and over which stood the man, Roosevelt astride like a great tower of confidence, hope and inspiration. Told by Amy Ellery with sincerity, feeling and color, the narrative has a looking back quality at distant things which happened only yesterday.

The editors of Good Housekeeping read Richard Sherman's book and broke an established precedent of publishing only two-part serials and paid him $50,000 for his story to be brought out in five installments. Other copies were sent publishing houses and a movie producer who likewise paid fabulous sums for use of it. Finally, to climax his success with the book, a group of critics selected it as their choice for the month of August.

After the program the hostess served individual pastries and coffee to the following: Mrs. H. W. Colbert, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. John P. Noel and the guest, Mrs. Harrell Webster.

Rev. Rasmussen, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, in Ruston, will be the guest speaker.

MRS. STONE AND MRS. PARNELL EXTEND COURTESIES TO CLUB MEMBERS AT THE LOTUS CLUB

The lounge of the Lotus club, adorned with colorful autumn flowers was the setting for the October meeting of the Monroe Literary club with Mrs. J. F. Stone and Mrs. Dan Parnell hostesses.

The club collect was read by Mrs. Sidney Carr and the president, Mrs. J. R. Roark presided over a brief business meeting, at which time two new members, Mrs. V. A. McNeil and Mrs. A. G. Olcott, were welcomed.

Plans were made at this time to send the president and delegates to the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in Lake Charles, La., November 6, 7, and 8.

Mrs. Parnell, program chairman, introduced Mrs. R. C. Brice, who gave a paper on "Africa." She said in part: "To most of us Africa is "just a lot of real estate" inhabited by Negroes of the blackest shade, whereas in many parts of Africa a really black man is a rarity.

It is necessary to speak in general terms of Africa's 160 million inhabitants, 5 million of which are European, because of their disregard for political boundaries, resulting in overlapping of race and language. North Africa is almost entirely Mohammedan in religion, the people are highly civilized. Here the women wear veils. Among certain tribes in the Sahara men wear veils. In Central Equatorial Africa some tribes are very uncivilized.

The hundreds of different tribes that inhabit Africa today originate from three stocks: Bushman, Negro, and Hamite. There is no such thing as a pure race unless it is the Bushman of the Kalahari Desert and Southwest Africa, who are famous for their rock paintings.

The purest types of Negroes inhabit West Africa and the eastern frontier of Nigeria. It is among these people that African arts and crafts have reached their highest development.

The Hamites are supposed to have descended from Ham, second son of Noah.

The Bantu line runs across Africa from Rio del Rey on the west coast to Mombosa on the east coast. Numbering 40 million, the Bantus comprise many tribes and languages, the most famous of which are the Zulus, whose warlike nature brought them into conflict with the British in the Zulu war of 1879. With these people cattle are the most prized form of wealth. The farther north you go in Bantu, Africa, the more important cattle become. North of the Bantu line are the Negro tribes of West Africa, numbering about 40 million also. To these people money is far more important than cattle. They have built towns which are thronged with people buying and selling all kinds of goods. West African jewelry decorated with signs of the zodiac are world famous.

An important influence in West Africa is that of the Hauses, who are mostly Mohammedans. They are great cultivators and traders and have their own kings. There are several Hausa kingdoms, one of which is Kano. A brief description gives some idea of the contrasts in different parts of Africa. On the outskirts of Kano, a town of 80,000, live 300 white people who have a British life, with their cricket, polo, tennis, and country club. The natives, ruled by their king, live as they have for centuries, undisturbed by and in perfect amity with the handful of "white lords" a short distance away. The king rules 2 million subjects and is the richest of Africa's native kings.

With 160 million people scattered over such a vast continent that has room for 800 millions, there are great differences in the density of the population. The valley of the Nile is the most densely peopled region of Africa, having 1000 persons per square mile. In the Union of South Africa the number per square mile is 20. In the Sahara, the Lalahari Desert, and the coast of South-West Africa the population ranges from zero to 5 per square mile.

Mrs. S. E. Morris read a most interesting paper on Palestine, "Behind the Silken Veil." She stated in part "Mr. Crum was one of the six men appointed by President Truman to serve on the Anglo-American committee of inquiry on Palestine. Mr. Crum stated from the hour of his appointment became known he was given little peace. When he arrived in Palestine the British had armed guards placed everywhere and they were told not to leave their hotel without a guard. But I saw Jews and Arabs strolling along the streets together. Nevertheless the British officials warned us we were in constant danger. Every effort was made to make us believe we had come to a land on the brink of civil war. I soon learned the trouble was between the Jews and British and not the Jews and Arabs. The Jews want a place they can call their own. One Jew said they wanted Palestine, then they will never hear the words 'Jews get out of my country.' He said Americans have America and British have England, so why not a state for us. I was told by both Jews and Arabs, left alone they would get along. By their present policy the British, stated Mr. Crum, may suffer a tragic loss of the only middle east friends they now have, the Jews of Palestine."

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Parnell and Mrs. Stone to the following club members: Mrs. R. C. Brice, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. Edwin Crowley, Mrs. W. T. Ellis, Mrs. S. E. Holloway, Mrs. Sidney Carr, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. Ben Parnell, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. Z. T. Stone, Mrs. J. W. Womack, Mrs. Ben Parnell, Mrs. J. F. Stone and Mrs. Guy Du Priest.

WILL WED IN NOVEMBER

Miss Mary Frances Cloud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Cloud, whose engagement to Mr. William Irwin Morrow, son of Mrs. Evelyn Bacon Morrow, is announced today. The wedding will take place November 14.

Mary Hewitt Is October Bride

Wedding In California Of Interest To Friends In Twin Cities

A wedding in San Mateo, Calif., of widespread interest to friends in the Twin Cities was that of Mary McKee Hewitt, daughter of Mrs. John McPherson McKee of West Monroe, and Mr. Alfred L. Sandretti.

It was a quiet wedding for family and friends at the Burlingame Methodist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wayne Kessel in a setting of white gladioli and stock, flanked by tall candelabra. The bride wore a long white china silk dress with lace ruffles on the skirt creating an apron effect. She wore matching mitts of lace and net and a shoulder-length veil, and carried white orchids arranged on a prayer book.

For "something old" the bride wore a ring of opals and diamonds, a gift from her mother, and she had the traditional "shilling in her shoe," an English six-pence. She carried a Spanish lace handkerchief, a gift from Spanish royalty to Mrs. Ralph Lewis of Hayward.

Mrs. August Sandretti, Jr., was the bride's only attendant and wore a long white dress with long gloves and a spray of gardenias and stock tied with lime green satin ribbon. She had an off-face hat of horsehair net.

Receiving guests at her home after the wedding, Mrs. August Sandretti, mother of the groom, wore a pale blue crepe gown with feather hat and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bride's mother, Mrs. John McPherson McKee. Mrs. McKee wore a royal blue crepe gown with Talisman roses and black accessories.

The bride has been operating the Mary McKee Hewitt Dance Studios the past two years. She and her husband are both graduates of San Mateo Junior College where the bride took part in dramatics and cheer leading. The bride has a pilot's license and is active in aviation circles. She will continue her dance studio in San Mateo.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the California Maritime Academy and during the war rose to the rank of lieutenant-commander in that service. He is now vice-president and co-owner of Avery Motors. His parents are the senior August Sandrettis in whose home, at 364 Franklin, the wedding reception took place.

The couple went to Carmel on their wedding trip and are now at home in San Mateo. For traveling the bride wore a turquoise knit suit with gold, beige and brown accessories.

Among out-of-town relatives and guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Woollee, Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Dudrow and son, Douglas, San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. F. Averey, Mt. View; Mrs. Corine Yeckley and daughter, Krysten, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Hayward; Mrs. L. Brocco, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. E. Berti, Salinas; and Mr. and Mrs. R. Coleman and daughter, Madelyn, Richmond.

Devy Erlih, brilliant young French violinist whose first American concert tour this year is breaking records both from the standpoint of critical acclaim and the box office, comes to this city on Tuesday, 8:15 p. m. at Northeast Junior College. Not yet twenty, the renowned young Parisian has been designated "A prince of the violin." Said the Paris Los Arts following a recent recital: "He is the vanguard of the coming generation from which the great masters of the future will emerge."

Erlih's extraordinary artistic achievement can be traced to three major factors: His father, an accomplished msuician and as sympathetic and sensitive as his mother, first taught him to play and later carefully guided him through the perilous shoals of the "boy wonder" period, until he attained full maturity. The "formative" years, when he studied at the Paris conservatory (and won the first prize of the conservatory) were spent in war-time Paris, where the danger of over-concertizing or of being over-publicized were negligible. He possessed, from earliest childhood, the great gift of a genius that probably could not have been damaged or diverted no matter what the circumstances. The last point is, of course, the chief one, and since genius defies definition or explanation it is sufficient merely to note the comment of the distinguished critic for the Paris Spectateur: "This boy will take his place among the Kreislers and the Heifetzes.

Everywhere Devy Erith appears he engenders an electrical excitement in the concert hall. As he plays, you can almost hear members of the audience saying to themselves, "Just think—I heard Dovy Erlih on his first American tour!" Audiences are accordingly surprised—and delighted—when they meet the young French maestro to discover that he is as simple and unaffected as his approach to the music he plays. Though his chief interest, of course, is "La Musique—avant tonte chose" he is keenly interested in people and is always delighted when an American will talk to him about current problems, the weather, business conditions, or how to get Johnnie to practice his music lesson.

MR. AND MRS. STANCIL

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stancil, bride and groom of recent date. Mrs. Stancil was formerly Miss Margie Ruth Barberouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leon Barberouse of Taylor, La. Mr. Stancil is the son of Mrs. A. L. Stancil, formerly of this city.

MRS. F. V. BARNETT EXTENDS THE HOSPITALITY OF HER HOME TO THE REVIEW CLUB

Mrs. F. V. Barnett extended the gracious hospitality of her home to members of the Review Club which met Monday afternoon, October 20, for a regular bi-monthly meeting. Effective arrangements of roses, lupin and carnations were placed with discriminate care in the reception rooms where the members and one guest, Mrs. Harrell Webster, were gathered.

The meeting opened with the reading of the club collect, led by Mrs. D. M. Moore. A business session followed with the P. sident, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, calling for the roll call, minutes, treasurer's report, as well as a special report by Mrs. W. T. Davis, chairman of American Home department, in which the significance of Better Parenthood Week was emphasized. Her talk concluded with the reading of the poem, "Faith", from the state president's monthly message.

Mrs. John P. Noel was elected to membership on the Advisory Board, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. C. B. Braun.

It was called to the attention of the group that October 20-26 had been designated as National Bible Week, a time to focus attention upon the value of the reading of the Bible as a guide to daily living, as a regenerating power to save civilization from irretrievable ruin, to allay the fears which grip the world of today.

The afternoon's program was introduced by Mrs. E. P. Cudd, who prepared the listene s with a few well-chosen words for Mrs. Sam Smith's unusually interesting discussion of the life of Frank Lloyd Wright, one of the architectural geniuses of our times. The reviewer said, "Frank Lloyd Wright, America's greatest architect, has written a turbulent and wonderful story of life in America. It covers a period of more than half a century in which he presents a curiously-changing and always vivid background. Mr. Wright tells of his tragedies and triumphs in this very interesting and beautiful volume which he calls simply "An Autobiography by Frank Lloyd Wright". His colorful career, which has brought him world-wide acclaim, made this book a splendid contribution to the program.

Mrs. A. R. Holloway's interesting review of Richard Sherman's "The Bright Promise", gave her listeners a retrospective insight into the tragedies, frustrations and economic problems of the period from 1933-1945 in American history. The Roosevelt era was the background upon which the author superimposed the story of the Ellerys, middle-of-the-road people, ambitious, intelligent, adaptable to New York life or Middle West provincialism. This family simply mirror the problems of those difficult years, the bewilderment and self-doubt which characterized millions and over which stood the man, Roosevelt astride like a great tower of confidence, hope and inspiration. Told by Amy Ellery with sincerity, feeling and color, the narrative has a looking back quality at distant things which happened only yesterday.

The editors of Good Housekeeping read Richard Sherman's book and broke an established precedent of publishing only two-part serials and paid him $50,000 for his story to be brought out in five installments. Other copies were sent publishing houses and a movie producer who likewise paid fabulous sums for use of it. Finally, to climax his success with the book, a group of critics selected it as their choice for the month of August.

After the program the hostess served individual pastries and coffee to the following: Mrs. H. W. Colbert, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. John P. Noel and the guest, Mrs. Harrell Webster.

SISTERHOOD WILL MEET IN TEMPLE

The Temple B' Nai Israel Sisterhood will meet in the annex, Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Rasmussen, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, in Ruston, will be the guest speaker.

Members and their friends are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. J. B. Pickens is president.

MRS. STONE AND MRS. PARNELL EXTEND COURTESIES TO CLUB MEMBERS AT THE LOTUS CLUB

The lounge of the Lotus club, adorned with colorful autumn flowers was the setting for the October meeting of the Monroe Literary club with Mrs. J. F. Stone and Mrs. Dan Parnell hostesses.

The club collect was read by Mrs. Sidney Carr and the president, Mrs. J. R. Roark presided over a brief business meeting, at which time two new members, Mrs. V. A. McNeil and Mrs. A. G. Olcott, were welcomed.

Plans were made at this time to send the president and delegates to the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in Lake Charles, La., November 6, 7, and 8.

Mrs. Parnell, program chairman, introduced Mrs. R. C. Brice, who gave a paper on "Africa." She said in part: "To most of us Africa is "just a lot of real estate" inhabited by Negroes of the blackest shade, whereas in many parts of Africa a really black man is a rarity.

It is necessary to speak in general terms of Africa's 160 million inhabitants, 5 million of which are European, because of their disregard for political boundaries, resulting in overlapping of race and language. North Africa is almost entirely Mohammedan in religion, the people are highly civilized. Here the women wear veils. Among certain tribes in the Sahara men wear veils. In Central Equatorial Africa some tribes are very uncivilized.

The hundreds of different tribes that inhabit Africa today originate from three stocks: Bushman, Negro, and Hamite. There is no such thing as a pure race unless it is the Bushman of the Kalahari Desert and Southwest Africa, who are famous for their rock paintings.

The purest types of Negroes inhabit West Africa and the eastern frontier of Nigeria. It is among these people that African arts and crafts have reached their highest development.

The Hamites are supposed to have descended from Ham, second son of Noah.

The Bantu line runs across Africa from Rio del Rey on the west coast to Mombosa on the east coast. Numbering 40 million, the Bantus comprise many tribes and languages, the most famous of which are the Zulus, whose warlike nature brought them into conflict with the British in the Zulu war of 1879. With these people cattle are the most prized form of wealth. The farther north you go in Bantu, Africa, the more important cattle become. North of the Bantu line are the Negro tribes of West Africa, numbering about 40 million also. To these people money is far more important than cattle. They have built towns which are thronged with people buying and selling all kinds of goods. West African jewelry decorated with signs of the zodiac are world famous.

An important influence in West Africa is that of the Hauses, who are mostly Mohammedans. They are great cultivators and traders and have their own kings. There are several Hausa kingdoms, one of which is Kano. A brief description gives some idea of the contrasts in different parts of Africa. On the outskirts of Kano, a town of 80,000, live 300 white people who have a British life, with their cricket, polo, tennis, and country club. The natives, ruled by their king, live as they have for centuries, undisturbed by and in perfect amity with the handful of "white lords" a short distance away. The king rules 2 million subjects and is the richest of Africa's native kings.

With 160 million people scattered over such a vast continent that has room for 800 millions, there are great differences in the density of the population. The valley of the Nile is the most densely peopled region of Africa, having 1000 persons per square mile. In the Union of South Africa the number per square mile is 20. In the Sahara, the Lalahari Desert, and the coast of South-West Africa the population ranges from zero to 5 per square mile.

Mrs. S. E. Morris read a most interesting paper on Palestine, "Behind the Silken Veil." She stated in part "Mr. Crum was one of the six men appointed by President Truman to serve on the Anglo-American committee of inquiry on Palestine. Mr. Crum stated from the hour of his appointment became known he was given little peace. Watch Their Faces While They're Singing

You can tell by their expressions how much or how little a hymn conveys. Some folks stand there deadpan, their mouths moving just enough to suggest that they know a few of the words. Others sing sadly, a lifetime of self-pity echoed in their eyes and voices. There's the type who sings just to be heard above all others without a thought to the meaning of the selection; and finally there are all the sincere, zealous folk who sing straight from their hearts interpreting with true spirit and emotion the message in each hymn. These are the church-goers who find solace and succor in their faith; they are your friends, neighbors and family who cordially invite you to join them in regular church attendance, through which you can find an answer to many of the problems of the age in which we live.

ar Starving German Family Appeals Here For Needed Aid

. L. T. Hastings Receives Letter Pleading For Immediate Help

pathetic appeal for help was re-ved from Germany by Rev. L. T. stings the past week. The writer d of the hardships and near starva-n that confronts his family in these st-war days. The letter written in nglish contained, the writer con-essed, many errors but he begged umble apology and declared that nly because of the suffering of his amily had he decided to make the ppeal. The letter, in part, is as fol-ows:

"Dear Reverend, Dear Sisters and ear Brethren:

"By a lucky chance I got your ddress. I have no relations abroad. s we live under dire circumstances nd in desperation and urgently need nderstanding and help by our sisters nd brethren from abroad, I address is letter to you. I hope these lines will not trouble you.

"After second thought I now come to the conclusion to ask you, my sisters and brethren from abroad for help, for you alone can help. Please be so good as to help us because of Calvary.

"It's a hard work to write these lines, but hunger and desperation forces me to. Will you therefore ex-cuse my mistakes? I will write Eng-lish for the first time since I left school in 1936. We are a large family of seven desperate sisters and brethren of yours and starve as a result of the horrible Hitler war, the worse existing food shortage, disease, bad dwellings and unsufficient clothes. My family is as follows: (1) Mary Ploetzgen, 55 years, my mother; (2) Gisela Roberz, 6 years, daughter and orphan of my sister; (3) F. A. Ploetz-gen, 27 years, my brother; (4) M. A. Ploetzgen, 25 years, my brother's wife; (5) Asul Ploetzgen, 5 years, son of my brother; (6) Margarete E. Ploetz-gen, 32, my wife; and (7) myself, 30 years old.

"My poor mother lost her daughter and her husband in an air raid six days before American troops released s. We also lost in the raid our com-rtable 8-room house and all the fur-niture, and clothes. On the unhappy day of the air raid, March 8, 1945, my sister's family was in the cellar of the house. My poor mother scraped Gisela out of the ruins. She scraped and scraped with her poor hands and nearly suffocating, she got her grand-child out but her daughter, the child's mother, perished. Our dear Lord must have given her strength like an ele-phant!

"Gisela was sick and unconscious for weeks but our Heavenly Father saved her life. Today she is a very nice and big girl with lovely big eyes. She is all our sunshine in these dark days.

"As our rations are very small and one can not buy any clothing we don't get our ration card over her, my family now lacks almost everything. With the exception of the two chil-dren we all lost one-sixth to one-fourth of our weight each. We all are no more as healthy as we should be. My poor mother had two opera-tions. She suffers, as does my wife, from a weak heart. For the children we fear for the worse for tubercu-losis, if they will not get nourishing food. My brother and I suffer from a disease of the stomach. Even at night one can not forget the hunger and the poor little ones weep in their dreams, awake and cry for something to stop their craving for food. The rations we got are too small and not nourishing enough.

"In this year, we only get 15 lbs. of potatoes on our ration card in the British zone. Cereal we get one pound each month a person. To get one small loaf of bread once in a week, but only if the baker gets flour, we must stand in along row of perhaps 400 persons and wait five, nine or 10 hours. Those who come late dont get any bread. We have to do this in cold winter too. Can you imagine our doing this day after day almost too weak to stand so long? Vege-tables, fruit, cereal and potatoes are scarcer every day. Grown ups get one, and children five lbs. of fruit for the whole year. Up to now only children got one lb. of apples for cooking use only. Potatoes are the size of plums. Our whole shorten-ing ration for four weeks is less than 3 ounces. Only little children get milk about 6 pints for four weeks. Flour we got two and one-half lb. for the last eight months per person. Two eggs from January to Septem-ber and we never get milk and egg powder any more at all. Our best housewives are not able to feed their loved ones with these small rations. Our daily two or three meals con-sist of about one coffee cup of thin soup and, if so lucky as to have it, a thin small piece of dry bread.

"We already sometimes admired our own ccurage that has kept us going. Thanks to Him we always will be remembered and that sufferings were never foreign to Christians since the dawn of Christianity.

"It's my only hope it may be pos-sible for some of you good people to enter our names when packages are sent for relief. You are now per-mitted to send to starving friends or relatives in the German British zone. I am so very sorry I can not promise whether or at what time I can pay back but I beg from the bottom of my heart to give us what you can for the smallest quantity of food and clothing will mean so much to us.

"Already worn clothing stuff, shoes, socks, blankets will be highly appre-ciated. With regard to food, we most-ly need and beg of you for any kind of shortening, butter, margerine, etc., cheese, flour, sugar, meat, milk and egg powder, rice, beans or peas, cof-fee, noodles, farina, tea, spices, saco-harin, or anything you can spare. But should sugar, coffee, flour or meat be rationed where you are, please do not try to send these. A bit of cocoa for the children is badly needed for now they have to drink awful tasting and smelling Kaffee-Ersatz, made of roasted cereal. We also need soap to help keep clean.

"Remember all our hopes for the future depend upon these lines. Please be so good as to show this cry for help to brothers and sisters who can appreciate our desperate situation. Be sure we shall not forget your under-standing and kind help. As soon as I hear from you I will write at once. We shall remember you in our daily prayers.

"I fully realize that we as Germans as a whole, are greatly responsible for our desperate situation. Many have forsaken Luther and his teach-ings in the open Word that liveth forever, but please let me assure you that nobody of my family has ever been a friend or connected in any way with the Nazi party at any time.

"Please excuse this poor English and may the dear Lord and King of Kings and Savior of mankind richly bless you all.

"I remain with Christian love your very sincere brother,

"Peter Ploetzgen and family

INTERESTING LETTER TELLS OF TRIP TO CHINA LAMASARY

Young Jimmie Noe Has Audience With 'Living Buddha'

An interesting letter describing his visit to the "living Buddha" in China has been received from James A. Noe, Jr., who is completing a trip around the world, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Noe.

The 19-year-old Monroe youth is flying from Shanghai to Bombay and will visit Rome, Paris, Switzerland, Brussels and Germany before sail-ing from Southampton on the Queen Mary on December 4.

His letter from China follows:

"Chic and I had inquired into the possibilities of going to Hsien-Ning, but there was no car to be hired or borrowed in Lanchow. On the four-teenth, two days after Chic and I arrived at Lanchow, Mr. James Bren-nan came in by C. A. T. He intended to stay overnight and return on the same plane on which he came, but when the Ghengis Khan trip presented itself he stayed.

"On the seventeenth Mr. Brennan chanced into Dr. G. Hung Liu, ex-minister of health. Dr. Liu asked Dr. Yao to arrange a trip to Hsien-Ning for his old friend Brennan.

"We waited three days before Dr. Yao made all the preparations and secured a car for us. Getting a car is very difficult. The whole province of Kan-su has only 72 autos and that is not many for a state larger than Louisiana in size and population. The night of the 16th, Dr. Yao told us we were leaving at five the next morning, so we were up at four the morning of the seventeenth. No jeep or doctor appeared at five. Nothing happened at six, so with my clothes on I went back to bed and covered myself with the mattress-blanket. In what seemed a minute's time Dr. Yao was standing over me very ex-citedly shouting that we should be dressed and ready to go. Well we were, so he calmed down.

"With Mr. Brennan, Chic and I, each shaking hands with Dr. Yao twice, were off. Chic had put three folded blankets between the front seats and he sat on these. Mr. Brennan and the driver used the front seats so I had the back to myself with only one flight bag, a two catty box of tea three baskets of eight melons each, and five miscellaneous boxes. The jeep hadn't completely turned over a wheel before everything started jump-ing about. I would bounce off the seat and come down on a muskmelon. In truth my fillings were just about shaken loose. Not many miles passed before we were all convinced that everything would have to be tied down, so we stopped at the next vil-lage and bought seventy feet of grass rope. After everything was secured, twenty or more feet were left unused so I employed this to make a back rest for the middle front seat. By stretching the rope from side to side and connecting it to the top supports, the improvised seat became the most comfortable in the jeep. A wire had been sent to a mid-way stop that we would arrive at twelve. It was twelve-thirty when we did get there. Where we were to eat was a post which a colonel commanded. Some aide to the colonel showed the four of us to a room in which we washed and had tea. Soon the colonel entered; we were introduced, and the five of us went to dinner. Even the egg soup was red with hot pepper. I could eat nothing except watermelon.

"When it was time to leave, the colonel, as is the custom, excused the poor meal by saying he had been busy all morning drafting one man from every family for the army.

"If they had all had a gun, the colonel couldn't have been any prouder of his soldiers. He couldn't read or write, so he had few things to do during the day except drill his troops. This he did, I was told, at least six hours a day. Mr. Brennan and I wished to pay something for the food but were not allowed to do so. Jim offered the colonel a case of Chester-fields but the colonel refused them. Chic translated that the generalissimo wouldn't allow army men to smoke. Chic took the back seat shift when we left the colonel's place. Everyone took his turn on the back seat.

"Before going forty miles beyond the army post the car stopped twice. Dust gummed up the gas filter. Our driver had no difficulty unclogging the filter, but the third time the jeep sputtered to a stop such was not the case. The trouble wasn't in the filter but in the hose which connects the gas line. To unscrew this hose twin wrenches are needed, but the tool kit had only one wrench, so this meant we had forty-five miles to walk over mountains.

"The driver burned his hand trying to disconnect the hose, but hands couldn't do the job of a wrench. The driver siphoned gas in a two-foot long 1/4-inch hose and blew it into the carburetor. Each of the fillings fur-nished enough gas to propel the car 200 yards, so you can guess that the 45 miles was going to take some time. For the first four fillings I was asleep. Jim had appointed me to pack Chic's and my belongings in my B-4 bag, so I had gotten to bed late the night before and used the ideal conditions for sleeping. With a bug in my ear I awoke and came to the realization everything was not rosy. Gulf isn't too well established in the mountains of Singhai, nor is the wrecker service too good. We could spend the night with some of the farmers, but then I lied about having had leprosy shots; besides the next day we would have just as far to walk.

"At the time I unfolded from the back seat and got out, the driver had the carburetor top off. It dawned on me that gas could be fed into the open carburetor. The driver didn't mind my using his cup for the gas, so I mounted the fender and we were off. The car ran but gas went too fast and was fed too irregularly so that the jeep bucked. When the cup ran dry and we stopped some farmer told Chic a phone-station was five miles up the road.

"Tired of my method, the driver, Chic, and Mr. Brennan protested re-filling the cup, saying we wouldn't have enough gas to go five miles at the rate I was wasting it. So they decided we should push the car. After pushing the jeep two hundred yards uphill everyone, even the farmer, was ready for a fresh suggestion. One came soon. I took the penicillin tab-lets which, Mother, I carry with me always, out of my airtight bottle; punched holes in the cap, one for gas and one for air; and filled the bottle with gas. I resumed my seat on the fender, the driver leaned out of the door and we started up the road. With no difficulty the gas flow could be regulated with a thumb over the air hole, so we went up the mountain and into the village with three refills.

"The phone operator was gone and no one knew his whereabouts. Unless a wrench could be borrowed our sit-uation hadn't been improved by reaching the village. Chic returned from the blacksmith's with a face which said no wrench, sorry.

"Jim, knowing that anything can happen in China, asked Chic to in-quire if any one in the crowd of two hundred had a wrench. Chic replied that none of the farmers would have a wrench, and he would lose face by asking. Mr. Brennan de-manded that Chic ask even if he did lose face, so Chic showed the crowd our one wrench and asked. The farm-ers listened attentively then scattered to fetch us a wrench. Within minutes four of these isolated villagers re-turned with wrenches. Two of the wrenches fit. The hose was discon-nected, but the refuse wasn't in the hose, so it must be in the section of the gas line between the hose and tank.

"By now the driver was frustrated, so I had Chic suggest that the 1/4-inch hose be used to blow through the gas line. Chic did, and the driver responded, but could not blow enough to dislodge the clog, so I contorted my neck, took in a gallon of air and blew into the tank. You could hear the sides of the tank crackle as the pressure expanded the sides. It was on the third try that the pressure shot the refuse from the gas line. All the chinese shouted 'hoe, hoe' (good, good) when we laughed at our suc-cess. They wished very much to help, and they had.

"Mr. Brennan and I split the ex-penses of buying everyone a cup of tea and then again we were on our way. There was no more car trouble on the trip. When we entered Sing-hai province we passed on the good roads. Gov. Ma has two roads parelleling each other. One is for cars and the other is for wagons and pedestrians. Even with the wagon roads being muddy, no one dared use the auto road. Gen. Ma lays a heavy hand on those who disobey his laws.

"Hsien-Ning is 8,000 feet high. The population is between one hundred and one hundred and fifty thousand. For a Chinese city Hsien-Ning is remarkably clean. The sewer is open, as in parts of New Orleans. The masses are Mohammedan and as such they insist on cleanliness.

"Toward sunset, eight o'clock, we drove into Hsien-Ning. Our driver took us to a hotel, which is owned by the government. The hotel has no baths, the halls are open to air, and the use of improperly cured wood made it smell like a glue factory. As in all China the service compensated for everything else. Besides every-thing was on the cuff, so we couldn't complain.

"Before supper five government of-ficials paid calls. After supper we were taken to the bathhouse. Mr. Brennan was given a special room with an adjoining private tub, but I went to the public bath. The room was stifling, both with steam and odor. I had no trouble distinguishing the smell, for it was plainly that of mut-ton, the staple of the people.

"Two pools, twenty by sixteen, served as tubs. Several others were already bathing and seemed to enjoy the water, so I didn't hesitate. So hot was the water, that I turned red. The natives spend hours in the water, but five or six minutes was enough for me. As I was opening the exit door, some coolie pointed to the edge of the pool. I couldn't imagine what I had done wrong, but was willing enough to find out. The coolie looked on with bated breath, while I said 'what do you mean' again and again as clearly as possible. He couldn't understand English with perfect pronunciation, nor I Chinese, so I decided to leave and not find out my error. My coolie friend didn't want me to leave; in fact he blocked the door. Things were just before happening, when the coolie pointed behind him. I looked and saw a man lying on the tile and motioning for me to do likewise. I understood now the coolie was sup-posed to bathe me, and bathe me he intended to do. Well he did, and not badly at that. After he was through bathing I went back to Mr. Brennan's room, and had a rub-down. If there is one thing China has, it's plenty of labor for everything.

"When we left the bath house and returned to the hotel it was late, so we went to bed. It was well we had a good night's sleep, for the next day was to be as filled as any I have ever had.

"Somewhere around seven Mr. Brennan and I both awoke. No alarm sounded, we had just awakened from subconscious excitement. It was no time before we were dressed, through breakfast and on our way to Golden Roof Temple, the home of the Pan-chen lama. Ma, chairman of the pas-toric commission, accompanied us as guide.

"The ride took only an hour as the temple was but twenty-seven miles from Hsien-Ning. Before stepping out of the jeep we were met by the old lama who was boss of the lamasery. Lamaism is the living form of Bud-dhism. It is the state religion of Tibet and sub-religion of many Chinese.

"Some time after Christ, Red Lama-ism was conceived. In the seventeenth century Red Lamaism was the state and the state religion. During the early seventeenth century a man called Chung Kar Ba was born of poor parents. This boy professed to be the founder of a new religion. He fulfilled the prophecy by breaking away from the Red Sect of Lamaism and establishing the Yellow Sect. Speaking ideologically he was the Martin Luther of Tibet. It is on the after-birth of Chung Kar Ba that the Golden Roof Temple is founded.

"Knowing as little as you about Lamaism we entered the capital of Yellow Lamaism.

"The building had no beauty of de-sign and no skill of construction. Even the two Golden Roof Temples were gems set in tin ring, so they didn't appeal to me esthetically al-though the big hundred-foot temple top of gold appealed to my whittling taste.

"At no time were we prohibited to do anything. I took 47 pictures, all of which were on dated film. Any ques-tions were answered and any whims favored. Mr. Brennan wished to blow the 27-foot horn, so he did. The thing did not do so well for its size.

"Although few lamas were to be seen 3,000 lived in the lamasery. These people are self sufficient in all things. One group are farmers, an-other carpenters and so on. To per-petuate the system boys of five or under are taken into the lamasery. If any of the youngsters aren't dili-gent about saying their prayers, they are bull-whipped. I don't understand the need for the whipping or the scars most of them carry as a result, for there is a prayer wheel which with one turn equals reading the Bible through once.

"When the unbound Bible is read, the reader sits by a drum and beats it one stroke per word. At the end of each paragraph he clashes together cymbles, one of which is tied to his side, the othe, of which is strapped to his elbow. The Bible must be writ-ten in rhyming verse for the rhythm is good.

"Good Buddhists and all lamas take no more than three baths during a lifetime. One is at birth, one at mar-riage and one at death. Lamas can't marry and the bath at death is too late to help, so I advise anyone going to Hsien-Ning to carry gifts of perfume. Undoubtedly the clothes worn are as holy as the lamas, for the red togas were black. Lamaism has a juvenile appeal in many respects.

"There is much more to tell about such as kettles 12 feet across which were struck centuries ago, but what I came to see and was willing to skip everything else for was the Living Buddha.

"No objection was raised to my wish being granted, in fact they asked for a print of the picture which I was to take. I curse the ancestors of the one who sold me the dated film.

"Buddha incarnate, thinker whose thoughts take form, magnet which attracts the sun's rays to earth, lives on a hill some five hundred feet above the lamasery. The steps were steep but I didn't remember breathing heavily so excited was I.

"At an entrance to the Living Bud-dha's shrine-home, we were met by the Living Buddha's teacher. This old man led us past the yards into the ante-chamber. While in this room I saw a short bull-whip with a gold handle studded with jewels. Jim asked what symbol the whip had, and Ma replied that there was no sym-bolism but practicality in the whip. It was used by the teacher if the Living Buddha spoke Chinese or failed at saying his prayers.

"Before entering the throne room Jim, as spokesman, was given the Buddhist Blue Cloth to present to the Living Buddha. The scarf of silk is a very important feature in the re-ligion but I didn't understand the significance. While we were sipping tea in the ante-room the teacher beckoned us to follow him to the Living Buddha. We did eagerly, but rather timidly I must confess.

"The Living Buddha was seated at the oposite end of the room we en-tered. As we entered he held his hands before him with the elbows stiff, and as the last of us came through the door, he folded his arms over his chest. With him sitting on his legs this made him look like all the dead Buddhas I had seen. The Buddha motioned us to be seated. He is a boy eleven Chinese age, ten west-ern age; tall for these people with fine facial features and clean, strange as it seems. His dress was a toga which he wore over only half of his upper body.

"The silence of the small unadorned room was first broken by the Living Buddha. He welcomed us and said he had gained face. Here the teacher motioned Jim who arose and went to present the Buddhist Blue-cloth. I also arose to take a flash picture. Once the button was pushed again and again, but no flash; I had missed Jim presenting the Blue-cloth and his receiving one in return. The teacher was irritated that I hadn't gotten a picture, so Jim and the Liv-ing Buddha repeated the ceremony. This time the flash went off, but no picture: the Living Buddha was poised and somewhat arrogant. We lost our tongues and could say very little, so the audience ended prema-turely. I was irritated at the quick-ness with which we left the Living Buddha, for I knew that with Mr. Brennan and myself being the twenty-seventh foreigner to visit the Living Buddha, he was as interested in us as we were in him. With this thought in mind I stopped our leaving in the courtyard, which is the square that the shrine-house is constructed around. Chic had his camera, so I asked him to take a picture of me playing with the Living Buddha's miniature; he did, and as I arose and glanced back to the throne room I saw the Living Buddha at the window peeking out. He was off his throne, but when he realized we were all looking at him, he ran back to his throne. I laughed out loud that this ordinary boy was holy to millions of Tibetans.

"This is the tenth Pan-chan Buddha. He was chosen in 1944, at the age of seven. Most people who have quizzed me since returning to Shanghai hold that the reincarnate of the late Living Buddha must be born at the exact time when the old Buddha dies. Such is not the case. Being a god every Living Buddha knows when he is going to die. Just before this time he describes the body and facial charac-teristics of his successor along with the conditions under which the boy will be discovered. This boy was under a tree eating an apple when the searching party found him.

"The strangest part of all Lamaism to me is that both the Delhe lama, who resides at Lassa, and the Pan-chan lama are Chinese chosen from Sing-hai, a Chinese province.

"We returned to the first room we had entered when coming into the lamasery. Here we were served the Tibetan staple. First a large bowl of tea is placed on the table. You drink some of this, then add wheat and butter to the tea. This mixture is worked with the fingers until it becomes nasty enough to be eaten with the fingers. The taste is not bad, but it is not good enough to be eaten three times a day. After this not overly indulged in meal we left. I shall never forget the experience, and intend to return with flash film.

"This afternoon Jim inspected the school systems. In the lower grades, one word of English is taught per day along with one Chinese character. The English is mastered easier than the Chinese characters.

"Toward night we went to the Mosque. Hard to believe as it is most of the people of Hsien-Ning are Mo-hammedans. We couldn't enter the mosque so we left after one look.

"At the hotel we ate and waited 'till twelve for Governor Ma to come. He didn't, so at twelve we went to sleep. If it had been two hours earlier I would have gone and taken another bath.

"Early the next morning we ate, packed, tried to pay for everything, then left. Just before shifting into second, someone jumped before our jeep, the driver slammed on the brakes and jumped out. It was Gov-ernor Ma. The governor is Moham-medan. He stands six-two and weighs a solid 210. Jim let the compliments flow, and he meant what he said, for the northwest is the best governed province of China. We didn't talk long as the translations weren't con-genial to a chat. When Governor Ma left he walked at a trot.

"The night before the governor had sent Chic, Jim and me each a Persian lamb coat. We had already sent him the melons and tea, so everyone part-ed happy.

"Governor Ma is the last of the war lords; his uncle ruled before him and his son shall rule after him. His son is also a general and is now 'exterminating rebels.'

"In the dusk hour we arrived at Lanchow. Five days and five tele-grams later we left Lanchow. It seems ridiculous answering questions about China to General Chennault, but that's what I do. By now I have seen more of China from the ground than the general."

VEHICLES DAMAGED IN 3 COLLISIONS

Three traffic accidents, each involv-ing two vehicles, with considerable property damage but no personal in-juries, were reported by the Monroe state police post yesterday.

Paul Webb, 17, slowed a panel truck to turn into the driveway at his home on the Winnsboro Road, 1 1/2 miles southeast of the city at 6:30 p.m. Friday and his machine was struck in the rear by a car driven by G. E. Cundiff, 44, resident of Hotel Virginia. The front of the auto, a 1946 Olds-mobile coach, was smashed, but the truck suffered little damage.

In another rear-end collision, cars owned and driven by M. L. Davis, 61, of Shreveport, and G. E. Lindsey, Jr., 37, of Bernice, were damaged on United States Highway 80, ten miles east of Monroe, at 6 p.m. Friday. Troopers said the accident was caused by an unidentified driver who slowed down in front of Davis. All the ma-chines were west-bound.

The third accident occurred at 11:30 a.m., Friday, at Sterlington where a 1941 Ford coach, driven by Leo Aulds, 37, of Farmerville, and a 1946 Ply-mouth sedan, owned and operated by C. A. Russell, 23, of Sterlington, came together at the intersection of La. 815 and the River Road. The police re-port said Russell, going south, had stopped for the intersection and then drove onto the main highway and was struck by the east-bound Aulds car.

Dear Starving German Family Appeals Here For Needed Aid

Rev. L. T. Hastings Receives Letter Pleading For Immediate Help

A pathetic appeal for help was received from Germany by Rev. L. T. Hastings the past week. The writer told of the hardships and near starvation that confronts his family in these post-war days. The letter written in English contained, the writer confessed, many errors but he begged humble apology and declared that only because of the suffering of his family had he decided to make the appeal. The letter, in part, is as follows:

"Dear Reverend, Dear Sisters and Dear Brethren:

"By a lucky chance I got your address. I have no relations abroad. As we live under dire circumstances and in desperation and urgently need understanding and help by our sisters and brethren from abroad, I address this letter to you. I hope these lines will not trouble you.

"After second thought I now come to the conclusion to ask you, my sisters and brethren from abroad for help, for you alone can help. Please be so good as to help us because of Calvary.

"It's a hard work to write these lines, but hunger and desperation forces me to. Will you therefore excuse my mistakes? I will write English for the first time since I left school in 1936. We are a large family of seven desperate sisters and brethren of yours and starve as a result of the horrible Hitler war, the worse existing food shortage, disease, bad dwellings and unsufficient clothes. My family is as follows: (1) Mary Ploetzgen, 55 years, my mother; (2) Gisela Roberz, 6 years, daughter and orphan of my sister; (3) F. A. Ploetzgen, 27 years, my brother; (4) M. A. Ploetzgen, 25 years, my brother's wife; (5) Asul Ploetzgen, 5 years, son of my brother; (6) Margarete E. Ploetzgen, 32, my wife; and (7) myself, 30 years old.

"My poor mother lost her daughter and her husband in an air raid six days before American troops released us. We also lost in the raid our comfortable 8-room house and all the furniture, and clothes. On the unhappy day of the air raid, March 8, 1945, my sister's family was in the cellar of the house. My poor mother scraped Gisela out of the ruins. She scraped and scraped with her poor hands and nearly suffocating, she got her grandchild out but her daughter, the child's mother, perished. Our dear Lord must have given her strength like an elephant!

"Gisela was sick and unconscious for weeks but our Heavenly Father saved her life. Today she is a very nice and big girl with lovely big eyes. She is all our sunshine in these dark days.

"As our rations are very small and one can not buy any clothing we don't get our ration card over her, my family now lacks almost everything. With the exception of the two children we all lost one-sixth to one-fourth of our weight each. We all are no more as healthy as we should be. My poor mother had two operations. She suffers, as does my wife, from a weak heart. For the children we fear for the worse for tuberculosis, if they will not get nourishing food. My brother and I suffer from a disease of the stomach. Even at night one can not forget the hunger and the poor little ones weep in their dreams, awake and cry for something to stop their craving for food. The rations we got are too small and not nourishing enough.

"In this year, we only get 15 lbs. of potatoes on our ration card in the British zone. Cereal we get one pound each month a person. To get one small loaf of bread once in a week, but only if the baker gets flour, we must stand in along row of perhaps 400 persons and wait five, nine or 10 hours. Those who come late dont get any bread. We have to do this in cold winter too. Can you imagine our doing this day after day almost too weak to stand so long? Vegetables, fruit, cereal and potatoes are scarcer every day. Grown ups get one, and children five lbs. of fruit for the whole year. Up to now only children got one lb. of apples for cooking use only. Potatoes are the size of plums. Our whole shortening ration for four weeks is less than 3 ounces. Only little children get milk about 6 pints for four weeks. Flour we got two and one-half lb. for the last eight months per person. Two eggs from January to September and we never get milk and egg powder any more at all. Our best housewives are not able to feed their loved ones with these small rations. Our daily two or three meals consist of about one coffee cup of thin soup and, if so lucky as to have it, a thin small piece of dry bread.

"We already sometimes admired our own courage that has kept us going. Thanks to Him we always will be remembered and that sufferings were never foreign to Christians since the dawn of Christianity.

"It's my only hope it may be possible for some of you good people to enter our names when packages are sent for relief. You are now permitted to send to starving friends or relatives in the German British zone. I am so very sorry I can not promise whether or at what time I can pay back but I beg from the bottom of my heart to give us what you can for the smallest quantity of food and clothing will mean so much to us.

"Already worn clothing stuff, shoes, socks, blankets will be highly appreciated. With regard to food, we mostly need and beg of you for any kind of shortening, butter, margerine, etc., cheese, flour, sugar, meat, milk and egg powder, rice, beans or peas, coffee, noodles, farina, tea, spices, sacoharin, or anything you can spare. But should sugar, coffee, flour or meat be rationed where you are, please do not try to send these. A bit of cocoa for the children is badly needed for now they have to drink awful tasting and smelling Kaffee-Ersatz, made of roasted cereal. We also need soap to help keep clean.

"Remember all our hopes for the future depend upon these lines. Please be so good as to show this cry for help to brothers and sisters who can appreciate our desperate situation. Be sure we shall not forget your understanding and kind help. As soon as I hear from you I will write at once. We shall remember you in our daily prayers.

"I fully realize that we as Germans as a whole, are greatly responsible for our desperate situation. Many have forsaken Luther and his teachings in the open Word that liveth forever, but please let me assure you that nobody of my family has ever been a friend or connected in any way with the Nezi party at any time.

"Please excuse this poor English and may the dear Lord and King of Kings and Savior of mankind richly bless you all.

Young Jimmie Noe Has Audience With 'Living Buddha'

An interesting letter describing his visit to the "living Buddha" in China has been received from James A. Noe, Jr., who is completing a trip around the world, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Noe.

The 19-year-old Monroe youth is flying from Shanghai to Bombay and will visit Rome, Paris, Switzerland, Brussels and Germany before sailing from Southampton on the Queen Mary on December 4.

His letter from China follows:

"Chic and I had inquired into the possibilities of going to Hsien-Ning, but there was no car to be hired or borrowed in Lanchow. On the fourteenth, two days after Chic and I arrived at Lanchow, Mr. James Brennan came in by C. A. T. He intended to stay overnight and return on the same plane on which he came, but when the Ghengis Khan trip presented itself he stayed.

"On the seventeenth Mr. Brennan chanced into Dr. G. Hung Liu, ex-minister of health. Dr. Liu asked Dr. Yao to arrange a trip to Hsien-Ning for his old friend Brennan.

"We waited three days before Dr. Yao made all the preparations and secured a car for us. Getting a car is very difficult. The whole province of Kan-su has only 72 autos and that is not many for a state larger than Louisiana in size and population. The night of the 16th, Dr. Yao told us we were leaving at five the next morning, so we were up at four the morning of the seventeenth. No jeep or doctor appeared at five. Nothing happened at six, so with my clothes on I went back to bed and covered myself with the mattress-blanket. In what seemed a minute's time Dr. Yao was standing over me very excitedly shouting that we should be dressed and ready to go. Well we were, so he calmed down.

"With Mr. Brennan, Chic and I each shaking hands with Dr. Yao twice, were off. Chic had put three folded blankets between the front seats and he sat on these. Mr. Brennan and the driver used the front seats so I had the back to myself with only one flight bag, a two catty box of tea three baskets of eight melons each, and five miscellaneous boxes. The jeep hadn't completely turned over a wheel before everything started jumping about. I would bounce off the seat and come down on a muskmelon. In truth my fillings were just about shaken loose. Not many miles passed before we were all convinced that everything would have to be tied down, so we stopped at the next village and bought seventy feet of grass rope. After everything was secured, twenty or more feet were left unused so I employed this to make a back rest for the middle front seat. By stretching the rope from side to side and connecting it to the top supports, the improvised seat became the most comfortable in the jeep. A wire had been sent to a mid-way stop that we would arrive at twelve. It was twelve-thirty when we did get there. Where we were to eat was a post which a colonel commanded. Some aide to the colonel showed the four of us to a room in which we washed and had tea. Soon the colonel entered; we were introduced, and the five of us went to dinner. Even the egg soup was red with hot pepper. I could eat nothing except watermelon.

"When it was time to leave, the colonel, as is the custom, excused the poor meal by saying he had been busy all morning drafting one man from every family for the army.

"If they had all had a gun, the colonel couldn't have been any prouder of his soldiers. He couldn't read or write, so he had few things to do during the day except drill his troops. This he did, I was told, at least six hours a day. Mr. Brennan and I wished to pay something for the food but were not allowed to do so. Jim offered the colonel a case of Chesterfields but the colonel refused them. Chic translated that the generalissimo wouldn't allow army men to smoke. Chic took the back seat shift when we left the colonel's place. Everyone took his turn on the back seat.

"Before going forty miles beyond the army post the car stopped twice. Dust gummed up the gas filter. Our driver had no difficulty unclogging the filter, but the third time the jeep sputtered to a stop such was not the case. The trouble wasn't in the filter but in the hose which connects the gas line. To unscrew this hose twin wrenches are needed, but the tool kit had only one wrench, so this meant we had forty-five miles to walk over mountains.

"The driver burned his hand trying to disconnect the hose, but hands couldn't do the job of a wrench. The driver siphoned gas in a two-foot long 1/4-inch hose and blew it into the carburetor. Each of the fillings furnished enough gas to propel the car 200 yards, so you can guess that the 45 miles was going to take some time. For the first four fillings I was asleep. Jim had appointed me to pack Chic's and my belongings in my B-4 bag, so I had gotten to bed late the night before and used the ideal conditions for sleeping. With a bug in my ear I awoke and came to the realization everything was not rosy. Gulf isn't too well established in the mountains of Singhai, nor is the wrecker service too good. We could spend the night with some of the farmers, but then I lied about having had leprosy shots; besides the next day we would have just as far to walk.

"At the time I unfolded from the back seat and got out, the driver had the carburetor top off. It dawned on me that gas could be fed into the open carburetor. The driver didn't mind my using his cup for the gas, so I mounted the fender and we were off. The car ran but gas went too fast and was fed too irregularly so that the jeep bucked. When the cup ran dry and we stopped some farmer told Chic a phone-station was five miles up the road.

"Tired of my method, the driver, Chic, and Mr. Brennan protested refilling the cup, saying we wouldn't have enough gas to go five miles at the rate I was wasting it. So they decided we should push the car. After pushing the jeep two hundred yards uphill everyone, even the farmer, was ready for a fresh suggestion. One came soon. I took the penicillin tablets which, Mother, I carry with me always, out of my airtight bottle; punched holes in the cap, one for gas and one for air; and filled the bottle with gas. I resumed my seat on the fender, the driver leaned out of the door and we started up the road. With no difficulty the gas flow could be regulated with a thumb over the air hole, so we went up the mountain and into the village with three refills.

"The phone operator was gone and no one knew his whereabouts. Unless a wrench could be borrowed our situation hadn't been improved by reaching the village. Chic returned from the blacksmith's with a face which said no wrench, sorry.

"Jim, knowing that anything can happen in China, asked Chic to inquire if any one in the crowd of two hundred had a wrench. Chic replied that none of the farmers would have a wrench, and he would lose face by asking. Mr. Brennan demanded that Chic ask even if he did lose face, so Chic showed the crowd our one wrench and asked. The farmers listened attentively then scattered to fetch us a wrench. Within minutes four of these isolated villagers returned with wrenches. Two of the wrenches fit. The hose was disconnected, but the refuse wasn't in the hose, so it must be in the section of the gas line between the hose and tank.

"By now the driver was frustrated, so I had Chic suggest that the 1/4-inch hose be used to blow through the gas line. Chic did, and the driver responded, but could not blow enough to dislodge the clog, so I contorted my neck, took in a gallon of air and blew into the tank. You could hear the sides of the tank crackle as the pressure expanded the sides. It was on the third try that the pressure shot the refuse from the gas line. All the chinese shouted 'hoe, hoe' (good, good) when we laughed at our success. They wished very much to help, and they had.

"Mr. Brennan and I split the expenses of buying everyone a cup of tea and then again we were on our way. There was no more car trouble on the trip. When we entered Singhai province we passed on the good roads. Gov. Ma has two roads parelleling each other. One is for cars and the other is for wagons and pedestrians. Even with the wagon roads being muddy, no one dared use the auto road. Gen. Ma lays a heavy hand on those who disobey his laws.

"Hsien-Ning is 8,000 feet high. The population is between one hundred and one hundred and fifty thousand. For a Chinese city Hsien-Ning is remarkably clean. The sewer is open, as in parts of New Orleans. The masses are Mohammedan and as such they insist on cleanliness.

"Toward sunset, eight o'clock, we drove into Hsien-Ning. Our driver took us to a hotel, which is owned by the government. The hotel has no baths, the halls are open to air, and the use of improperly cured wood made it smell like a glue factory. As in all China the service compensated for everything else. Besides everything was on the cuff, so we couldn't complain.

"Before supper five government officials paid calls. After supper we were taken to the bathhouse. Mr. Brennan was given a special room with an adjoining private tub, but I went to the public bath. The room was stifling, both with steam and odor. I had no trouble distinguishing the smell, for it was plainly that of mutton, the staple of the people.

"Two pools, twenty by sixteen, served as tubs. Several others were already bathing and seemed to enjoy the water, so I didn't hesitate. So hot was the water, that I turned red. The natives spend hours in the water, but five or six minutes was enough for me. As I was opening the exit door, some coolie pointed to the edge of the pool. I couldn't imagine what I had done wrong, but was willing enough to find out. The coolie looked on with bated breath, while I said 'what do you mean' again and again as clearly as possible. He couldn't understand English with perfect pronunciation, nor I Chinese, so I decided to leave and not find out my error. My coolie friend didn't want me to leave; in fact he blocked the door. Things were just before happening, when the coolie pointed behind him. I looked and saw a man lying on the tile and motioning for me to do likewise. I understood now the coolie was supposed to bathe me, and bathe me he intended to do. Well he did, and not badly at that. After he was through bathing I went back to Mr. Brennan's room, and had a rub-down. If there is one thing China has, it's plenty of labor for everything.

"When we left the bath house and returned to the hotel it was late, so we went to bed. It was well we had a good night's sleep, for the next day was to be as filled as any I have ever had.

"Somewhere around seven Mr. Brennan and I both awoke. No alarm sounded, we had just awakened from subconscious excitement. It was no time before we were dressed, through breakfast and on our way to Golden Roof Temple, the home of the Panchen lama. Ma, chairman of the pastoric commission, accompanied us as guide.

"The ride took only an hour as the temple was but twenty-seven miles from Hsien-Ning. Before stepping out of the jeep we were met by the old lama who was boss of the lamasery. Lamaism is the living form of Buddhism. It is the state religion of Tibet and sub-religion of many Chinese.

"Some time after Christ, Red Lamaism was conceived. In the seventeenth century Red Lamaism was the state and the state religion. During the early seventeenth century a man called Chung Kar Ba was born of poor parents. This boy professed to be the founder of a new religion. He fulfilled the prophecy by breaking away from the Red Sect of Lamaism and establishing the Yellow Sect. Speaking ideologically he was the Martin Luther of Tibet. It is on the after-birth of Chung Kar Ba that the Golden Roof Temple is founded.

"Knowing as little as you about Lamaism we entered the capital of Yellow Lamaism.

"The building had no beauty of design and no skill of construction. Even the two Golden Roof Temples were gems set in tin ring, so they didn't appeal to me esthetically although the big hundred-foot temple top of gold appealed to my whittling taste.

"At no time were we prohibited to do anything. I took 47 pictures, all of which were on dated film. Any questions were answered and any whims favored. Mr. Brennan wished to blow the 27-foot horn, so he did. The thing did not do so well for its size.

"Although few lamas were to be seen 3,000 lived in the lamasery. These people are self sufficient in all things. One group are farmers, another carpenters and so on. To perpetuate the system boys of five or under are taken into the lamasery. If any of the youngsters aren't diligent about saying their prayers, they are bull-whipped. I don't understand the need for the whipping or the scars most of them carry as a result, for there is a prayer wheel which with one turn equals reading the Bible through once.

"When the unbound Bible is read, the reader sits by a drum and beats it one stroke per word. At the end of each paragraph he clashes together cymbles, one of which is tied to his side, the othe. of which is strapped to his elbow. The Bible must be written in rhyming verse for the rhythm is good.

"Good Buddhists and all lamas take no more than three baths during a lifetime. One is at birth, one at marriage and one at death. Lamas can't marry and the bath at death is too late to help, so I advise anyone going to Hsien-Ning to carry gifts of perfume. Undoubtedly the clothes worn are as holy as the lamas, for the red togas were black. Lamaism has a juvenile appeal in many respects.

"There is much more to tell about such as kettles 12 feet across which were struck centuries ago, but what I came to see and was willing to skip everything else for was the Living Buddha.

"No objection was raised to my wish being granted, in fact they asked for a print of the picture which I was to take. I curse the ancestors of the one who sold me the dated film.

"Buddha incarnate, thinker whose thoughts take form, magnet which attracts the sun's rays to earth, lives on a hill some five hundred feet above the lamasery. The steps were steep but I didn't remember breathing heavily so excited was I.

"At an entrance to the Living Buddha's shrine-home, we were met by the Living Buddha's teacher. This old man led us past the yards into the ante-chamber. While in this room I saw a short bull-whip with a gold handle studded with jewels. Jim asked what symbol the whip had, and Ma replied that there was no symbolism but practicality in the whip. It was used by the teacher if the Living Buddha spoke Chinese or failed at saying his prayers.

"Before entering the throne room Jim, as spokesman, was given the Buddhist Blue Cloth to present to the Living Buddha. The scarf of silk is a very important feature in the religion but I didn't understand the significance. While we were sipping tea in the ante-room the teacher beckoned us to follow him to the Living Buddha. We did eagerly, but rather timidly I must confess.

"The Living Buddha was seated at the oposite end of the room we entered. As we entered he held his hands before him with the elbows stiff, and as the last of us came through the door, he folded his arms over his chest. With him sitting on his legs this made him look like all the dead Buddhas I had seen. The Buddha motioned us to be seated. He is a boy eleven Chinese age, ten western age; tall for these people with fine facial features and clean, strange as it seems. His dress was a toga which he wore over only half of his upper body.

"The silence of the small unadorned room was first broken by the Living Buddha. He welcomed us and said he had gained face. Here the teacher motioned Jim who arose and went to present the Buddhist Blue-cloth. I also arose to take a flash picture. Once the button was pushed again and again, but no flash; I had missed Jim presenting the Blue-cloth and his receiving one in return. The teacher was irritated that I hadn't gotten a picture, so Jim and the Living Buddha repeated the ceremony. This time the flash went off, but no picture: the Living Buddha was poised and somewhat arrogant. We lost our tongues and could say very little, so the audience ended prematurely. I was irritated at the quickness with which we left the Living Buddha, for I knew that with Mr. Brennan and myself being the twenty-seventh foreigner to visit the Living Buddha, he was as interested in us as we were in him. With this thought in mind I stopped our leaving in the courtyard, which is the square that the shrine-house is constructed around. Chic had his camera, so I asked him to take a picture of me playing with the Living Buddha's miniature; he did, and as I arose and glanced back to the throne room I saw the Living Buddha at the window peeking out. He was off his throne, but when he realized we were all looking at him, he ran back to his throne. I laughed out loud that this ordinary boy was holy to millions of Tibetans.

"This is the tenth Pan-chan Buddha. He was chosen in 1944, at the age of seven. Most people who have quizzed me since returning to Shanghai hold that the reincarnate of the late Living Buddha must be born at the exact time when the old Buddha dies. Such is not the case. Being a god every Living Buddha knows when he is going to die. Just before this time he describes the body and facial characteristics of his successor along with the conditions under which the boy will be discovered. This boy was under a tree eating an apple when the searching party found him.

"The strangest part of all Lamaism to me is that both the Delhe lama, who resides at Lassa, and the Panchan lama are Chinese chosen from Sing-hai, a Chinese province.

"We returned to the first room we had entered when coming into the lamasery. Here we were served the Tibetan staple. First a large bowl of tea is placed on the table. You drink some of this, then add wheat and butter to the tea. This mixture is worked with the fingers until it becomes nasty enough to be eaten with the fingers. The taste is not bad, but it is not good enough to be eaten three times a day. After this not overly indulged in meal we left. I shall never forget the experience, and intend to return with flash film.

"This afternoon Jim inspected the school systems. In the lower grades, one word of English is taught per day along with one Chinese character. The English is mastered easier than the Chinese characters.

"Toward night we went to the Mosque. Hard to believe as it is most of the people of Hsien-Ning are Mohammedans. We couldn't enter the mosque so we left after one look.

"At the hotel we ate and waited 'till twelve for Governor Ma to come. He didn't, so at twelve we went to sleep. If it had been two hours earlier I would have gone and taken another bath.

"Early the next morning we ate, packed, tried to pay for everything, then left. Just before shifting into second, someone jumped before our jeep, the driver slammed on the brakes and jumped out. It was Governor Ma. The governor is Mohammedan. He stands six-two and weighs a solid 210. Jim let the compliments flow, and he meant what he said, for the northwest is the best governed province of China. We didn't talk long as the translations weren't congenial to a chat. When Governor Ma left he walked at a trot.

"The night before the governor had sent Chic, Jim and me each a Persian lamb coat. We had already sent him the melons and tea, so everyone parted happy.

"Governor Ma is the last of the war lords; his uncle ruled before him and his son shall rule after him. His son is also a general and is now 'exterminating rebels.'

"In the dusk hour we arrived at Lanchow. Five days and five telegrams later we left Lanchow. It seems ridiculous answering questions about China to General Chennault, but that's what I do. By now I have seen more of China from the ground than the general."

VEHICLES DAMAGED IN 3 COLLISIONS

Three traffic accidents, each involving two vehicles, with considerable property damage but no personal injuries, were reported by the Monroe state police post yesterday.

Paul Webb, 17, slowed a panel truck to turn into the driveway at his home on the Winnsboro Road, 1 1/2 miles southeast of the city at 6:30 p.m. Friday and his machine was struck in the rear by a car driven by G. E. Cundiff, 44, resident of Hotel Virginia. The front of the auto, a 1946 Oldsmobile coach, was smashed, but the truck suffered little damage.

In another rear-end collision, cars owned and driven by M. L. Davis, 61, of Shreveport, and G. E. Lindsey, Jr., 37, of Bernice, were damaged on United States Highway 80, ten miles east of Monroe, at 6 p.m. Friday. Troopers said the accident was caused by an unidentified driver who slowed down in front of Davis. All the machines were west-bound.

The third accident occurred at 11:30 a.m., Friday, at Sterlington where a 1941 Ford coach, driven by Leo Aulds, 37, of Farmerville, and a 1946 Plymouth sedan, owned and operated by C. A. Russell, 23, of Sterlington, came together at the intersection of La. 815 and the River Road. The police report said Russell, going south, had stopped for the intersection and then drove onto the main highway and was struck by the east-bound Aulds car.

TOM E. HICKS IS AGAIN IN RACE

Announces For Re-Election To Ouachita Parish Police Jury

Police Juror Tom E. Hicks announces his candidacy for re-election as one of the two members of that body from Ward 5, which includes the city of West Monroe.

Mr. Hicks is completing his second term as police juror and he is credited with having initiated civic projects that have been of substantial value to the community. He lists these as the erection of the agricultural building on the fair grounds, blacktopping of the extension of Natchitoches Street and the Arkansas Road, the enlargement of the West Monroe drainage system and the improvement of highways.

Mr. Hicks is president of the West Monroe Gravity Drainage District No. 1, president of the Ouachita Valley Fair Association, chairman of the Red Cross disaster relief committee and a member of the state executive committee of the Police Jury Association of Louisiana. He also is an advocate of a high school for West Monroe.

He stands on his past record and asks re-election. If this is accorded he promises to work at all times for the best interests of his ward, the entire parish and the state.

HALLOWEEN HERE PASSES QUIETLY

Some Tires Deflated And Ignition Wires On Autos Jerked

Halloween pranksters took a turn for the better in the Twin City area Friday night, restraining themselves, except in a few isolated instances, to harmless window-soaping and doorbell ringing.

Two persons were arrested by Monroe police for showing the carnival spirit with fireworks and firemen were called out on a false alarm from central station.

Out at the Northeast Junior College football game over-zealous boys found the collection of automobiles too much to resist and deflated tires and ripped out ignition wires.

Across the river, in West Monroe, police said garbage cans and signs were placed in streets, creating a minor traffic hazard. Further west, at Bawcomville, state police investigating reports that youths were obstructing the Jonesboro highway with crossties, found no basis for the reports. However, motorists escountered signs and logs atop the West Monroe levee on that highway.

A downtown splurge of window-soaping left business places along DeSiard and it's immediate side streets with a scraping job for Saturday morning. In the outlying residential areas grocery stores and service stations were well-soaped. Tires were fair game for mischievous boys.

Monroe police received an occasional call from irate persons concerning flattened tires. One unidentified man, denounced all youth when he found himself confronted with four flat tires at the end of the football game at Brown field. However, Captain Frank Petit, an old-timer around police headquarters, said Friday night's celebration was tame in comparison to past destruction.

R. J. Womack, 24, of 401 Austin Street, West Monroe, and Peter Battaglia, 28, of 2710 Lee Avenue, were arrested by police for discharging fireworks in city limits. Both were later released under $50 bond pending appearance before Judge W. M. Harper.

Firemen of companies 2 and 4 were called out at 11:25 p.m. to Richmond and Mouton Streets near the United States Lock and Dam No. 4 on what later proved to be a false alarm. This false alarm came on a busy night for firemen who faced three house fires that night and another in the Louisiana Central Lumber Company's remaining building.

Unlike Shreveport, where trolleys were targets for over-ripe eggs, local bus lines encountered no subversive action. City buses were well guarded at the barn on Lee Avenue, drivers said, and escaped without their annual soaping. No damage was reported from local schools, a usual target for youngsters.

The first real life-boat was constructed in the middle of the 18th century by a London coachmaker who converted a Norway yawl into a "unimmergible boat."

When Abraham Lincoln's family moved to Indiana in 1816 they settled in what is now Spencer county.

FRANKLIN GRAND JURY INDICTS 2 FOR ATTACK

'NATCHEZ ON MISSISSIPPI' TO BE REVIEWED BY AUTHOR

Harnett T. Kane, noted author whose sixth and latest book, "Natchez on the Mississippi," will be reviewed by him at Hotel Frances roof, November 14, has as his sponsor the Pilot Club of Monroe. The book will be published on November 4 but advance demand has occasioned the printing of a first edition of 45,000 copies. In addition, the publishers have issued a special Louisiana - Mississippi edition of "Natchez on the Mississippi," autographed by Mr. Kane. The book has also broken all advance Louisiana records and, in advance, has been making southern sales records in many states.

"Natchez on the Mississippi" is described as a "glamorous picturization of the golden days of the cotton plantations of Mississippi and Louisiana, a book of magnificent readability, filled with warmly human touches and zestful humor." Mr. Kane, it is declared, tops all of his previous books. Three film companies are now bidding for the movie rights; part of "Natchez on the Mississippi" will appear in two national magazines, and several book clubs are studying it.

Virginia Kirkus, widely known critic, commented on Mr. Kane's book: "in the mood and manner of his enchanting 'Plantation Parade,' Harnett Kane has given vigorous new life to the stories behind the homes on the hill of Natchez—homes visited by many thousands in the much-publicized pilgrimages, launched by the Garden Clubs. The glamorous drama of Natchez' history is sketched—a history in which the slackening of river traffic, rather than war, brought hard times. Here are famous figures, stories of planters and pirates, filibusterers and rebels.

"Women play a striking part in much of Natchez' past," the critic added. "And almost all of the multi-colored picture is built around the great houses—Clifton, Arlington, Richmond, Cherry Grove, Monmouth, Rosalie, Melrose, Auburn, Linden and so on. Fascinating." The book tells of the planter who went to Europe to get his wife a set of dishes; the cotton man who had to have marble stalls, name plates and mirrors for his horses; the "Yellow Duchess," who had that color all around her—floors, walls, dresses, the skin color of her servants, and so on down to her pantaloons; the Natchez girl who made history by saying "No" to Aaron Burr; the plantation man who kept his ready-made coffin in his attic for most of his life; the weird majesty of "Nutt's Folly," an unfinished oriental palace in the Natchez woods; the mysterious figures of macabre "Goat Castle."

"Natchez on the Mississippi" is the first book to deal fully with the remarkable old cotton capital on the river. Mr. Kane tells of the bloody days of the Natchez Trace, most dangerous road in America, where the nation's first gangsters lurked; the dazzling days of wild "Natchez under the Hill," and he ends with a chapter on the fabulously successful garden pilgrimages of today.

Each of Mr. Kane's previous books has been a national best seller. At 36, he is Louisiana's leading writer and its most popular author; in a few years he has risen to the rank of one of the outstanding writers of the modern south. His previous works are "Plantation Parade," "Bayous of Louisiana," "New Orleans Woman," "Deep Delta Country" and "Louisiana Hayride." He is a Tulane University graduate and has taught at Loyola of the South. For 15 years he was a star newspaper correspondent. He is known for articles in Collier's, Reader's Digest, American Mercury and other magazines. "New Orleans Woman," his most recent book, is soon to be made into a movie. It was translated into five languages, made a choice of Fiction Book Club and remained for six months on national best seller lists.

PUBLIC FORUM

COMMENDS EDITORIAL

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I am taking time out as a busy pastor in this city to commend your editorial Saturday, November 1, on "Distress Breeds Totalitarianism." You certainly gave some facts which would be tragic to the better way of life, if ignored. Poverty, misery, nakedness, hunger and cold will turn men into demons of desperation. We won the war, but we will surely lose the peace of the world, if we fail the hungry millions of Europe in this crucial hour of need.

Every time I think about our Congress in Washington it gives me a chill. I saw men like United States Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, Hiram Johnson and William E. Borah, joined even by a few southern Democrats, wrecvk the League of Nations and the peace of the world, in 1919 and 1920. Then with amazement I witnessed the people, by their votes, throw Woodraw Wilson and his party out of power and turn the government over to these men. However honest and sincere they might have been, they stabbed to death the only hope of their day for world peace.

I wonder if history will repeat itself in some respects. I am thinking Senator Robert Taft and his Republicans will oppose the plan of President Truman and offer a plan of their own which in substance would destroy President Truman's program, tie up the whole thing and pitch it into the political race for power in 1948. And then the people, by their votes, pitch out President Truman and his party and put in power the men who wrecked the only hope for lasting peace. All this goes on while men starve and freeze to death.

That's a very grim picture, but, Mr. Editor, it is about what will happen if our people do not rise up and, regardless of politics, and political parties, demand of their senators and congressmen that they do something for the hungry millions of Europe.

A. T. MITCHELL,

DESTRUCTIVE PRANKS

Monroe, La.
November 1, 1947.

To the Editor:

Playing Halloween pranks is a lot of fun, I know. Marking windows with soap, ringing door bells and the like. But when they start tearing up automobiles, that's something else. Last night at the N. J. C.-University of Tennessee J. C. football game, some man, woman or child tore up the ig-

Whether this be the insufficiency of the Monroe Policemen, the improper rearing of someone's child, or whatever it may be, it should be taken into the hands of proper authorities and something be done to correct and enlighten the wrongdoers.

Being a student at N. J. C., I hardly think any student would be this narrow-minded. So, in behalf of all my fellow students I ask that no reflections be made in the future to prevent such uncultured doings.

HALLOWEEN HERE PASSES QUIETLY

Some Tires Deflated And Ignition Wires On Autos Jerked

Halloween pranksters took a turn for the better in the Twin City area Friday night, restraining themselves, except in a few isolated instances, to harmless window-soaping and doorbell ringing.

Two persons were arrested by Monroe police for showing the carnival spirit with fireworks and firemen were called out on a false alarm from central station.

Out at the Northeast Junior College football game over-zealous boys found the collection of automobiles too much to resist and deflated tires and ripped out ignition wires.

Across the river, in West Monroe, police said garbage cans and signs were placed in streets, creating a minor traffic hazard. Further west, at Bawcomville, state police investigating reports that youths were obstructing the Jonesboro highway with crossties, found no basis for the reports. However, motorists escountered signs and logs atop the West Monroe levee on that highway.

A downtown splurge of window-soaping left business places along DeSiard and it's immediate side streets with a scraping job for Saturday morning. In the outlying residential areas grocery stores and service stations were well-soaped. Tires were fair game for mischievous boys.

Monroe police received an occasional call from irate persons concerning flattened tires. One unidentified man, denounced all youth when he found himself confronted with four flat tires at the end of the football game at Brown field. However, Captain Frank Petit, an old-timer around police headquarters, said Friday night's celebration was tame in comparison to past destruction.

R. J. Womack, 24, of 401 Austin Street, West Monroe, and Peter Battaglia, 28, of 2710 Lee Avenue, were arrested by police for discharging fireworks in city limits. Both were later released under $50 bond pending appearance before Judge W. M. Harper.

Firemen of companies 2 and 4 were called out at 11:25 p.m. to Richmond and Mouton Streets near the United States Lock and Dam No. 4 on what later proved to be a false alarm. This false alarm came on a busy night for firemen who faced three house fires that night and another in the Louisiana Central Lumber Company's remaining building.

Unlike Shreveport, where trolleys were targets for over-ripe eggs, local bus lines encountered no subversive action. City buses were well guarded at the barn on Lee Avenue, drivers said, and escaped without their annual soaping. No damage was reported from local schools, a usual target for youngsters.

The first real life-boat was constructed in the middle of the 18th century by a London coachmaker who converted a Norway yawl into a 'unimmergible boat."

When Abraham Lincoln's family moved to Indiana in 1816 they settled in what is now Spencer county.

FRANKLIN GRAND JURY INDICTS 2 FOR ATTACK

WINNSBORO, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Among the 47 true bills returned by the Franklin parish grand jury were two charging Charles Hemphill with "aggravated rape" and C. W. Holloway with an attempt to commit the same offense.

Both the accused pleaded not guilty on arraignment and trial in each case was set for November 10 when the fall term of criminal district court will open.

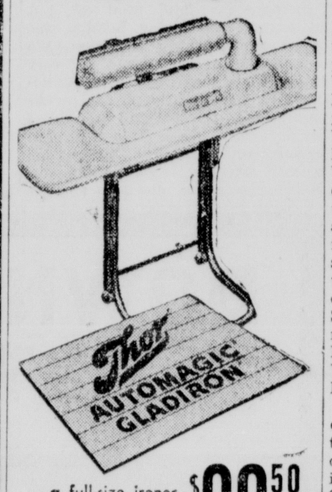

The youths, both residents of the Warsaw community in Madison parish, were arrested at Meadville, Miss., last July 17, the day aftey they allegedly attacked a 16-year-old Franklin parish girl while bringing her home from a church service at Fish Bayou.

Lilacs were brought to America by early European colonists.

'NATCHEZ ON MISSISSIPPI' TO BE REVIEWED BY AUTHOR

Harnett T. Kane, noted author whose sixth and latest book, "Natchez on the Mississippi," will be reviewed by him at Hotel Frances roof, November 14, has as his sponsor the Pilot Club of Monroe. The book will be published on November 4 but advance demand has occasioned the printing of a first edition of 45,000 copies. In addition, the publishers have issued a special Louisiana - Mississippi edition of "Natchez on the Mississippi," autographed by Mr. Kane. The book has also broken all advance Louisiana records and, in advance, has been making southern sales records in many states.

"Natchez on the Mississippi" is described as a "glamorous picturization of the golden days of the cotton plantations of Mississippi and Louisiana, a book of magnificent readability, filled with warmly human touches and zestful humor." Mr. Kane, it is declared, tops all of his previous books. Three film companies are now bidding for the movie rights; part of "Natchez on the Mississippi" will appear in two national magazines, and several book clubs are studying it.

Virginia Kirkus, widely known critic, commented on Mr. Kane's book: "in the mood and manner of his enchanting 'Plantation Parade,' Harnett Kane has given vigorous new life to the stories behind the homes on the hill of Natchez—homes visited by many thousands in the much-publicized pilgrimages, launched by the Garden Clubs. The glamorous drama of Natchez' history is sketched—a history in which the slackening of river traffic, rather than war, brought hard times. Here are famous figures, stories of planters and pirates, filibusterers and rebels.

"Women play a striking part in much of Natchez' past," the critic added. "And almost all of the multi-colored picture is built around the great houses—Clifton, Arlington, Richmond, Cherry Grove, Monmouth, Rosalie, Melrose, Auburn, Linden and so on. Fascinating." The book tells of the planter who went to Europe to get his wife a set of dishes; the cotten man who had to have marble stalls, name plates and mirrors for his horses; the "Yellow Duchess," who had that color all around her—floors, walls, dresses, the skin color of her servants, and so on down to her pantaloons; the Natchez girl who made history by saying "No" to Aaron Burr; the plantation man who kept his ready-made coffin in his attic for most of his life; the weird majesty of "Nutt's Folly," an unfinished oriental palace in the Natchez woods; the mysterious figures of macabre "Goat Castle."

"Natchez on the Mississippi" is the first book to deal fully with the remarkable old cotton capital on the river. Mr. Kane tells of the bloody days of the Natchez Trace, most dangerous road in America, where the nation's first gangsters lurked; the dazzling days of wild "Natchez under the Hill," and he ends with a chapter on the fabulously successful garden pilgrimages of today.

Each of Mr. Kane's previous books has been a national best seller. At 36, he is Louisiana's leading writer and its most popular author; in a few years he has risen to the rank of one of the outstanding writers of the modern south. His previous works are "Plantation Parade," "Bayous of Louisiana," "New Orleans Woman," "Deep Delta Country" and "Louisiana Hayride." He is a Tulane University graduate and has taught at Loyola of the South. For 15 years he was a star newspaper correspondent. He is known for articles in Collier's, Reader's Digest, American Mercury and other magazines. "New Orleans Woman," his most recent book, is soon to be made into a movie. It was translated into five languages, made a choice of Fiction Book Club and remained for six months on national best seller lists.

PUBLIC FORUM

COMMENDS EDITORIAL

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I am taking time out as a busy pastor in this city to commend your editorial Saturday, November 1, on "Distress Breeds Totalitarianism." You certainly gave some facts which would be tragic to the better way of life, if ignored. Poverty, misery, nakedness, hunger and cold will turn men into demons of desperation. We won the war, but we will surely lose the peace of the world, if we fail the hungry millions of Europe in this crucial hour of need.

Every time I think about our Congress in Washington it gives me a chill. I saw men like United States Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, Hiram Johnson and William E. Borah, joined even by a few southern Democrats, wrecvk the League of Nations and the peace of the world, in 1919 and 1920. Then with amazement I witnessed the people, by their votes, throw Woodraw Wilson and his party out of power and turn the government over to these men. However honest and sincere they might have been, they stabbed to death the only hope of their day for world peace.

I wonder if history will repeat itself in some respects. I am thinking Senator Robert Taft and his Republicans will oppose the plan of President Truman and offer a plan of their own which in substance would destroy President Truman's program, tie up the whole thing and pitch it into the political race for power in 1948. And then the people, by their votes, pitch out President Truman and his party and put in power the men who wrecked the only hope for lasting peace. All this goes on while men starve and freeze to death.

That's a very grim picture, but, Mr. Editor, it is about what will happen if our people do not rise up and, regardless of politics, and political parties, demand of their senators and congressmen that they do something for the hungry millions of Europe.

A. T. MITCHELL,
Pastor Ridge Avenue Baptist Church.

DESTRUCTIVE PRANKS

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Playing Halloween pranks is a lot of fun, I know. Marking windows with soap, ringing door bells and the like. But when they start tearing up automobiles, that's something else. Last night at the N. J. C.-University of Tennessee J. C. football game, some man, woman or child tore up the ignition systems of many cars. [illegible] did undetermined damage to the [illegible] ing mechanism and others let the [illegible] out of the tires.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE IS TAKING CHAZZ SO LONG? HE WENT TO QUESTION THE HEADWAITER ABOUT THE FUNNY LITTLE GUY WE SAW SPRAY O'HARA LEAVE THIS RESTAURANT WITH, BUT IT'S TAKING HIM A DEVILISH LONG TIME.

GOLLY! BY THE TIME I GOT TERRY AND PAT, SPRAY AND HER PLAYMATE WOULD BE GONE. GOTTA HANDLE THIS ALONE.

HEY, TAXI! TAKE OFF AFTER THE CAB THAT JUST LEFT HERE, CHOP, CHOP.

IT IS SO, MASTER.

WHEW! SO THE GUY SPRAY WAS SO ANXIOUS TO MEET WASN'T AN EVER LOVIN' AFTER ALL. ACCORDING TO THAT HEADWAITER, HE'S A SHADY CHARACTER NAMED FATHER TWO-TIME, WHO POSES AS A PRIVATE DICK... AN INFORMER, A GO-BETWEEN. A SWELL CHARACTER FOR A KID LIKE SPRAY TO BE INVOLVED WITH.

IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS, AND SHE DID BRUSH ME OFF, BUT DOGGONE IT, SHE DOESN'T KNOW WHAT THIS PART OF THE WORLD IS LIKE ... DOES SHE THINK SHE'S STATESIDE WHERE YOU WHISTLE WHEN YOU WANT A COP?

AND IN THE CAB AHEAD...

THE QUEST HAS BEEN LONG, MISS O'HARA, BUT I HAVE BEEN DILIGENT, AND AT THE PLACE WE GO TO NOW, MANY QUESTIONS MAY BE ANSWERED.

IS THIS PLACE FAR?

BEHOLD! WE APPROACH IT EVEN NOW.

ENTER, PLEASE. WELCOME TO THIS HUMBLE TEMPLE OF THE GODDESS OF CHANCE.

WILL MADAM GO DIRECTLY TO THE GAMING TABLES? OR PERHAPS SOME REFRESHMENT FIRST?

YOU'RE NOT EVEN CLOSE. I'D LIKE TO SPEAK TO THE OWNER OF THIS DIVE, PLEASE.

FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

"DIAL DALE'S PALACE APARTMENT ON THE VISIPHONE, BRUTO," SULTRA COMMANDS, AS SHE MOVES FLASH'S HELPLESS, DRUGGED BODY TO LOOK AS IF HE WERE EMBRACING HER---

KANG-MAN BRUTO OBEYS SULTRA, AS HE PARROTS, "HELLO, SULTRA--SAY, YOU'RE NOT SULTRA. MUST BE A CROSSED WAVE-LENGTH, LADY, I'M PHONING SULTRA---"

BRUTO QUICKLY AIMS HIS VISIPHONE, SO DALE SEES SULTRA AND FLASH ON HER VISION-SCREEN. SULTRA, AS IF UNAWARE ANYONE IS EAVESDROPPING, SAYS EAGERLY, "OH, FLASH, DARLING, I LOVE YOU, TOO---"

IN A GREAT RAGE, DALE FLIES HER JET-CAR TO SULTRA'S STREET. "SO THAT'S WHY FLASH LET THAT REDHEADED SPY GO FREE! WAIT TILL I SEE HIM!"

Copr. 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

"WHERE'S FLASH, YOU REDHEADED SHE-WOLF?" DALE DEMANDS--BEFORE SHE REALIZES IT HER JEALOUSY HAS LED HER INTO AN ENEMY TRAP!
